Edict of Governor of Mexico City May Incite Radicals to Harm U. S. Peace Envoy.

DOGS OF WAR IN FULL CRY

Huerta's Threat to Ignore Wilson Agent, If Carried Out, May Mean Quick Invasion.

BACON PLEADS 'GO SLOW' IN SENATE

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

Mexico City, Aug. 7.—The governor of the federal district of Mexico City announced here today that he could give no guarantee of protection to John Lind, President Wilson's agent, from mob violence if the latter attempts to take any part in the internal affairs of Mexico or comes for the purpose of urging the resignation of President Huerta.

Americans here are most apprehensive of the result of this announcement, fearing that it would be construed by the lower classes as an invitation to make hostile demonstrations against Mr. Lind should he come to Mexico City.

Mr. Lind is due at Vera Cruz tomorrow night.

Back Huerta in Stand.

President Huerta's prestige among Mexicans in the capital undoubtedly has been strengthened by what is regarded as his defiance of the United States.

Even those who had been lukewarm in their support of the administration profess admiration for the soldier-president who dared to talk back to Washington, although not all of them agree as to the wisdom of his course and many of them consider that he acted precipitately in view of the officially defined intentions of Washington.

Lind's Reception Causes Speculation.

Just what course President Huerta will take in the event that John Lind, President Wilson's personal representative, continues his trip to Mexico City is a matter for speculation. No official declaration has been made as yet as to what this course will be.

It is assumed that Mr. Lind might enter the republic at Vera Cruz and come to the capital without molestation, since the question of his credentials could not be expected to be answered until his arrival here, but whether he shall be expelled or merely ignored remains undetermined.

Will Not Drive Lind Out.

Keen interest is being evinced as to what the attitude of Washington will be in the face of President Huerta's defiance, and speculation is divided as to whether Mr. Lind will be recalled or permitted to continue as far as he can and thus force the issue upon President Huerta.

Mexicans of the conservative class generally appear to believe that Huerta will not drive Mr. Lind from the country, but will be content with ignoring him, except, perhaps, for subjecting him to surveillance in order to see that he does nothing possible of being construed as mixing in the politics of the country.

Unless a radical change is effected in the sentiment at the palace, Mr. Lind will not be given an opportunity to talk with President Huerta, even though he is permitted to remain in the capital, nor will he be any more successful in meeting any official of the government.

Newspapers Back Huerta.

The native newspapers today express loud praise of provisional President Huerta's declaration regarding John Lind.

The Independiente declares that the provisional president's action constitutes "irreproachable logic."

The Imparcial says the declaration will present to all nations the attitude of Mexico in the face of the menace of intervention by the American government.

El Pais says: "The dignity and decorum of Mexico are in firm hands."

The greatest possible interest is shown on all sids in the outcome of what is regarded as a diplomatic crisis.

According to a consular dispatch from Torreon, state of Coahuila, there has been a ten days' battle between government forces and rebels in which the rebels were repulsed with great losses. The dispatch adds that a further attack by the rebels is expected, despite their defeat. Foreigners in Torreon are reported to be safe.

FEAR PEACE UPSET BY INSULT.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The United States is facing a dangerous moment in its relations with Mexico.

An affront by the Huerta government to ex-Gov. John Lind will be an affront to the president of the United States.

Should the administration in Mexico City

HEAVY RAIN STORM SWEEPS OVER CITY; BOLTS HIT HOUSES

Gale Hurls Deluge on Loop, Flooding Streets and Dousing Pedestrians.

DAMAGE FROM LIGHTNING

Buildings Struck, Set on Fire, and Occupants Routed; Telephones Out of Commission.

TREES AND POLES TORN BY WIND

A severe rain and wind storm swept over Chicago last night and broke the protracted dry spell that has afflicted this region along with a great part of the entire country. There were indications that the terrific heat and drought afflicting the western country would be broken.

The rain in Chicago last night deluged the city and drove thousands of persons into their homes from the parks and streets. Within two hours more than 2 inches of rain—10 per cent of all the rain since the first of the year—fell in the loop district according to the downfall register at the Federal building. It had been three weeks since a local rain of any consequence.

The storm struck the north side at about 10 o'clock, but did not reach the downtown district until fifteen minutes later. It was half an hour before rain began to fall on the far south side.

Loop Streets Flooded.

In Lincoln park thousands of persons who had gone there to spend the evening were chased helter-skelter to the street car by the sudden deluge. In the downtown district the streets were flooded within a few minutes after the first drops of rain fell. The water, swept by a brisk wind, came down in sheets and was accompanied by blinding flashes of lightning. The wind storm was less severe as it proceeded southward. Within a short time after the rain began to fall there was a drop of 8 degrees in temperature.

The weather man had predicted that the hot spell which prevailed during the greater part of the daylight hours would be dispelled today to some extent by cooling showers. He added, however, that a brisk south wind would spring up in the afternoon and that the mercury would then begin to rise. For tomorrow the weather man promises a northwest wind and cooler weather.

Lightning struck the residence of Solomon A. Smith, president of the Northern Trust company, at 843 Lincoln parkway, at 10:30 p. m. The bolt entered an open window, tore out the keyboard of a piano, and set fire to the flooring of the parlor.

Lightning struck the residence of Ferdinand E. Glazer, 1657 Larrabee street. Part of the wall was crushed in and the house set afire. Firemen extinguished the blaze.

Telegraph poles in several sections of the city were struck by lightning. Fourteen still alarms and two box calls were sent in during the storm.

Street Lights Blotted Out.

Street lights were put out of commission in Clark and Dearborn streets in the loop district for half an hour when some of the wires became crossed, but the trouble was remedied. At the South Clark street police station the sewer backed up and several of the cells were flooded and prisoners had to be moved.

A Forty-eighth avenue car was struck by lightning at Milwaukee avenue, the end of the line. The crew, the only persons in the car, escaped injury. A large hole was torn in one side of the car.

Trees were blown down at Forest Park and Paul Heinze, manager of the amusement park, had a narrow escape from being crushed.

In the Fillmore street police district reports were received of several windows being blown in by the wind. At West Chicago and North Forty-second avenues part of the fence of the West Side Baseball park was carried away and became entangled with a trolley wire and telephone wires. Firemen were called to the scene when the wires fell to the ground and set fire to some rubbish.

Windows of Flat Broken.

Lightning struck and set fire to a three story brick building at West Eighteenth and String streets and broke some windows in the flat of Herman Mayer on the third floor. The fire was extinguished with a small loss.

The fire alarm office received many reports that electric light poles were blown down. Telephone service was impaired all over the city.

Country towns surrounding Chicago were hit by the storm, but without serious damage. At Elgin a cattle barn belonging to A. C. Beasly was struck by lightning and burned down. At Waukegan a barn belonging to Fred Graham was burned in the same manner. At Kenosha there was heavy wind, rain, and lightning. Wires were broken down. No serious damage is reported.

HEAT GRIPS THREE STATES.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 7.—Excessively high temperatures prevailed today over Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma, all former heat records having been broken in some portions of Kansas. For the fourth consecutive day thermometers almost everywhere in Kansas climbed to the 100 mark or higher.

Hot winds from the south and continued drought added to the suffering and crop losses. Reports from Topeka and western Kansas points told of shriveling vegetation, suffering live stock, and at some points imminent danger to human beings from shortened water supply.

Eastern Kansas was expecting some relief from a storm which was reported traveling east from Wilson, in the west central part of the state, but the storm was of the cyclonic variety, with no rain.

JURIST DIVORCED BEFORE OWN BAR

Judge E. R. E. Kimbrough of Danville, Ill., Circuit Court Given Decree.

ACTION KEPT A SECRET.

Danville, Ill., Aug. 7.—Judge E. R. E. Kimbrough of the Vermilion county Circuit court today in his own courtroom was granted a divorce from Mrs. Emma Fountain Kimbrough, now a resident of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mrs. Kimbrough's counsel waived service and there was no opposition, the decree being granted on the ground of desertion.

The decree was signed by Judge William B. Scofield of Marshall, who made a special trip here to hear the case.

Every attempt had been made to secure secrecy. When Judge Kimbrough adjourned court yesterday he casually announced that a session would be held today to dispose of "unfinished business." The divorce case was the "unfinished business."

Suit Made Known by Attorney.

The proceedings became public through Walter Gunn, a Los Angeles attorney, who came here to represent Mrs. Kimbrough. No bill had been filed or record made of the move on the part of the judge here, and no report was made of the evidence.

Mrs. Kimbrough has lived in Los Angeles since May, 1911. She left the judge's home here shortly after Miss Helen Kimbrough, the foster daughter of the judge, had attempted to elope with Leland Parker. The attempt was frustrated and the judge sent his daughter back to the orphan asylum from which he had taken her when she was a child. Later he relented and took her back into his home.

Mrs. Kimbrough was Mrs. Emma Steyer Fountain of Colorado Springs at the time of her marriage to the judge. She is said to have wished him to be a candidate for congress, as she has many friends in the official set at Washington. The marriage occurred in 1909.

Reasons for Separation Withheld.

During the time Mrs. Kimbrough lived here the home life of the couple was supposed to be happy, and no explanation has ever been given of her sudden decision to make her home upon the coast.

Judge Kimbrough is the leader of the Wilson Democracy in eastern Illinois and the man who dismissed the criminal proceedings against the owners of the Iroquois theater after the fire in Chicago. He was a former law partner of Speaker Joseph G. Cannon and was a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor until former Vice President Stevenson entered the race, when Kimbrough withdrew.

FORTUNE IN OLD MASTERS, PRESENT TO BRITISH NATION.

Rosalind, Dowager Countess of Carlisle, Gives a Caracci, Gainsborough Worth $250,000, and Other Paintings.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Rosalind, Dowager Countess of Carlisle, has presented to the National gallery seven pictures, including Annibale Caracci's "Saviour Wailed Over by the Marys," admittedly the most notable of this painter's works.

The others are a Rubens landscape, Gainsborough's portrait of the Hon. Mrs. Graham as a housemaid, a Lucas Cranach, a Juan Del Maso, a Mignard, and a panel of four religious subjects by Barniba Da Modena.

The Caracci was the chief adornment of Castle Howard, and it is believed that it would bring an amazing price if put up at auction. The Gainsborough is valued at $250,000.

EIGHT HURT IN CAR COLLISION LAID TO TALKATIVE MOTORMAN.

Man at Controller Busily Conversing with Passenger Fails to See Signal Given by Crossing Vehicle.

A street car motorman's inattention to his business of looking after his car last night was asserted to be responsible for an accident in which eight persons were slightly injured. The victims are:

Mrs. Anna Mix, 2100 Dayton street.
Stanley Weidner, 12 years old, 1756 West Superior street.
Miss Agnes Walsh, 1042 Orleans street.
Miss N. O'Malley, 836 Sedgwick street.
Miss Minnie Lohrengel, 1214 Fry street.
Mrs. Sara White, 1921 Potomac avenue.
Mrs. E. Katz, 1517 North Irving avenue.
Mrs. Helen Dooley, 824 Willow street.

The accident occurred at Chicago avenue and Robey street. Patrick Shea, the motorman of the Chicago avenue car is blamed for it. Shea is said to have been so busy talking to a passenger that he did not see the signal of the motorman of the Robey street car that he intended to cross the street. Shea it is said, sent his car ahead at full speed and a collision followed.

ASSERTS 'SLITS' AND 'EX-RAYS' ARE WORN AS LURE FOR MEN.

The Rev. I. H. Evans, Seventh Day Adventists' Head, Charges Girls Contribute to Delinquency of Male.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—Speaking before the conference of the Seventh Day Adventists, now in session here, the Rev. I. H. Evans, president, today assailed the present dress of women.

He asserted if he were judge of a court and a devotee to modern feminine dress came in to complain against a young man he would charge the girl herself with contributing to the delinquency of the man and let the latter go free.

He would reverse the usual charge in such cases, he said, because women have adopted the slit skirt and the "X-ray dress" deliberately for the purpose of luring men.

WOMEN WOULD OUST BOARD IN STREET CAR LINE FIGHT.

Threaten to Use Ballot Against Oak Park Trustees if Alleged Nuisance Is Not Abated.

Women voters of Oak Park, in the vicinity of Harlem avenue, will use the ballot at the next election to bring about the defeat of the village trustees if street cars are not taken off of Harlem avenue in the near future, according to Mrs. W. F. Scott of 241 Maple avenue, who appeared at the board meeting last night. Mrs. Scott, who was accompanied by Mrs. M. S. Hascall, 208 Maple avenue, called the attention of President August Einfeldt to the alleged nuisance of the cars which pass within a short distance of their homes.

AGED MAN KILLED BY CAR.

Swan Nelson, 71 Years Old, Dragged Fifteen Feet and Dies in Ambulance.

Swan Nelson, who was 71 years old and lived at 2500 North Clark street, was fatally injured by a street car at St. James place and Clark street last night. Nelson, according to witnesses, stepped in front of the car. He was dragged fifteen feet. He died in a police ambulance.

LADY COOK, SUFFRAGET, ILL.

New York Woman, Who Was Tennessee Claflin, Is in Serious Condition at Richmond, England.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Lady Cook, formerly Tennessee Claflin, the noted suffraget of New York, is seriously ill at Richmond.

FAMED CARAVELS TO LEAVE CHICAGO

Replicas of Columbus' Ships Will Start on Long Sea Trip for San Francisco.

TO SAIL HISTORIC ROUTE.

The Santa Maria, the Pinta, and the Nina, replicas of the three tiny caravels in which Christopher Columbus and his hardy adventurers of 1492 braved the perils of the unknown seas and discovered a new world, will sail out of Jackson park harbor next week or the week after on a long journey which will carry them back to the scene of Columbus' great triumph and eventually into an ocean that Columbus did not dream of.

After a stay in this city since 1893, when the Chicago world's fair began, they are to bid farewell for some years to the thousands who have viewed them and take their departure to new waters.

Will Be Shown at Coast Fair.

The destination of the little boats is San Francisco. They are to be on exhibition during the Panama-Pacific exposition, which opens in 1915. They will go from Chicago to Boston, thence to the island of San Salvador, where Columbus first set foot on his landing in the new continent, and finally through the Panama canal to the California metropolis.

Yesterday afternoon the south park commissioners issued a permit to Charles Stevenson, rowing instructor at Harvard university, enabling him to take the boats.

A bond of $10,000 was furnished by Andrew Kaul, a wealthy lumberman of Boston, Mass., to insure the safe return of the boats at the close of the exposition.

Will Sail in Regatta.

After they are fixed up at South Chicago they will be sailed to Grant park for the regatta. Then the great lakes will be traversed and, it is hoped, Boston reached before the beginning of winter.

The crew, according to Mr. Stevenson, will be composed of students of Harvard university.

In the journey to Boston, however, a crew of Chicagoans will be picked. After leaving Boston in the spring the three boats will skirt the Atlantic coast and a visit will be made to the island of San Salvador. Following this they will proceed through the Panama canal and up the Pacific to San Francisco.

STRIKERS BATTLE IN MILAN; MANY ARE SERIOUSLY HURT.

Streets Barricaded by 150,000 Workers—Soldiers Attacked with Stones, Knives, and Pistols as They Arrive.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

MILAN, Aug. 7.—For the second time within six weeks a general strike has been started in Milan. Business has been paralyzed for four days and 150,000 workers are on strike. The agitation arose from the demands of the metal workers of Lombardy and Peidmont for an increase in wages of half a cent an hour and the refusal of the employers to grant it.

Large bodies of troops have been sent into Milan and the city has the aspect of a siege.

Malatesta, the anarchist leader, has come from London to encourage the revolutionary element and his followers are erecting barricades. Hundreds of yards of granite paving have been uptorn to obstruct the cavalry, which has made several furious charges on the strikers. Warehouses have been sacked, building materials seized, carts overturned, and telegraph poles torn down and telephone wires cut.

SEVEN INDICTED BY SPECIAL JURY FOR VOTE FRAUDS

Charge Tally Sheets in Twentieth Ward "Doctored" to Aid Hoyne and Bartzen.

"MORRIE" ABRAHAMS NAMED

H.-H. "Boss" Accused of Leading Part in Bipartisan Alliance; 45 Ballots "Stolen."

"CLEAR CASE," NORTHUP ASSERTS

Seven men were indicted yesterday by the special grand jury for falsifying election returns at last November's general election. It is charged by the special grand jury that the false returns were made in the interest of State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne, County Commissioner Peter Bartzen, and Anton J. Cermak, bailiff of the Municipal court. An eighth man was indicted for perjury.

The indictments were contained in two true bills which the jury reported to Judge William Fenimore Cooper of the Criminal court in the afternoon. The seven charged with "fixing" the tally sheets are residents of the Fourth precinct of the Twentieth ward. They are:

The Indicted Men.

MORRIE ABRAHAMS, 901 West Twelfth street, Hearst-Harrison committeeman and Twentieth ward boss since the recent death of his brother, Ald. "Manny" Abrahams.

SAMUEL GOLDMAN, 1254 Johnson street, Republican worker and bailiff in Municipal Judge Charles Williams' court until a short time ago.

MANDEL GERBER, saloonkeeper, 1320 South Sangamon street, Democratic judge.

HARRY PESTINE, city teamster, 1252 South Sangoman street, Democratic judge.

HARRY GERBER, 936 Maxwell street, Republican judge.

JAMES W. REGAN, 1218 South Sangamon street, Democratic clerk.

NATHAN RECHOFSKY, 1302 Johnson street, Republican clerk.

The man indicted for perjury is:

JACOB RICHMON, 1315 Edgemond avenue, a Republican judge in the Sixteenth precinct of the Nineteenth ward.

More Indictments Next Week.

After making its report the jury resumed its work. Special State's Attorney John E. Northup announced that additional true bills would be returned next week, when Judge Cooper is expected back from his vacation. The judge came to Chicago yesterday for a day for the sole purpose of receiving the partial report.

The bond in each case was fixed at $5,000. Capiases were placed in the hands of deputy sheriffs late in the afternoon. Arrests are expected today.

Although it was known that the grand jury had been investigating the Twentieth ward for several days, the news that "Morrie" Abrahams and the election officials of the Abrahams' precinct had been caught in the Northup dragnet caused consternation in Hearst-Hoyne circles.

It was asserted that the evidence upon which these indictments were voted disclosed a conspiracy to boost the Hoyne-Cermak-Bartzen vote and to deprive their opponents of ballots legaly cast for them.

Tally Sheets "Doctored."

Apparently convinced of their immunity from prosecution, it is declared the fraud perpetrators made no effort to alter the ballots, but "doctored" the tally sheets in favor of the H.-H. trio. Hoyne, Bartzen, and Cermak each was given forty-five more votes in this way than he actually received. A corresponding number was taken from rival candidates.

An examination of the ballot box, according to the true bills, showed that 250 votes were cast in the precinct, and of this number not to exceed 115 were legally cast for Hoyne. The tally sheets gave him 160. The ballots indicated Bartzen's actual vote was 133. The friendly precinct force awarded him 178. Cermak's real total was 97. He was given 142.

These changes are said to have been made after the true count of the ballots had been finished and the actual result announced to the various watchers. After the watchers had departed it is charged that Abrahams and Goldman assisted the judges and clerks in the fraudulent alterations of the tally sheets that were sent to the office of the election commissioners.

Here's How Men Voted.

According to the true bill this is the way the ballots were marked by the voters for three offices involved:

State's attorney—Hoyne, 115; Cunnea, 48; Rinaker, 50; Haight, 7.

Bailiff Municipal court—Cermak, 97;

Kinsella, 93; Vodegraven, 31; Loucks, 18.

President county board—Bartzen, 133; A. A. McCormick, 63.

Here's How Votes Were Counted.

And here is how the totals were changed to give each of three H.-H. men an additional 45 votes:

State's attorney—Hoyne, 160; Cunnea, 1; Rinaker, 22; Haight, 2.

Bailiff—Cermak, 142; Kinsella, 59; Vodegraven, 30; Loucks, 2.

President county board—Bartzen, 178; McCormick, 43.

"Not only were the returns falsely canvassed but they also were falsely certified," said Mr. Northup, "and the indictment so charges. In my opinion, the case is exceptionally strong and convictions should be easy."

Bi-Partisan Alliance Seen.

Mr. Northup believes there was a thorough understanding among the so-called Democratic and Republican judges and clerks of election in the precinct and that they received their orders from the same source. In this connection he considers it significant that Mendel and Harry Gerber, brothers, were judges for opposing parties.

Abrahams and Goldman, although of opposite political faith, are said to have been allies until recently when they "fell out" in an aldermanic contest. Subsequently they had a personal altercation at a council committee investigation into charges against Marketmaster Goldstein of the Maxwell street market. Abrahams then struck Goldman.

The perjury charge against Richmon is based on his testimony before the jury that he alone handled the ballots in the Sixteenth precinct of the Nineteenth ward. Richmon's reported efforts to protect others are said to have caused his own undoing.

Turn to Twelfth Ward.

After appearing before Judge Cooper the jurors took up the investigation of the Sixth precinct of the Twelfth ward, where the returns also are said to have been liberally padded for Hoyne, Cermak, Bartzen, and other H-H state candidates. Today the jury will finish the inquiry on this precinct and turn its attention to the Fourth precinct of the same ward. There also the H-H favorites are said to have been given fraudulent aid.

"Conditions in the Sixth precinct were bad," Mr. Northup said. "There was a real total of 337 votes as shown by the poll list, but the tally sheets showed 376 votes cast for state's attorney. Of these votes on the tally sheets 222 were marked for Hoyne, eighty-four more than the ballot box showed he actually received.

"The tally sheets were deliberately changed in favor of Hoyne. Our investigations and recount also showed overtallying for Bartzen and Cermak. Votes also were deducted from the totals for Lewis Rinaker and other candidates in this precinct.

Ballots Double Marked.

"We also have discovered seventeen ballots were double marked for Hoyne and Cunnea—that is, the cross was in the square opposite each name. Three ballots were double marked for Hoyne and Rinaker.

"These twenty votes should have been 'killed' or thrown out, but they were counted for Hoyne. We also found evidences of 'short penciling' and other irregularities in this precinct.

"In the Fourth precinct the ballot box totals were 401, the real count, but the tally sheets again showed a total of 422 votes for state's attorney. Mr. Rinaker was given only 55 of these votes, but the jury's recount shows he was entitled to 60 votes.

"The tally sheets show Mr. Hoyne credited with 228 votes, but his real total, as shown by the jury's recount, is only 154. Mr. Cunnea is given only 99 on the tally sheets, but he received 122 on our recount. Mr. Bartzen really received 181 votes and was credited with 223 in the tally sheets."

CHINESE BATTLE OVER CANTON; 500 MEN KILLED OR WOUNDED.

Position of City Regarded as Serious—Regiment Arrives to Protect Lives and Property of Foreigners.

CANTON, China, Aug. 7.—Five hundred were killed or wounded in the fighting between the northern government troops and the rebels at the east gate of Canton, which was attacked by two divisions of the northern army yesterday.

The position of the city is regarded as serious.

Reinforcements, consisting of a detachment of an Indian regiment from Hongkong, have arrived to guard the lives and property of foreigners in the Shameen district.

President Nominates Madison R. Smith of Missouri—Senate Confirms Naming of James Coffey.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—President Wilson today sent to the senate the nomination of Madison R. Smith of Missouri as minister to Hayti.

The appointment of James Coffey of South Dakota as internal revenue collector for the North and South Dakota district was confirmed by the senate. The appointment had been held up for some time by South Dakota's senators because of Coffey's political affiliations.

A protest has been made to the president and the secretary of state against the proposed appointment of Brand Whitlock, mayor of Toledo, to an important diplomatic post. John Shuff of Cincinnati, who was a delegate at large from Ohio to the Baltimore convention, was the one who made the protest. The objection against Mayor Whitlock is that he is not a regular Democrat, but an independent in politics and a Socialist.

TURKS MUST GIVE UP FORTRESS.

Powers Demand Evacuation of Adrianople, Reoccupied During War Between Balkan States.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Representatives of the powers took the first step at Constantinople today to compel Turkey to evacuate the fortress of Adrianople, which her troops reoccupied after war broke out between the former Balkan allies.

The diplomatic body demanded that the Turkish government should respect the treaty signed in London between the former belligerents.

It is asserted in diplomatic circles that the contemplated action of the powers in the event of the present demand made by them proving futile, will be such as to make further hostilities between Bulgaria and Turkey unnecessary

Asks for Water, Then Dies.

A man supposed to be George Geister, 60 years old, of 1440 Arnold street, Chicago Heights, dropped dead last night in the Twentieth Street buffet, 106 West Twentieth street. He called for a glass of water. Before the bartender could fill the glass the man fell to the floor and died.

SECRET EVIDENCE ON MACHINE DEAL

Butts Committee Gets Statement on Dicker Preceding the Purchase.

THREE "BROKERS" NAMED

Deneen Says Men Got $1,500 for "Introducing" Device Agent to Politicians.

Lawyers for the "defense" in the million dollar voting machine inquiry before the Butts legislative committee obtained a victory yesterday. They kept from the official records a statement described by Attorney C. S. Deneen for the committee as an important link in the chain of evidence being pieced together by the legislators.

The statement was produced by State Representative Thomas A. Boyer of Chicago. He was permitted to testify he had obtained it from L. L. Duke, city attorney of Ottumwa, Ia., but its contents were not put in the record of the day's proceedings. The committee in executive session, after a heated contest between Mr. Deneen and Attorney W. M. McEwen, determined to reserve the documents, at least for the time being.

Statement Called Sensational.

The text of the document, which was read in executive session, is of an extremely sensational character, it is understood. The statements made by Mr. Deneen during the battle to have it introduced as evidence, indicate that it deals with the negotiations preliminary to the signing of the million dollar voting machine contract between the election commissioners and the Empire Voting Machine company.

The names mentioned in the document as stated by Mr. Deneen before the committee, include these four: Thomas Pickler, former mayor of Ottumwa, Ia.; J. W. Gray, former chief of police of Ottumwa; Leroy L. Duke, city attorney of Ottumwa, and N. L. Arason, former city clerk of Ottumwa. The name of Charles A. Walsh, formerly of Ottumwa, former secretary of the Democratic national committee and one of the main figures in the Hearst Independence league, was introduced through the testimony of Representative Boyer.

Explains Trips Out of Town.

Attorney Deneen in his argument to have the document placed in the record made the assertion that the reason for his hurry up trip to Omaha, Neb., and Ottumwa, Ia., two weeks ago and again last Sunday was to attempt to get these men to appear as witnesses before the committee. It is said he is still hopeful they will appear and testify.

Mr. Deneen stated that since the conversation between Duke and Witness Boyer H. W. Barr, the representative of the Empire Voting Machine company, who handled the Chicago deal as well as a dicker with the Ottumwa city officials, had settled a $1,500 transaction with the Ottumwa men in question for $1,000.

Takes a New Tack.

After the statement had been withheld from the record, Attorney Deneen took a new tack and started to prove up independently the assertions of the suppressed paper. The first step was to show through J. T. Townsend, manager of the Grand Pacific hotel, that N. L. Arason of Ottumwa had been registered at the hotel Jan. 11, 1911, and that his bill had been charged to H. W. Barr of the Empire company.

Frank Keiper, patent attorney for the Empire company, was on the witness stand during the greater part of the day. He admitted the primary laws had not been consulted prior to the drawing of the million dollar contract. He didn't know why the specifications had not been included in the contract. He didn't know who are the stockholders in the Empire company. He "guessed" at the names of Adam Andrews of San Francisco, John Cochran of Indianapolis, and a "Mr. Christianson" of Indianapolis, as possible stockholders and said he didn't know about John Condon as a man interested in the company.

Boyer Admits Talk with Duke.

Mr. Boyer testified he lives at 4468 Emerald avenue, Chicago; that he is a clerk in the offices of the board of review and a member of the Illinois house of representatives from the Fourth senatorial district.

Under the questions of Attorney Deneen Mr. Boyer testified he knows Lloyd L. Duke, city attorney of Ottumwa, Ia. He said he had talked with Mr. Duke in reference to the voting machine case on last Decoration day.

MR. DENEEN—Will you state to this committee the nature of the conversation you had with him?

MR. M'EWEN—I object to it as calling for hearsay.

MR. DENEEN—A good deal of this matter is of hearsay character. We have three witnesses in Iowa that we have endeavored to secure here. The chairman has been out to Iowa once and I visited Iowa twice to induce them to come. They have not agreed to come and are not here. I have been talking to one of them today twice. We have some papers here, however, that we will identify as coming from these men, and I ask the indulgence of the committee to introduce these, then letting the attorney move to strike it out from the record.

McEwen Enters Protest.

MR. M'EWEN—Now, I don't think that is the proper method. I don't think that every conversation that may have been had here, there, or elsewhere ought to come in in an experimental way and then be moved to be stricken out. It is not legal evidence. It is not anything competent which anybody could use for the purpose of investigation. If the committee might want to go further in the matter of hearsay evidence we might hear it in private, but to hear it as a part of the record, a mere matter of hearsay, why, I don't understand there is any excuse within the rules of evidence.

MR. DENEEN—I intend to limit the statements of the witness entirely to written documents that were handed to him by the attorney, which were prepared by the attorney from conversations with the witnesses and presented to a gentleman who had to do with the negotiating of a contract in this case.

Butts Admits Some Evidence.

CHAIRMAN BUTTS—The province of a commission of this character is a peculiar one, inasmuch as their duties under the resolution under which they are now working is that of investigation and also that of being judges of the evidence. It would seem that in this case of which the chairman now has knowledge, and has had for some months past, that the justification will be shown in the introduction of this evidence at this time, and I believe it would be proper at this time to introduce this evidence, inasmuch as a document will be introduced which, it is alleged, was drawn up by Lloyd L. Duke, attorney on behalf of the three witnesses in question, as stated by counsel for the committee, in Ottumwa, Ia.

After further objection from Attorneys McEwen and Charles H. Mitchell, Chairman Butts said:

"The chairman of this commission and the attorney for this commission have done everything in their power that is honorable to bring these witnesses within the state of Illinois. Counsel may proceed with the examination of the witness."

MR. DENEEN (to Boyer)—Will you state the conversation you had with Mr. Duke relating to the contract for the purchasing of these machines? A.—After being introduced to Mr. Duke as a representative of the Illinois general assembly he made the remark that he had wanted to talk to somebody that was acquainted there, and asked me if I knew of the chairman, or if I knew Mr. Butts, and I told him I was quite well acquainted with the gentleman, and he said: "I am interested in this investigation that I hear is started. I am an attorney for three Ottumwa men who have a claim for $1,500 against the Empire Voting Machine company, and I am trying to collect it. I believe I can collect it, maybe, through a little publicity," and he made a statement that three men had come to his office and had talked to him, and he had taken down a statement—

Names Three Men.

Q.—What were the names of the men? A.—John W. Gray, I believe, ex-chief of police of Ottumwa, Thomas Pickler, ex-mayor of Ottumwa, and a man named Newton Arnson, former city clerk of Ottumwa.

Q.—Mr. Duke had taken down a statement that they had given to him? A.—Yes.

Q.—And submitted it to anybody? A.—Yes, sir; submitted it to Charles A. Walsh of Ottumwa, employed here in Chicago on the Examiner or the American—I don't know which—or, as he explained it, he was employed by Andy Lawrence.

Q.—Did Mr. Duke give you the papers to which you refer? A.—He did.

Q.—You may glance at this [handing over papers] and see if these are the papers. A.—Those are the papers.

Get a Ruling from Butts.

At this point Mr. McEwen again made objections to making the papers part of the record. Two of the members of the committee—Kasserman and Cabenche—also objected and then Chairman Butts said:

"The commission is of the opinion that the ruling on that ought to be suspended at this time and be reserved by the counsel and not attempt to admit it at the present time. The witnes may, however, proceed on the examination. You can identify the paper, but don't introduce it into the record."

MR. DENEEN: Q.—Has he submitted to you any papers in reference to the conversation of Newton Arnson and John W. Gray and Thomas Pickler? A.—He submitted this paper and said the three men had come to his office and sat down and dictated that statement to him, which he picked off on his typewriter himself.

Q.—Did you talk to anybody else about it—any member of the legislature? A.—I met one member of the legislature and mentioned to him that I had something for Mr. Butts' committee. That was David Shanahan, I believe.

Q.—Did you call on Mr. Duke? A.—Yes.

Q.—It was in reference to what? A.—It was in reference to inducing him to come to Chicago to see you.

Q.—Do you know whether or not he came afterwards? A.—Mr. Duke said that he had lost interest in the case; that the Empire Voting Machine company had given his clients a contract for $1,000, to be paid when this matter was settled, or when so much was paid on these machines, and that they were satisfied and did not care to go any further with it.

Duke Fails to Come.

Q.—Did you again go to Ottumwa, Ia.? A.—I did.

Q.—At whose request? A.—At your request.

Q.—Did you see Mr. Duke? A.—I did.

Q.—In reference to this matter? A.—Yes.

Q.—What was your conversation relating to it? A.—I asked him again to come to Chicago to see you and talk to you, and he said that he would if you would send him a telegram, and I came back, and as I remember, told you, and you sent the telegram, but he did not come.

Q.—You have not seen him since, have you? A.—No sir, I have not seen him since.

Witnesses Avoid Appearing.

Mr. Deneen then addressed the committee on the difficulties met in seeking to obtain the presence of desired witnesses. He said:

"I say to the committee, you are authorized to make an exhaustive investigation here. The chairman of this committee has written the president of the company asking for a list of the stockholders and the other officials, and he has the correspondence. Mr. Loab did not reply for ten days or something like that, and only recently, last week, said that he had referred the matter to his attorneys, for them to advise him whether or not he should come here.

"Mr. Barr, who is the active agent in this case, lived in Chicago when your committee was appointed, and after the 1st of July he packed his personal goods and removed to Paw Paw, Mich., and the sergeant at arms of this committee, under the direction of the chairman, went to Paw Paw to subpœna him to come before this committee, but he was unable to find him and unable to get any information as to his whereabouts of a direct character.

Four Others Cannot Be Reached.

"Mr. Walsh is beyond the process of the power of this committee; Mr. Pickler now resides at Omaha, Neb.; Mr. Arason and Mr. Gray live at Ottumwa, Ia.

"The chairman of the committee and myself went to Omaha to see Mr. Pickler a week ago last Saturday; we were unable to find him there, but we learned he had gone to Ottumwa, his home, and we went to Ottumwa and there had an interview with Mr. Pickler in reference to his coming to Chicago to testify before this committee and also in reference to his producing the written contract for $1,000 which was substituted for the oral contract for $1,500.

"On last Sunday I went to Omaha and met Mr. Pickler and interviewed him regarding his coming here, and later in the day I went to Ottumwa, Ia., and interviewed Mr. Arason and Mr. Gray, between trains, at midnight, and came back to Chicago Monday morning.

No Power to Force Witnesses.

"Now, it is utterly beyond the power of this committee to get these men, to force these men to come before them; it is beyond the power of the committee to force Mr. Walsh or Mr. Barr or any officials of this company—to force these witnesses to appear before the committee.

"The document that has been prepared by Mr. Duke, that has come to the committee's hands through Mr. Boyer—now, from the standpoint of an investigating committee this would be used at Springfield; such evidence has been gathered by all committees of the general assembly during my experience with the legislature.

"But I think this committee should say to these men, Mr. Barr and others—because he would be the one that would be directly connected with the contract feature of it if the facts establish it—he must come within the jurisdiction of the state of Illinois and make a statement.

Warns Against Perjury.

"If these gentlemen come and testify falsely they can be indicted for perjury; but it seems to me in view of the large contract here, in view of the facts, and in view of your power, in view of the fact that these men remain beyond the jurisdiction of this committee and refuse to come in where we can subpœna them, although a million dollars is involved in this contract, that this committee should not refuse to accept this testimony, and any credible testimony."

MR. McEWEN—I hold no brief for Mr. Barr or any official of that company. I represent Judge Owens, who is interested in the good faith of this contract. Every item of evidence, therefore, enters as to him. The former governor, Mr. Deneen, has been some time away from the courts, or possibly he may have forgotten some of the rules of evidence and some of the principles of the constitution.

Senator Barr Gives Views.

SENATOR BARR—What harm can it do if it is in evidence? In a court of equity of course the reason for keeping out evidence in a jury trial is to keep it away from the jury, but the jury here has seen this

MR. McEWEN—I apprehend this committee may have been fully informed in advance, but that would not change the rules of evidence. The former governor suggests it would not be proper for him to debate the evidence or say what he thinks about it. Yet he repeats and reiterates—I assume for some of the gentlemen that sit behind him—that this contract has been settled by the payment of $1,000. That is hearsay.

Goes Into Executive Session.

SENATOR BARR—Well, there is nothing before the committee anyhow; we took this under advisement.

MR. DENEEN—We have reached a point where this is all with this witness, and I want to submit to the committee whether we shall read it, or not. That is all he knows. Now, I will offer it in evidence.

MR. McEWEN—I object for the reasons stated.

THE CHAIRMAN—The hearing will be continued to 3 o'clock. The committee will go into executive session to consider this matter. Later it was stated that the committee reserved its final decision on the admissibility of the papers.

Youthful Victor in Race for Girls.

ANNA DOYLE

Anna Doyle is $2, less 10 cents for peanuts, richer this morning than she was yesterday morning. She won the race for girls under 12 at the thirteenth annual picnic of the Ice Wagon Drivers and Helpers' union which was held yesterday at Brand's park. The picnic lasted throughout the afternoon and evening. A dozen races were held in the afternoon, and the customary prize for the men's races was a pair of nickel plated ice tongs. Among the contestants in the children's beauty race were Esther Stemmer, Elsie, Anna, and Louise Dickow, Elizabeth Doyle, and Edna Miller.

TRY TO HALT TAX ON SEARS' STOCKS

Shareholders Demand Proof of Individual Ownership by Reform League.

CITY FIGHTS BANK CUT.

Financial Institutions Accused of Hiding Value of Realty Holdings.

Alleged stockholders of Sears-Roebuck summoned yesterday before the board of review on complaint from the Illinois Tax Reform league demanded that their ownership to the stock, which hitherto has been untaxed, be proven before they are placed on the tax lists.

Only seven of about seventeen cited were represented before the reviewers. Maxwell Edgar of the Tax Reform league demands that the entire stock be taxed. A mandamus suit to compel the board to put the Sears-Roebuck stockholders on the list is pending before the Supreme court and will be heard in October.

The complaints in regard to the company were taken under advisement by the reviewers.

City Fights Bank Reductions.

The first step on the part of the city to oppose the petitions of banks for reductions was made when Assistant Corporation Counsel Leo Hornstein filed a brief with the board not only denying the right of banks to a reduction, but claiming $25,000,000 evaded by various means should be added.

The banks, according to the brief, hide their real estate by permitting it to be owned by a safety deposit company.

The banks demanded a reduction of about 15 per cent, alleging in their petition that they could not legally hide any assets from the assessors, as is the practice in many corporations.

Would Tab Work of Clerks.

Harry S. Keeler, who is managing the investigation of the board of assessors for the Chicago bureau of public efficiency, made one recommendation yesterday, after spending the day on the field books. He said some method of keeping account of the amount of work done by each clerk should be installed. The investigators will meet this morning to outline a definite plan of procedure.

OFFICIALS OPPOSE TAX CUTS.

Chairman E. M. Board of the county board's finance committee yesterday made a plea to the board of review to keep the tax assessments as high as possible so the county may be assured an adequate revenue next year.

He was promised that everything consistent with the law would be done, and then was staggered by a request from the reviewers for an additional appropriation of $20,000. The money, it was explained, is needed to retain extra clerks so the revision work may be finished next month. The commissioners probably will hold a special meeting today or tomorrow to consider the appropriation.

"The county faces a serious predicament, not only this year but next year, unless the revenue is greatly increased," Mr. Board said.

MAN RESCUED FROM DROWNING.

John Congdon Starts for Diving Platform, Then Shouts for Help.

John Congdon of 1712 Oak avenue, Evanston, yesterday was rescued at the Evanston municipal bathing beach by Frank Corrato, keeper of the beach, and Policeman Fred Ecklund. He was swimming to the high diving platform, 400 feet from shore, when he became exhausted and shouted for help.

MAY AVERT TRACTION STRIKE

Joint Committee in Elgin Line Dispute Nears Compromise.

BOTH MAKE CONCESSIONS.

Men and Employers Yield Points Which May Result in Settlement.

A compromise is expected in the controversy between officials and employés of the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago railway. Although a strike vote has been taken, it is believed a settlment will be reached within a few weeks. Mutual concessions were made at a meeting of the joint committees last night, and the report of the proceedings will be made to the men today for ratification.

If the men agree to accept the compromise made by the committees arrangements will be made for arbitration. According to a member of the committee, the men have agreed to accept a lower wage scale than at first demanded, but expect shorter working hours.

Officials of the company agreed to make a slight increase in wages and give a shorter working day. If the action of the committee is accepted by the men a speedy settlement of the trouble is predicted by railway officials.

The trouble arose over a peoposed new contract. The men demanded an increase of 10 cents an hour and a nine hour working day. The company refused to grant the demands. A vote was taken, and a strike was expected this week.

Arbitration between the employés and officials of the Belt Line and the Chicago and Western Indiana railroads began yesterday. Members of the arbitration committees expect an early settlement.

INQUEST ON WOMAN'S DEATH.

Coroner Today Will Investigate Report of Illegal Operation Upon Mrs. Sarah J. Cochran.

An inquest will be held this afternoon over the body of Sarah J. Cochran of 4456 South Washtenaw avenue, who died yesterday as the result of a supposed illegal operation. Dr. George W. Gindele 2735 West Forty-third street reported the death to the coroner's office.

OBITUARY.

MISS FRANCES TODD, supervising field nurse for the health department for three years, died Tuesday night at Mercy hospital after a week's illness. The body was taken yesterday to Cleveland, O., where her parents, Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Todd, reside. A brother, George W. Todd, lives in Chicago. Miss Todd was a graduate of the Mercy hospital school for nurses and during the summers was in charge of work at the University settlement.

MRS. JULIA A. RAY, widow of Dr. Charles H. Ray, a former editor of THE TRIBUNE, died on Monday of apoplexy at Petersham, Mass. Mrs. Ray was a resident of Chicago intermittently until 1898, when she moved to Hartford, Conn. She was connected for many years with the Fortnightly club and from 1896 to 1898 was its president.

DR. WILLIAM G. TODD, for sixty-six years a resident of Chicago, died yesterday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Ella Billings, at 4714 North Robey street. He was 92 years old. He was a member of the first class graduating at Rush Medical college.

GEORGE R. LYON, former legislator and civil war veteran, died at Waukegan, Wis., of heart failure.

WOMEN AS JURORS TRY INSANE CASES

Help Court to Decide Mental Capacity of Twenty-four Members of Sex.

ORDEAL FULL OF PATHOS.

Hearts Torn with Pity When Forced to Send Twenty to Dunning.

Six women jurors sat in judgment on their less fortunate sisters who were examined as to their sanity before County Judge John E. Owens in the Insane court yesterday.

They were all women who are interested in charities, who have done settlement work, but to the majority this was a novelty. Never before, they said, had they come in contact with such pathos, such tragedy and misery.

Woman after woman took the stand in her own defense and laughed with unbalanced reason, cried without cause, or remained dumb to all questioning. The six jurors saw the young wife go smiling from her husband's arms to the Dunning hospital, while the husband put his head in his hands and cried.

They heard a husband testify that his wife had bitten her baby's forehead, believing that the Lord had so commanded her. And they wept, some of them, with the old Italian woman who had no friends and who rocked her arms incessantly as though she were lulling her baby to sleep.

Interesting but Sad.

It was interesting, they said. "But, O," declared one, "I would rather hang a man than go through this again." The women were Dr. Anna Dwyer, Mrs. John McMahon, Mrs. George P. Vosbrink, Dr. Clara P. Seipel, Mrs. T. J. Meder, and Miss Minnie Lowe.

There was only one bright moment in all the depressing day, the marriage of a man and a woman by Judge Owens, after he had declared the woman sane.

She was Miss Lela Fitch. The man was Frank Kamenske of 1830 Wabash avenue. For three years they had lived together, and it was the fact that she was not married which drove the woman insane.

Some time ago she was paroled from the state hospital at Elgin. She has since been living with Kamenske, but could not get along with her mother. Kamenske wanted permission to take her to the farm in Michigan where their 3 year old child is being reared.

Woman Pleads for Wifely Honor.

"Why can't you get along with your mother?" asked the judge, kindly.

"Because—because I am not married to my husband. O, Judge, I don't want to live with him any more without being his wife. It's making me sick again."

Kamenske said he was about to marry her when she became ill. Judge Owens ordered his clerk to procure a license, and in a short time he married the pair.

There were twenty-four cases. Four of these were too ill to come into court and the jury visited the sickrooms. Twenty were sent to asylums, two cases were continued, and two other women were discharged.

The six were, for the most part, silent, asking no questions. It was during the trial of Mrs. Lillian Sherman that they started to quiz the witnesses.

W. A. Sherman, the woman's husband, was testifying to his wife's suicidal intentions when Dr. Dwyer asked him, "How much money did you ever give your wife?"

Sherman responded that he had given her $550 after transferring his property to her name, in fear of a suit for damages, having it conveyed back to himself when the danger blew over, and then selling it.

Ordered to Give Up Ring.

"How much did you get for it?" asked Mrs. McMahon. Sherman answered he had received $1,500. He was wearing three diamond rings which he said were worth $700. Mrs. Sherman declared they were worth $1,500 and that one of them was hers. Judge Owens ordered that Sherman leave the ring in the custody of his clerk and continued the case for a week.

Sherman refused to part with the ring, saying he preferred to go to jail. Judge Owens issued an order to lodge him in the county jail for a week, whereupon he changed his mind.

After the ordeal the jurors retired to the jury room and concurred in the actions taken by Judge Owens. Then a pitcher of milk was brought in, and the first woman jury in Cook county was discharged and told to come down today for their $2.10.

AGED MAN ENDS HIS LIFE BY JUMPING INTO LAKE.

W. E. Whitehair Leaves Message to Plasterers' Union Declaring He Had Gone Crazy—Girl Inhales Gas.

William E. Whitehair, who was 62 years old and lived at 2625 Calumet avenue, committed suicide yesterday by jumping into the lake at the foot of East Fifty-first street. He was separated from his wife, who has been living at the home of a daughter, Mrs. F. Cowburn, 5038 Jefferson avenue.

Whitehair left a note asking that Mrs. Cowburn be notified, and a postal card addressed to "The Plasterers' union, care of J. Donlin." On the back of this was written: "Sorry, John, but I have gone crazy." The body was recovered.

Despondency over ill health and her inability to obtain employment caused Miss Elizabeth Pielow of 1530 West Thirteenth street yesterday to attempt to end her life. Her mother, Mrs. Lena Pielow, who had smelled escaping gas, found the girl unconscious in her bedroom. She was resuscitated by an oxygen machine.

Mrs. Toudy Irvins of 1613 Carroll avenue attempted to commit suicide yesterday afternoon in her home by swallowing iodine, according to the police. She was found semi-conscious by neighbors, who notified the police.

WIFE ABANDONMENT CHARGE INTERRUPTS MOTORING PARTY.

L. Allen Woodward, Formerly of Chicago Optical Firm, Arrested in Iowa with North Side Woman.

L. Allen Woodward, formerly vice president of the Enterprise Optical Manufacturing company at 564 West Randolph street, was arrested yesterday at Grinnell, Ia., with Mrs. Ruth Graham, a north side woman, whose address is unknown, and her young son, on a charge of wife abandonment.

The complainant, Mrs. Blanche Woodward of 4239 Indiana avenue, charges that her husband was on his way with Mrs. Graham in his automobile to Los Angeles and that he intended to desert her.

Mrs. Woodward and her husband have been living apart for a number of months, and Woodward is said to have been paying his wife $110 voluntary alimony.

On Aug. 1 the regular allowance was not forthcoming and Mrs. Woodward began a hunt for her husband. This disclosed that he had sold out his share in the optical business and had set out for the west in the motor car.

Most Impressive of All Home Products Displayed on "Highland Park Day."

JAY NUDELMAN, 27 pounds—1 year Old

Highland Park gave itself a pat on the back yesterday and placed on exhibition, so that all the world could see, a collection of samples of its choicest products. By far the most impressive display was the baby show. They certainly do raise fine babies in Highland Park. Witness young Jay Nudelman, who is only a year old and weighs twenty-seven pounds.

The celebration opened at 9 o'clock in the morning with a big parade. Pausing a few hours to rest their eyes, the Highland Parkers went at it again in the afternoon.

This part of the celebration took place in the park at the foot of Central avenue. It included a program of races and water sports. In the evening there were fireworks, moving picture shows, and dancing.

Highland Park day was established by the business men of the town to give it advertisement.

TRAIN HITS AUTO, KILLING ONE

Head of Boys' School Dies in a Grade Crossing Collision.

PUPIL SERIOUSLY INJURED.

J. W. Campbell, Victim, Known to Police; Leaping Saves Three.

John W. Campbell, head of the Windsor Park Academy for Boys, was killed and one of his pupils, Harry Goldman, was badly hurt in an automobile accident late Wednesday night. The car in which they were riding with three boys from the school was hit by a freight train at the Butterfield road crossing of the Illinois Central tracks in Melrose Park.

It was impossible yesterday to learn the cause of the accident. All of the survivors were so confused they were unable to tell coherent stories. The other boys in the car besides Goldman were Donald Noble, a ward of the academy, Royal Templeton, 6332 Evans avenue, and Roland D. Litten, 3920 Fulton street.

Campbell Known to Police.

Campbell, as a school manager, frequently had been under the scrutiny of the police. In 1910 while he was running a school for boys at Channahon, Ill., and at Riverside, where he conducted a private camp, he was raided by the police. Boys testified that they had been ill treated by him.

Last May Campbell was arrested again. This time he was accused of contributing to the delinquency of children. On no occasion was a conviction obtained against him.

Campbell was 40 years old. He leaves a widow and two young children.

Frank Elias of 4602 Wood street, John J. Zolt of 4617 South Hermitage avenue, and Louis J. Celphanf of 4739 Honoré street were bruised when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by an Ogden avenue street car at Ashland boulevard.

Hurt in Crash with Car.

A 14 year old boy was shot out of an automobile yesterday, tossed twelve feet into the air, and caught on a street car fender as one of the immediate effects of a collision between a street car and an auto delivery truck at Forty-seventh street and Vincennes avenue. The youngster, Tony Cassi of 5802 Lincoln avenue, picked himself off the fender with a few minor scalp wounds.

A motor car belonging to the Overland Motor Car company and driven by Oliver Frink hurled Fred Shad Jr. twelve feet in the air at Michigan avenue and Monroe street. Shad was hurt internally.

Three men were injured in automobile accidents on the north side, two of them being thrown from a motorcycle. Those injured on the cycle were S. Celvey, 1117 Garfield avenue, bruised on the body, and A. C. Fisher of the same address, cut and also bruised about the body.

PICARD'S HONEYMOON ENDS WHEN WIFE DECAMPS ABRUPTLY

Young Woman Wed by "King of Cocktail Row" After Day's Courtship Calls Him "Mamma's Boy."

After less than two weeks of married life, Paul Picard, Jr., "King of Cocktail Row," yesterday found himself wifeless and the paternal injunction of "go to work" staring him in the face.

Mrs. Stella Griffin Picard, who was married to the young man after an acquaintance of less than twenty-four hours, and as a result of a wager at a ball game in New York, left the Virginia hotel last night and took her trunk with her. Through her attorney she announced that she would sue for divorce and would ask heavy alimony from Picard, who is supposed to have a large sum of money coming to him from an estate in France.

Mr. Picard, Sr. is said to have looked up the antecedents of Miss Griffin by means of detectives.

Young Picard was busy last evening trying to locate his wife in the hope of patching up the differences.

"Paul is a mamma's boy," was his wife's explanation. "He has been drinking every day except two since we were married. But his mother and father think he can do no wrong. His credit has been stopped and he has borrowed money from me."

GIRLS WHO ACCUSED MAXWELL AGAIN DISAPPEAR FROM HOME.

Leave Parents' House After Giving Child 5 Cents Not to Tell—Police Start New Hunt.

Katie Wodavkiowicke, 13 years old, and her sister, Mary, 7 years old, whose disappearance on July 30 resulted in the police of the Stockyards station taking into custody David G. Maxwell, head of a box making plant in the stockyards, who lives in the Lessing apartments, have disappeared again. The police have been asked to search for them.

The girls left their parents' house at 1218 West Fifteenth street at 9 a. m. yesterday after giving Katie Wroblewska, 10 years old, living in the same building, 5 cents not to tell their mother. Their parents reported the disappearance.

Mr. Maxwell was taken into custody after a companion of the two girls had told a story about their being kidnaped in a closed automobile. Mr. Maxwell was freed by Municipal Judge Gemmill. The judge branded the girls' story as "fairy tales."

SUNDAY BASEBALL IN PARK

Lincoln Commissioners Favor Lifting "Lid" on Aug. 17.

ALSO PLAN NEW DIAMOND.

Board to Take Action Within a Few Days; Superintendent a Fan.

Baseball fans are expected to congregate in thousands at Lincoln park a week from Sunday, when, it is predicted, the prohibition on Sunday baseball playing will be lifted. The new Lincoln park board is known strongly to favor the idea and is expected to take action as soon as it is physically possible. For ten years friends of baseball have been trying to obtain permission from the old board to play on Sunday. At each instance they have been refused.

"We will permit ball playing on Sunday if it is a possible thing," said President Timothy J. O'Byrne last night. "All the new members of the board are in favor of the idea. In the press of business we have not yet been able to discover why the old board refused its permission. We want to serve the public, and if the diamonds can be opened on Sunday without harming the other patrons of the park we will do so.

Won't Risk Children's Lives.

"The only objection I know of is that the paths are so arranged that people are tempted to cross the diamonds. We are not willing to risk the lives of children who might cross the field. It can be managed, I hope and believe. I would like to go out and play there myself.

"Young men whose recreation comes only on Sunday and who might be enjoying the national pastime probably are spending a part of each Sunday in poolrooms. It seems only right to give them a chance."

The board is expected to pass on the question within ten days. The superintendent, William C. Niesen, is an ardent fan. He is part owner of the Gunther baseball park, and he is confident all objections can be overcome.

New Members Favor Idea.

"All the new members of the board are in favor of the idea," he said. "There are at present five diamonds in the baseball field and plans for another field have been made. This field is to be located in the extension to the north of the present park."

Gov. Dunne, who appointed the new members of the board, is said to favor Sunday baseball.

ROBBERS' RUSE YIELDS $600

Attract Owner's Wife Outside; Rifle Saloon Cash Register.

ESCAPE ON A PASSING CAR.

Police from Four Stations and Neighbors Join in Search.

Two well dressed young men by a ruse yesterday succeeded in robbing the cash register in the saloon of George Talko, 4566 Grand avenue of $500. They escaped by boarding an Armitage avenue car after a crowd had pursued them three blocks over a prairie.

The robbery occurred shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Police of four stations on the northwest side were notified and started in pursuit.

A number of factories are in the vicinity of the saloon and the money had been withdrawn from the bank for check cashing purposes for the workmen on pay day.

Trick Woman to Sidewalk.

Mrs. Talko was alone in the saloon when the two men entered and bought five bottles of beer. They walked outside, drank the beer and then smashed the bottles on the cement sidewalk. Mrs. Talko ran and while she was busy sweeping away the glass fragments the men entered the saloon by a rear door, broke open the cash register, and fled with the money.

The proprietor's wife saw one of the men disappear through the back door and she screamed for help. This brought a crowd of neighbors and the unsuccessful chase commenced.

Arrest New York Suspect.

Detectives Dempsey and Magner of the detective bureau arrested near the federal building a man who gave his name as George Grant, but who, Lieut. Larkin said, is George McGuire, alias "Dice Box" McGuire, a New York criminal with an international reputation. The police said McGuire is wanted in New York.

Mrs. Helen Du Mais of 4819 Magnolia avenue, wife of Arthur Du Mais, said to be a soloist employed by a music company, was arrested on a charge of stealing three diamond rings valued at $350 from the apartment of Mrs. Laura Baker, where the Du Mais also live. The police said she admitted the theft, claiming she was pressed for money and pawned the rings for $90.

WOMEN AID MRS. FALKENSTEIN

Hold Indignation Meeting on Move to Close Settlement.

CLUB MEMBERS TO HELP.

Will Draw Up Petitions Urging Maintenance of Center.

While Mrs. Adolph Trapp held a tea party yesterday afternoon on her front lawn under the windows of the Esther Falkenstein settlement house at 1917 Humboldt street fifty of the settlement women glared at her out of the windows. Mrs. Trapp and her husband are said to be among the leaders in the plan to put an end to the settlement's activities.

The women met at an indignation meeting. Most of them are members of the Settlement Woman's club. They pleaded and threatened and even wept. Earnestness frequently got the better of English, and perfectly good speeches were nearly lost when excitement shunted them into one of a half dozen foreign languages. Mrs. Falkenstein did her best as interpreter.

Exonerate Settlement Head.

The settlement head was exonerated. After that praises were heaped on her head in Yiddish, Norwegian, French, German, Polish, and English. Then she was comforted with whispered confidences, with an embrace where emotions got the better of words, and finally with coffee and cake brought to her by the women.

Every eulogy was mixed with bitter statements toward the settlement's nearest neighbors who started the petition against the settlement.

"Why not tell about the good things Mrs. Falkenstein has done for the Trapps?" said Mrs. Kate Mitchell. "When Mrs. Trapp's baby was sick it was Mrs. Falkenstein who took it to St. Elizabeth's and had it cared for properly. Mrs. Falkenstein stayed up with it, and when it died she comforted the mother and helped at the funeral. Why didn't they tell about that in their petition to get us out of here? Why didn't they tell how Mrs. Falkenstein has taken their children on the lake trips and the picnics and the automobile rides?"

At the close of the meeting the women went personally to Mrs. Falkenstein to cheer her.

Clubwomen to Lend Aid.

Members of Chicago's women's clubs yesterday came to the aid of Mrs. Falkenstein. Much indignation was shown during the day among various suffrage organizations at the attempt of the neighbors of the Falkenstein settlement to have the place closed.

Mrs. Charlotte Rhodus, president of the Woman's party, said a subscription should be raised to build a large home with better accommodations for the settlement.

2 WOMEN MISSING; MAN HELD

Nellie Hausman and Daughter May Have Been Slain.

POLICE DIG FOR BODIES.

Blood Stained Garb Found in Common Law Husband's House.

John Grady, an assistant chef at the Grand Pacific hotel, is detained by the police because of the unexplained disappearance many months ago of his common law wife, Nellie Hausman-Grady, and her daughter, Grace Connell.

The arrest was caused by Mrs. Edna Reynick of Cincinnati, a sister of Mrs. Hausman-Grady. Mrs. Reynick wrote to Grady on three different occasions inquiring about her sister, but says he never replied. The Cincinnati woman then came on to have a personal interview with Grady, and when he broke an engagement to escort her through his house at 121 East Twenty-fifth street on Tuesday night, she complained to Lieut. Grady. The suspect was taken into custody on Wednesday night.

The police yesterday found a bloodstained cloak, handkerchief, bed sheet, and underwear in a clothes hamper in the basement of the premises. They felt so certain they had unearthed a murder that they got picks and shovels and dug up the yard and cellar, and tore out parts of walls and partitions here and there, but the search availed them nothing.

Find No Blood Blotches.

Then they discovered none of the stained pieces bore evidence of dried streams or blotches of blood, and nothing to indicate that any mass of blood had been wiped up, and that no blotch ran into another blotch.

The clothing as evidence was further weakened when the suspect laughingly asked: "If she was slain while wearing her cloak and other street garments how was she murdered while in bed, and if she had been murdered while fully dressed why aren't the clothes stained from the lining out?"

Then he put another poser in this form: "If I killed her and successfully disposed of the body, why did I leave her blood stained clothes lay in that hamper for nearly two years when such supposed telltale evidence could have been so easily carried away?"

The woman's relatives generally believed she and Grady were lawfully married, and Grady himself left the police under this impression until they discovered the husband who divorced her eight years ago referred to her as "pal" and made engagements to meet her as late as April 13, 1910.

Admits Common Law Relation.

Then Grady admitted she was simply his common law wife. Martin Hausman, the second husband, married her after her first husband, one Connell, died, and when Hausman quit her Grady assumed the role of head of the household. The woman was conducting a rooming house at 301 Thirtieth street when Grady took up with her.

She was last seen in December, 1911. Grady says he departed early that morning after giving her $2 and that she was gone when he returned that afternoon. Grady has lived alone in the eight roomed house, for which he paid a monthly rental of $35, and disturbed nothing except in the upstairs bedroom, where he slept. His excuse for maintaining the premises is that he had no right to sell the furniture because it belonged to her and that he continually hoped she would return.

Grady said the woman drank to excess and showed signs of mental deficiency. The police records bear out his contention that she had been arrested on several occasions for disorderly conduct and drunkenness, and further evidence of her misconduct is shown by an old diary that the police found in an old bureau drawer.

Diary Tells of Excesses.

This diary, which Hausman kept to aid in his divorce, contained many references that "Nellie came home drunk again; Nellie stayed out all night; Nellie tore down the curtains and attacked me with a knife."

The diary also showed that the woman's daughter, Grace, was sent to the House of the Good Shepherd on June 20, 1905.

"The case is only twenty-four hours old," said Lieut. Grady. "It's up to Grady to explain the disappearance of these women."

BOYS GET BONUS FOR WEBB ARREST

Policemen Cannot Accept Reward for Capture, Civil Service Board Rules.

CREDIT TO O'CONNOR.

Detective Made Actual "Pinch," but Courtney Wins Praise for Bravery.

Credit for the arrest of Robert Webb, auto robber, goes to W. E. O'Connor of the detective bureau, but the reward of $700 offered by the city and the state for the arrest of the murderer of Detective Hart will go to one or both of the boys who "tipped off" Webb's hiding place.

This was the finding of the civil service board yesterday after having spent a week in going over the details of the capture of Webb in order to determine whether the glory should go to O'Connor of Capt. Halpin's bureau or Policeman P. J. Courtney, who was working under Capt. Lavin at the time. In the report praise is given to both policemen, although the credit for the actual arrest goes to O'Connor.

Who Are the Two Boys?

The question of the reward is passed up for possible future litigation by the statement that it is the rule of the department that policemen do not accept financial rewards for the arrest of slayers of brother officers. Just who gave Detective O'Connor the first "tip" to the whereabout of Webb is problematical. At the hearing O'Connor said two boys, Martin Ryan and William Springer, gave him the information that led to the arrest of Webb.

O'Connor's claim was that he followed Webb after being told of his whereabout by the boys and chased the robber in a wagon. After O'Connor backed Webb into an areaway Courtney appeared and assisted in the arrest. Courtney asserted he had made the actual arrest and was entitled to the reward.

Other Findings of Board.

The other findings in the case were:

That the arrest of Webb was actually made by O'Connor.

That O'Connor showed great courage, determination, and persistence in following up a desperate criminal.

That his enlisting the services of the young men and boys and the use of a wagon showed initiative and resource.

That his failure to reply to Webb's shots while on Calumet avenue showed nerve and presence of mind.

That Courtney acted with coolness, judgment, promptness, and decision, and deserves great credit for his bravery.

The board also heard testimony regarding the bravery of five policemen who are candidates for the Tree medal.

LIND NEARS GOAL; FACES MOB ATTACK

Governor of Mexico City Denies Him Protection from Violence.

WAR DOGS IN FULL CRY.

Huerta Threat to Ignore Wilson Agent, if Carried Out, May Mean Invasion.

persist in its declaration that Lind is persona non grata and refuse to receive him, the Washington government will regard its attitude as a deliberate insult and as a declaration that the friendly counsel of the American people is unacceptable.

Opposed as the president is to military intervention, such a course on the part of Huerta would have the effect of forcing the administration nearer this unfortunate step. As the first punishment to be imposed the administration may deem it expedient to raise the embargo of neutrality and authorize the revolutionists to receive shipments of arms from the United States.

Bacon Pleads "Go Slow."

The gravity of the situation was set forth in the senate today by Senator Bacon, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. Mr. Bacon spoke advisedly, for he has had numerous conferences with President Wilson and is thoroughly familiar with the situation in Mexico and with the plans of the administration to compose it.

Pleading to the senate not to adopt the resolution of Senator Clark providing for an investigation by the senate of Mexican affairs, Mr. Bacon used this serious language:

"The president of the United States is face to face with the gravest emergency that has confronted us since I became a member of the senate. It is much graver than that which faced us in the Cuban situation. That was a tempest in a teapot compared with what we may be required to do to establish order in Mexico and maintain it for a generation.

"And when the president stands face to face with this tremendous responsibility, this unspeakable duty; when he—a man whose integrity and good faith we all recognize—seeks to settle it, for us to adopt this resolution, which can be based on no other basis than the failure of the president's plan, is to do nothing but to flout him in the face."

Senators Heed Warning.

Impressed by Mr. Bacon's words, the senate has decided to do nothing until it is established that the Huerta government actually carries out its threat not to receive Mr. Lind. All the members of the foreign relations committee, without respect to party, are a unit in this decision.

But if the Huerta government seeks to expel Lind, or to refuse to have anything to do with him, then action by the senate, at least in the way of investigation, may be expected.

President Wilson is angry at the freedom with which Republican members of the senate have predicted the failure of his mediation plan for the settlement of the Mexican situation in advance of the arrival of Lind at Mexico City. The president believes that the Republicans in the senate are seeking to make it impossible for the administration to settle the situation peaceably.

There was plenty of other evidences today that the president is greatly aroused at the carping attitude of Republican senators and that he is prepared to "show fight" on this situation.

The president is aroused to the determination that the Republicans shall bear the responsibility for the attempt he believes has been made to prejudice the minds of people in this country as well as in Mexico, with the opinion that the mediation plan is doomed to failure.

On Mission of Peace.

President Wilson is confident Gen. Huerta will receive his personal representative. He cannot conceive he would be so foolish as to decline to do so in view of the consequences which would be involved.

It is realized that Huerta is making an appeal to the anti-American sentiment in his country and hopes to increase his popularity by flouting the president of the United States. To prevent him from taking such a suicidal course this government has been in communication, unofficially, to be sure, with him.

On receiving advices yesterday that Huerta was contemplating a declaration that unless Lind brought credentials "together with recognition of the government of Mexico" his presence would not be desirable, Secretary Bryan directed the American legation in Mexico City to explain to the Mexican minister for foreign affairs that Gov. Lind was coming on "a mission of peace" and that the president felt sure his presence would contribute toward a settlement of the difficulties.

This message contained further a significant statement that "the Mexican government" should await the president's communication and not give weight to misrepresentations published in sensational newspapers.

The phrase "the Mexican government" undoubtedly constitutes a recognition of Huerta and will be so construed by him and his advisers. The administration here insists, however, that the phrase means nothing further than the de facto Mexican government, and persists in its declaration that the policy of the president is against the recognition of Huerta. At the same time the message, couched as it is, is expected to have a calming effect upon the sensibilities of Huerta's supporters and induce them to advise their chief at least to give Lind a hearing.

President Is Not Worried.

President Wilson was as optimistic today in regard to a peaceful settlement of Mexican affairs as he was last week when Mr. Lind was started on his difficult mission.

He is extremely anxious that the Huerta government shall not reach any final decision until it knows precisely what Mr. Lind has to say. He believes the instructions given to Mr. Lind will prove entirely acceptable to Huerta and to the revolutionists. Both he and Secretary Bryan are not inclined to the view that President Huerta authorized the issuance of the statement put out by the minister for foreign affairs for the reason that they had been assured at least of a courteous reception for Mr. Lind.

Those more familiar with the ways of diplomacy are satisfied that the minister for foreign affairs would not have dared to put out a declaration "by order of the president."

Fear for Lind's Safety.

It is suggested by some here that the administration should have made inquiries in advance as to the acceptability of Mr. Lind in order to have prevented the possibility of the development of such an extremely unpleasant situation as now is threatened.

In some circles here apprehension exists for Mr. Lind's personal safety. The belligerent statements emanating from the national palace doubtless will have the effect not only of inflaming the people against Mr. Lind and his errand, but also of leading them to believe that they will have the sympathy of the government in manifesting hostility to the president's representative.

Insults to Mr. Lind would, it is feared, supply the spark to ignite popular feeling in the United States and bring a general demand for drastic action which would maintain the dignity and prestige of the United States.

Huerta Rebuff Would Not Surprise.

In administration circles doubt is expressed that Huerta would be so foolish as to subject Mr. Lind to the sort of treatment indicated by official announcements in the last few days. At the same time it is asserted, it is not safe to rely too much upon Huerta refraining from offering a rebuff to Lind because of any considerations of prudence or caution.

Americans who have recently come from Mexico assert that an anti-American play would enable Huerta to rally to his support all classes of Mexicans to an extent that no other policy would do.

In sending John Lind to Mexico City to act as mediator or conciliator, but without any official status or credentials, it is believed by many persons here that the administration has given Huerta just the opportunity he might have wished for if he desired to start anything.

Can Order Deportation.

Huerta will be strictly within his rights if he refuses to have any dealings with Lind, according to the rules of international law, and, if Lind attempts to take a hand in the political situation, Huerta can, under Mexican law, order him deported from Mexico.

It is not believed, however, that Huerta would care to go to such extremes, no matter what are his rights in the case, knowing that it surely would inflame the United States.

The situation with respect to Lind is considered the more serious because of the general belief in Mexico that the United States will not do anything, no matter how this government and Americans are insulted.

American refugees have reported that rebel agitators have been heard to tell crowds of peons that the United States is afraid to come into Mexico, that it is perfectly safe to insult Americans and their flag, and that if the United States attempts to retaliate, Mexicans will arm themselves and cross the border and take back Texas.

Renew Attacks on Americans.

Anti-American demonstrations and attacks on American property about Acapulco have been renewed, according to today's state department advices. The last attempt was made by bandits on Stephens brothers' ranch. Money was demanded and horses and cattle were stolen.

Consul Edwards says there is no change in the general situation, little protection being afforded outside of the larger towns.

Official dispatches from Guaymas confirm reports that the town is in a state of siege with the streets barricaded and the food supply very short.

LIND OFF TO MEXICO.

Galveston, Tex., Aug. 7.—The United States battleship New Hampshire, bearing former Gov. John Lind of Minnesota to Mexico as the personal representative of President Wilson, sailed for Vera Cruz at 11:15 o'clock this morning. The warship is due at Vera Cruz tomorrow night.

Mr. Lind arrived here before daylight and immediately boarded the New Hampshire.

Efforts of newspaper men to see Mr. Lind failed. He made the trip from Houston to Galveston on a special interurban car.

TRAINS OUT OF DANGER.

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 7.—At 7 o'clock tonight a federal military train in command of Lieut. Col. Pulido returned to Juarez from the scene of Tuesday's battle with constitutionalists under Col. Toribio Ortega near Rancheria, Chihuahua, sixty-one miles south of Juarez, bringing six wounded federal soldiers and several prisoners.

Federal officers in Juarez state that the seven provision trains finally escaped damage from Ortega's forces and have proceeded to Chihuahua. They claim that Ortega was not reinforced by Gen. Villa from the west and was beaten off by Col. Mancilla's vanguard on the first of the trains.

All wires have been down all day and no details of the engagement have been received here except through federal sources and from an American mine manager's automobile driver. The driver says he passed the trains at a point between Ahumada and Montezuma on Wednesday and that they were moving slowly southward.

HURL BOMBS AT MONCLOVA.

Constitutionalist Headquarters, Hacienda Hermanes, Coahuila, Aug. 6, via Eagle Pass, Tex., Aug. 7.—Constitutionalists approached so close to Monclova yesterday that dynamiters with hand slings threw high power bombs into the town, held by federals. So far as known the bombs did no serious damage. The garrison in Monclova today was estimated at less than 2,500. Operations about the city are confined to skirmishes and occasional acts of reprisal or foraging.

The silence of Gov. Carranza, constitutionalist leader, who has not been heard from directly since he reported on July 25 that his men had captured Torreon, has caused a little uneasiness. It is believed federals have intercepted his couriers.

PORFIRIO DIAZ MAKES DENIAL.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz, former president of Mexico, authorized today the publication of the statement that he has no intention of going to Japan.

It was reported abroad he purposed proceeding to Tokio to meet his nephew, Gen. Felix Diaz, whom it was alleged he would accompany back to Mexico.

Gen. Porfirio Diaz appears to be in excellent health. He is well informed as to conditions in Mexico through correspondence and by means of conversation with visitors from that country. He, however, declines resolutely to express any opinion on the situation.

SUPPORT WAR ON LAX PROSECUTION

Englewood Residents Write to Law and Order League and Send Contributions.

URGE ACTION ON CASES.

Letters Praise Lyle's Work for Punishment of Assailants of Girls.

In letters and public statements, accompanied by unsolicited subscriptions, residents of Englewood yesterday voiced their resentment of the attack by State's Attorney Maclay Hoyne upon John H. Lyle, attorney and secretary of the Englewood Law and Order league.

The vituperation of the state's attorney was brought down upon M. Lyle after THE TRIBUNE published two letters which Mr. Lyle had mailed to the state's attorney, asking why two men charged with crimes against little girls were not being prosecuted.

Widow Writes of Lyle.

Mrs. Marian Brand of 313 West Seventieth place, writing to W. E. Palmer, president of the Law and Order league, says in part:

"I am a widow with three children, two girls and a boy, ages 11, 9, and 6 (also keeping five young children whose mother died recently, and wash for a living.

"I see by the newspapers that the prosecutor calls Mr. Lyle a coward, and is himself not prosecuting the men who ruined those little girls who could not defend themselves.

"Any one who says Mr. Lyle is a coward is a coward and a liar. Mr. Lyle is not a coward, for he was slugged in the head and sent to the hospital when he came at my request the night after last Christmas day to defend me and my three little children from a vicious brute of a man who lived underneath us and tried to harm my little girls.

"If it had not been for Mr. Lyle and the Law and Order league I certainly would have failed. Mr. Lyle is a good man. I thank the Lord there is an order with a man like him. He not only fought with the man but had him arrested and sent to the bridewell."

Sends Contribution to League.

R. M. McAdow, secretary and treasurer of the Staver Carriage company, Seventy-sixth and Wallace streets, writing to the Law and Order league, said:

"We inclose a contribution to assist the league in the good fight it is carrying on against lawlessness and crime as detailed in today's issue of THE TRIBUNE.

"The position taken by your attorney in demanding that pending cases shall be promptly prosecuted will certainly be indorsed by all citizens."

A. D. Morrison of Morrison & Miller, insurance agents, 1045 Insurance Exchange building, writes to the league:

"Inclosed please find check for $10 as my contribution to the association, which I see by the papers and by personal observation is doing the right thing in trying to suppress the vice in our community."

Carpenter Gives Views.

Gust Burkland, a member of the Swedish Methodist church, writes:

"I am a carpenter, the father of two children 4 and 8 years old. I want the protection of the state's attorney's office for these children to protect them from beastly men who may harm them. If I can't get it, your organization will be needed for the next three years, it looks from the way Hoyne is acting. And I for one am willing to support it.

"If the state's attorney won't prosecute, and won't give you any consideration, it begins to look as if he is not a fit man for the job, and was not legally elected. We need some one like you to go after him. If he hasn't prosecuted these two cases, you can get busy, no doubt, and find a lot of others he has laid down on. Go after him."

ALL OF GRANT ESTATE TO WIDOW

Will of Late Major General Makes Her Sole Beneficiary of $100,000—Children Already Have Shares.

New York, Aug. 7.—An appraisal of the estate of Maj. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, made public today, values the personal property at about $100,000. This is the estimate made by the widow, Mrs. Ida Honoré Grant, sole beneficiary and executrix.

In designating his widow as sole beneficiary the bill sets forth that the two children had already been provided for and that "they will be more gratified to have their mother receive the entire estate than to have it diminished by present gifts to them."

The will further expresses confidence that Mrs. Grant will divide the estate between the two children at her death.

An army officer stationed here has no permanent residence, and for that reason the state cannot collect a transfer tax.

WHITMAN JOINS TAMMANY FOES.

New York District Attorney Announces He Will Accept Fusion Nomination for Prosecutor.

New York, Aug. 7.—District Attorney Charles W. Whitman announced late today that he would accept the fusion or anti-Tammany nomination for district attorney. Mr. Whitman had been urged to bolt the fusion ticket headed by John Purroy Mitchel, collector of the port, and become an independent candidate for mayor.

PROBATE CLERK TO PICK JUDGE

Says Statute Empowers Him to Fill Cutting's Place.

WILL MAKE CHOICE TODAY.

Action Surprise, Since Resignation Has Not Been Presented.

John A. Cervenka, clerk of the Probate court, yesterday surprised Chicago lawyers when he announced that he would today select the temporary successor to Judge Charles S. Cutting, whose resignation becomes effective on Sept. 1.

Many lawyers when informed of Mr. Cervenka's intention, doubted his power to fill the vacancy even for a day. Mr. Cervenka, however, insisted the law gives him the right to call any Probate or County judge of the state to sit until Judge Cutting's place is filled by election. The clerk cited the statutes to uphold his contention.

Section 239a of the Probate courts act reads as follows:

In case of the death, resignation, or inability of the judge of a County or Probate court of any county the clerk of such court shall designate and call any county or Probate judge to hold such County or Probate court; and such County or Probate judge, when so designated and called, may hold such County or Probate court and perform all the duties of the judge thereof until the appointment or election of his successor, or until the disability to act ceases.

Applies Where Term Ends After Year.

This power is conferred on the clerk only when the vacancy occurs more than a year prior to the expiration of the term. As Judge Cutting's term does not expire until November, 1914, Mr. Cervenka holds it is his duty to pick the successor.

Mr. Cervenka declined yesterday to say what judge he had in mind for Judge Cutting's place. He intimated, however, that the selection would be a downstate judge, thus precluding the likelihood that County Judge Owens would be asked to assume the probate duties along with those of the county court and the election board supervision.

Case Establishes Precedent.

This is the first time in the memory of lawyers that a clerk of the Probate court has had the opportunity thrust on him to name the judicial officer of a Cook county court.

DIGGS-CAMINETTI TRIAL BEGINS; DEFENSE IS HIT A HARD BLOW.

Court Rules Character of Women Involved Has No Bearing on Case if the Charges Are Proved.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 7.—A jury was sworn, the government stated its case, and the taking of testimony was begun today in the first of the Diggs-Caminetti trials in the United States District court.

A ruling by Judge Van Fleet proved a handicap on the defense which was expected. He held that proof that the two women were of bad character would not affect the degree of guilt of the two men.

Theodore Roche, special counsel for the government, set forth what the prosecution would attempt to prove. It would be shown by documentary evidence and the testimony of witnesses, he told the jury:

That Martha Warrington and Lola Norris, one 20 years old and the other 19, had been frightened by Maury I. Diggs and F. Drew Caminetti, married men with children, one 28 and the other 27 years old, into leaving Sacramento, lest a scandal explode and criminal prosecutions follow.

That marriage had been promised after the two husbands should have divorced their wives.

That the four traveled as married couples.

That on arriving at Reno on the morning of March 11, 1913, they registered at a hotel as married.

That Diggs hired a four room bungalow, paying rent in advance for a month.

That all four lived in the bungalow for three days before they were arrested.

GIFTS TO SULZER WENT FOR STOCK?

Frawley Committee Seeks to Learn Whether Governor Dabbled in Market.

MAY CALL ON EXCHANGE.

One Check Not Reported in Campaign Statement Passed Through Brokerage Firm.

New York, Aug. 7.—[Special.]—While the Frawley committee was discovering today that Peter Doelger gave Gov. Sulzer $250 which the governor neglected to mention in his certified statement of campaign receipts and that another unreported check was used in the purchase of stock from a brokerage firm, it was learned elsewhere that the stock exchange may become a factor in the investigation of Mr. Sulzer's alleged ventures into Wall street.

Being asked what the exchange would do if called upon by the committee to assist in identifying "account number 500," which is said to be the governor's account with Fuller & Gray, a member of the board of governors replied the exchange had power to learn the name of the anonymous customer.

It was his personal opinion that if the Frawley committee sought the aid of the board of governors in finding out who was the customer represented by "account number 500" it would be given.

May Appeal to Stock Exchange.

The Frawley committee will know tomorrow whether it will have to appeal to the stock exchange for help in getting the information it wants. Melville Fuller of Harris and Fuller, and Frederick L. Colwell, believed by the committee to be the governor's agents in the stock market, have one more chance to answer the questions which they refused to answer on Wednesday.

If when they appear before the committee tomorrow they are still silent they must go before the legislature when it reconvenes on Monday night to answer for contempt. They were so notified today by the committee. The same notice was served on Louis A. Sarecky, the governor's depositor of campaign money, who told the committee at Albany last week he wouldn't reply to any queries as to the money he deposited for the governor with the Mutual Alliance Trust company.

Campaign Check Paid for Stock?

The Frawley committee, in pinning down the fact that one of Gov. Sulzer's alleged campaign checks went to Wall street, put upon the stand Philip Boyer, once a member of the firm of Boyer, Griswold & Co. He identified the $500 check which John Lynn gave to Candidate Sulzer on Oct. 10 as one that passed through the brokerage house of Boyer, Griswold & Co. He didn't know in what deal the check figured nor whether it was turned in by Frederick L. Colwell, whom Mr. Boyer remembered as having bought 100 shares of Big Four stock.

The other big point in the developments before the committee—proof that Mr. Sulzer got a campaign check for $250 from Peter Doelger, the brewer, which he failed to say anything about in his sworn statement—was brought out through Charles A. Keckheissen, who responded to a subpœna in behalf of Mr. Doelger. He produced the check and a voucher signed by Peter Doelger Jr., that it was a campaign contribution. Including this check the committee thinks it has proved thus far that in Mr. Sulzer's campaign treasury there was $5,250 more than was revealed by his own sworn statement.

Sulzer Promises Explanation.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 7.—Gov. Sulzer declined tonight to comment on the testimony given before the Frawley committee concerning his campaign receipts and expenditures. His secretary, Chester C. Platt, gave out a statement, which said in part:

"A full and frank statement will be made as soon as the governor can learn exactly what are the facts. Money was received and paid out to promote the governor's election of which he had no knowledge. He necessarily must delay making any statement until investigations now under way are finished."

ADMISSIONS MADE BY N. A. M. ADVISER

Emery on Stand Says Industrial Defense Meetings Were "Closed" Affairs.

LOBBY SECRETS BARED.

James L. Elwell Tells House Members of Methods Used by "Council's" Collector.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—That the National Council for Defense, an unincorporated subsidiary of the National Association of Manufacturers, has had no meeting since its organization in 1908 was one of the admissions drawn from James A. Emery, its general counsel, on the witness stand before the senate lobby investigating committee today.

Mr. Emery admitted that the meetings of the "council" were attended only by himself, Chairman Van Cleave, Secretary Schwedtman, and sometimes Treasurer Bird, all of whom were officers of the National Association of Manufacturers. Mr. Emery admitted that these meetings were irregular both as to place and time.

The senate committee is preparing to wind up its work in a hurry and turn the remainder of the investigation over to the house committee, with a double view of avoiding a duplication of work and permitting senators to give more time and attention to tariff debate.

Denies Mulhall Testimony.

Emery made several denials of parts of Mulhall's testimony. Mulhall had testified that for months before leaving congress James E. Watson had used the stenographer and clerical force of Emery's office.

"Watson was never in my office on any errand whatsoever until after the expiration of his last term in congress," Emery said.

Referring to a part of Mulhall's testimony in which it appeared that the National Association of Manufacturers had opposed child labor legislation, workman's compensation, compulsory education, and other humanitarian bills, Emery declared he had never heard of a compulsory education bill before congress; that neither he nor his associates had opposed a child labor bill or taken any part on either side; that they had advocated strongly before committees the workman's compensation bill and had spent thousands of dollars advocating industrial education as proposed in the Page bill and in urging the use of safety appliances on factory machinery.

Ousted by the N. A. M.

James L. Elwell of Hamden, N. Y., appeared before the house committee in the afternoon. General Manager Bird of the National Association of Manufacturers, according to Elwell, threw him out of a lucrative job as publisher of American Industries, the official organ of the National Association of Manufacturers. Bird gave him only three days' notice, Elwell said, and see-sawed him out of some money besides.

Elwell had some interesting information concerning the methods employed by F. F. Porter, general collector for the National Council for Industrial Defense. Elwell said it was his information that Porter drew vast contributions from manufacturers by a process of near-intimidation, telling them what terrors the council was saving them at the hands of the labor "demons," and what would happen if the council withdrew this protection.

"Usually," Elwell remarked, "Porter came away with a large check."

Knows Little About Mulhall.

Elwell knew little about Mulhall's activities, political or otherwise, but he says he was in Bird's office in 1910 when Mulhall incautiously started to make an oral report about his work against William Hughes, now a senator, in the Sixth New Jersey district. Elwell, who has some ability as a mimic, drew a laugh from the committee as he repeated his version of what Mulhall had said:

"Well, Mr. Bird, I could have done better if I had had more money. I worked hard, but I didn't have money enough. There were more Democrats in that district than I thought for. I thought I did d—d well for the money I had, don't you?"

"By that time Bird had gotten around and stepped on his foot and shut him up," concluded Elwell.

On another occasion he said he heard Mulhall ask Bird to send him $2,500 to Washington. Bird promised to do this, according to Elwell.

Tells How Cushing Quit.

Ewell told the committe of the circumstances of the resignation of Marshall Cushing as secretary of the National Association of Manufacturers. He said Cushing declined to tell the officers and directors the details of the expenditure of money in a campaign to redirect Representative Littlefield of Maine.

"They wanted to know just what he did with the money he had," Ewell said. "He said that he thought that it wouldn't do him or the directors any good if he told them. He told me he went the limit to secure Littlefield's election. He wouldn't tell the directors, so he resigned."

Discussing the dismissal of B. A. Cooley and the appointment of F. F. Porter in charge of the association's campaign for membership, Ewell quoted Cooley as saying that "Porter could get the money, but that he didn't like his tactics."

The committee was anxious to locate Cooley and probably will call him later.

N. A. M. Active with Taft.

Asked about the political activities of the manufacturers, Ewell said:

"After the election of President Taft Mr. Bird said to me: 'People are beginning to realize the power of the National Association of Manufacturers. A committee of the association, before Mr. Taft was nominated, went to him and to the convention committee on resolutions and told them that if they put any such labor planks in the platform as were suggested by Gompers and the chiefs of the American Federation of Labor we would defeat them, but that if they did not and left it to the Democrats to support such planks, the Democrats would be defeated.'

"Then with a little smile Mr. Bird said: 'That plank didn't go in and we feel pretty well satisfied at having put Mr. Taft over.'"

At the conclusion of Ewell's testimony the committee adjourned until Monday.

Retracts on Libel Threat.

Columbus, O., Aug. 7.—A. C. Marshall of Dayton, member of the National Association of Manufacturers in a letter to Gov. Cox today retracted a charge he made in a letter to James A. Emery, which was introduced by Martin A. Mulhall before the senate lobby committee and which charges that Cox, who was then a congressman, held up the selection of a site for the Dayton postoffice building for "speculative reasons."

The retraction was demanded by the governor following the publication of the statement by Mulhall at Washington, several weeks ago.

The governor threatened suit for libel if the retraction was not made.

MISS ELEANOR WRIGHT

Last Wednesday Miss Eleanor Wright and a girl friend went to the former's residence at 4209 Ellis avenue. The friend had been to a matinée. Miss Wright removed two diamond rings from her fingers, placed them in her mouth, and started to wash her hands.

"O, Eleanor," said the friend, "let me tell you a funny joke I heard this afternoon. You see, the heroine came on the stage leading a big greyhound. The dog was breathing pretty hard. Pretty soon the comedian came in and looked at it. Then he said the dog should be ashamed of itself. The heroine asked why. Eleanor, what do you suppose the comedian said?"

Eleanor shook her head, signifying she didn't know.

"Well, he said the dog was too big to have such short pants."

"Ha!" said Eleanor, and then choked. For the force of gravity had acted on the rings, and, though she managed to secure one of them, the other slipped down her throat and stayed there. An X-ray examination made yesterday proved it to be located in her gullet.

An effort to extricate it from Miss Wright's throat will be made today by Dr. R. M. Wheeler at his offices at 8 North State street.

MANUEL TO WED FOR DOWRY? PAWNS ROYAL GEMS IN ENGLAND

Former King of Portugal Cannot Live on $50,000 a Year, So Seeks to Recoup Losses by Marriage?

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Pawnbrokers in the neighborhood of Richmond, the historic little town on the Thames where Manuel, former king of Portugal is now making his home with his mother, Queen Amelie, have been in temporary possession for the last few months of many beautiful pieces of jewelry and some very valuable unset gems.

One diamond cross with a huge sapphire in the center, which now lies in the safe of a certain pawnbroker in Richmond, is said to be one of the most valuable and gorgeous decorations worn by Manuel's father.

Considerable wonder is expressed that the young man who once occupied the Portuguese throne should be in such hard straits, for King George allows him $50,000 a year. He is very extravagant, however, and his mother is understood not to be practical. When Manuel marries, in a few weeks, his fortunes will be recouped, as his future bride is wealthy.

ACCIDENT KILLS TWO AIR MEN; AVIATORS' SONS SEE TRAGEDY.

Col. F. S. Cody and Passenger Drop 300 Feet to Death in England—Body of Craft Too Heavy for Wings.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Col. F. S. Cody, the Anglo-American aviator, was killed in an aeroplane accident at Aldershot today.

Cody was trying out a new hydroaeroplane when he met his death. In the machine with him was a passenger named Evans, who was also killed. They were flying over the open country in the Aldershot district, nearly 300 feet high, when their aeroplane began traveling badly and finally fell with a crash to the ground.

Several officials rushed to the spot and found the bodies of Cody and Evans lying beneath the aeroplane. Cody's neck was broken and both of Evans' legs were fractured in the fall.

Cody's sons, Leon and Frank, were witnesses of the accident, which was attributed by experts to faulty construction, the body of the craft proving too heavy for the wings.

Meteors Endanger Flyers.

BERLIN, Aug. 7.—A new danger for aviators was chronicled today by the German airman, Victor Stoeffler of the Johannisthal aerodrome, who reports that his biplane was caught in a shower of meteors last evening while he was flying with Lieut. von Brederlow of the Prussian army at an altitude of one mile. He heard the whiz of the meteors, which passed so closely that both aviators say they felt the rush of air.

JUDGES MANACLED BY INTIMIDATION?

Borah Charges in Senate Department of Justice Exerts Influence.

NO PROMOTION IF DEFIED.

Chamberlain Wants Enormous Fees of Federal Court Clerks Investigated.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The charge that the department of justice is accustomed to reward federal judges who do its bidding and to punish those who do not was made in the senate today by Senator Borah of Idaho. The senators who heard the accusation were startled, apparently, but they made no move to provide for the investigation which Mr. Borah demanded.

Senator Borah asserted that in the last four or five years the department of justice has conducted investigations of courts and of their judges "with a view to controlling their decisions."

Prepared to Sustain Charge.

"If I were not prepared to sustain this charge I would not make it," he continued. "From information which I have I know that this has occurred. The federal judges are under the influence of the attorney general and of the department.

"Their promotion and demotion—if they are not promoted it amounts to a demotion—are in the hands of the department. These influences have been brought to bear, I am informed, to influence their decisions along lines desired by the government.

"If this is the case, and that class of judges is to sit upon the federal bench, I say it would be better to have judges elected by the people and to provide for the recall of judges, much as I am opposed to that principle."

Holds Evidence for Inquiry.

After the senate adjourned Senator Borah was asked if he would specify the cases to which he referred. He declined, saying that he would produce the proof if there should be an investigation. This is the second time Senator Borah has broached this charge in the senate.

Senator Borah is said to have been collecting evidence for some time. It is understood that he discovered it to be a common practice for the department of justice to ask favors in connection with the conduct of cases. It also is said to have been the practice to sound judges in advance of decisions they would render in certain cases.

There also is reason to believe that Senator Borah is in possession of evidence tending to establish the charge that judges who have not proved subservient to the department have been deprived of promotion.

Senator Borah's accusation grew out of comment on a reply of Attorney General McReynolds to the Works resolution inquiring whether agents of the department were employed to spy upon judges.

Hits Federal Court Clerks.

Federal court fees are so exorbitant that poor litigants cannot afford to seek justice in the national tribunals, according to Senator Chamberlain of Oregon. He offered a resolution directing an investigation of the fees and compensation received by federal court clerks and legislation correcting the alleged abuses.

If the senate authorizes the investigation the committee will examine into the practices of the district and appeals court clerks in Chicago and other places, where a vast amount of federal litigation is handled.

For several years Representative Sabath has sought to have the Chicago fees investigated. He charged that attaches of the clerks' offices enjoyed many perquisites from receiverships and trust funds. In some parts of the country court clerks make $20,000 a year out of their offices.

The resolution proposes that a committee of five senators appointed by the vice president investigate the question and report a bill for uniform fees and compensation.

DEPERDUSSIN TELLS SCHEME

French Inventor Shows How He Got Millions from Bank.

FAKED BIG DEALS IN SILK.

Kept Pyramiding Loans Until Exposure Brought Him to Cell.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 7.—Some of the mystery surrounding the affairs of Armand Deperdussin, the inventor and aviator, whose system of high finance landed him in a box cell, was lifted today. Deperdussin admitted to the magistrate who is in charge of the case that he never bought a yard of silk in his life, although it was on the strength of his tale of making immense deals with Paris dry goods stores in that commodity that he got the Credit Industrial et Commercial to advance him millions of francs on the presentation of forged orders.

"I told the bank," said Deperdussin, "that I had purchased silk to the value of 1,000,000 francs in January and had sold it for 1,120,000 francs, the price to be paid in April. The bank advanced me 1,000,000 francs, but of course, I had to pay back this amount, plus the interest, amounting to 120,000 francs, in April. To arrange for this I went to the bank in February and told of a new deal involving 1,500,000 francs on terms similar to the other. I thus obtained the money to pay off the first amount, falling due in April, and every month I repeated the scheme, each time having to increase the amount of the pretended deal. The last operation reached the sum of 16,000,000 francs.

"Of the 30,000,000 francs which the bank gave me I think I paid back about 18,000,000. I spent 10,000,000 francs in furthering my aviation projects and personal expenses cost me 2,000,000 francs."

Deperdussin explained his willingness to confess by saying he wanted to free his aviation business from any connection with his alleged silk deals, which formed the only basis for his transactions with the bank.

BELFORD CASE IS POSTPONED.

Judge Windes Defers Hearing to Give Lawyers Time to Agree on Trial Date.

Judge Thomas G. Windes yesterday continued the case of Max Annenberg, circulation manager of THE TRIBUNE, until next Monday, pending a conference between Assistant State's Attorney John Fleming and Attorney William S. Forrest, representing Mr. Annenberg. The attorneys will meet to agree upon a date for the trial. Annenberg was in an automobile on July 13 with TRIBUNE reporters and photographers when Alexander Belford was wounded by a shot during an attack made on the newspaper men by gamblers whose resort had been photographed.

REPLACES PART OF BOY'S SPINE

CURE FOR TUBERCULOSIS.

Dr. Albee of New York Uses Section of Lad's Leg Bone; Operation New in England.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—An operation to cure tuberculosis of the spine was performed for the first time in England this afternoon at the Orthopedic hospital by Dr. F. H. Albee of New York in the presence of fifty surgeons of many nationalities who are here for the international medical congress.

The patient was a 4 year old boy. Part of his shin bone was used to repair the spine. The operation consumed twenty-two minutes.

Physicians attending the congress were scattered all over London today, twenty-three sectional meetings having been arranged in as many halls.

Suffragets Patrol Meeting Places.

Suffragets again claimed the attention of the delegates by patrolling the neighborhood of all the halls carrying mottoes printed in English, French, and German and also chalking "Votes for Women" on the sidewalks.

The Anglo-American Medical society gave a luncheon to 100 distinguished delegates. Sir Malcolm Morris, a specialist in skin diseases, took the chair and welcomed the guests. Dr. S. J. Meltzer of New York replied on behalf of the American contingent and Dr. Chaffard of Paris for the other visitors.

American Doctors Read Papers.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—American doctors took a prominent part in the various meetings. Prof. Harvey Cushing of Harvard university addressed a gathering of 7,000 persons in Albert hall, his subject being "Surgery." He vigorously defended vivisection and called attention to the fact that present day circumstances are strangely similar to those at the time of a London conference held thirty years ago. On both occasions, Prof. Cushing said, the profession faced threats of legislation being enacted "against experiments upon animals necessary to the pursuit of knowledge."

THREE YEAR SERVICE IN FRANCE

Senate Adopts Measure Prescribing Enforced Allegiance, Bringing Army Up to 800,000 Men.

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The French senate today adopted by 254 votes to 37 the bill introducing three years active service in the French army. The bill was passed by the chamber of deputies on July 19. The measure adds 210,000 men to the peace footing of the French army, bringing it up to 800,000. Service in future will begin at the age of 20 instead of 21.

HAMPERING THE FEARLESS.

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, a paper openly seeking to hamper the state's attorney."

This characterization of THE TRIBUNE by the fearless young one, Mr. Hoyne, indicates that although he cannot banish us from his affections, he can misunderstand us. Hamper the gentleman? Why, bless his fearlessness, the law and the courts can't do that. If there be a state's attorney in all this broad land unhampered by any consideration for justice, by any sense of duty, by any standard of conduct which might be expected to govern in a public prosecutor's office, that state's attorney is the fearless one of Cook.

THE TRIBUNE isn't hampering Mr. Hoyne. It's merely trying to keep up with him. He escapes all hampers of law or equity.

The one and only hamper he does not avoid is the local influence of the wonder working William Randolph Hearst. If the fearless young one ever complains that he can't do his work because Mr. Hearst's agents won't let him, or that he does do his work because Mr. Hearst's agents tell him, we will acknowledge ourselves convinced without proof.

CONFISCATION NOT POLICE POWER.

Upon consideration the council garbage committee will see the impropriety of requiring hotels and restaurants to turn over to the city free of cost waste products that they are now able to sell.

It would be no more just to require hotels and restaurants to give the city their valuable refuse than it would be to require an office building to give to the city the waste papers which they sell, or to require factories to give away the odds and ends left over from their manufacture.

The suggestion must have been made thoughtlessly, because it would amount to no less than the deliberate misuse of the police power for the purpose of confiscating private property. There are acts under the police power which interfere with the individual's free use of property which are clearly rightful.

There are such exercises of the police power whose rightfulness is disputable.

There are proposed exercises of the police power which are clearly wrongfully confiscatory; among them is the subject matter of this editorial.

PUBLIC WELFARE BEFORE PARTY.

Fusion against Tammany is in danger because the Progressives and Democratic members of the committee of 107 insisted on nominating Collector Mitchel rather than District Attorney Whitman.

The New York World, Democratic, pointed out that Mr. Whitman was the logical candidate of fusion because of his extraordinary record as district attorney and because of the consequent strength it gave him before the people.

The Progressives and Democrats, however, took a narrow view and refused to nominate him because he was a Republican. It is now feared that the Republicans will retaliate, and that Whitman will refuse to run in a minor capacity on the ticket with Mitchel.

They would do more to strengthen their party in the minds of the people were they to take the broader view and support the Democrat, Mitchel, for mayor.

The weakness of the Republican party in New York has come from putting party and personal advantage before the public welfare. If it could show itself to be more public spirited than either the Progressives or the better element of the Democrats, it would go far to restore itself to strength.

INSOLENCE OR DESPERATION?

Five Americans thrown in jail by Huerta officers in Chihuahua. Another held for conspiracy at Mexico City. Declarations from the capital that Huerta scorns mediation and will have nothing to do with Commissioner Lind. Reports that the American colony there is panic stricken and of a mind to appeal to foreign powers for military aid——

What is the intention of Huerta? Is he playing a deep game to unite Mexicans at last against an imaginary threat of invasion? Or is he another example of the grim proverb which declares that "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad"?

Whichever be true, or if both be true, it is plain that events are moving rapidly to a climax. The situation grows daily, if not hourly, worse, and if dispatches and public statements may be relied upon, the leaders of faction remain remorseless and irreconcilable. Huerta and Carranza agree at least on this one point, that they will not accept mediation. This may be bluff, diplomacy, politics. But it leaves the situation in a perilous suspension which any irresponsible may precipitate in disaster.

Meanwhile, the president maintains his wise policy of restraint, in readiness to act vigorously if need be. Public opinion supports the administration, as it will support any aggressive measures if they become necessary as a last resort.

PEACE AGAIN.

Bulgaria has been forced to accept the will of her late allies and of Roumania. She is crowded out of Macedonia and Greece keeps the seacoast. Servia opens up her path through Macedonia, and Roumania does not have to fear the development of a preponderant Balkan state whose ambitions would threaten the stability and well being of the other states.

Bulgaria escapes the humiliation of a peace granted on the battlefield or in her capital. The greatest encroachment made on her territory was that of the unopposed Roumanian army. When Greek and Servian armies carried the war out of the disputed territory and into the Bulgarian the Bulgars held them.

The settlement has been a costly, staggering one, but undoubtedly it will promote a more lasting peace than could have been foreseen if Bulgaria had been able to dominate the situation successfully at the close of the Turkish war. It has been staggering not only in loss of men but in loss of food supplies. The second war was fought when the Balkan peasants, released from the Turkish war, ought to have been in the harvest fields. Thus the economic disasters of the first war have piled on them the economic disasters of the second, and the operations not only of irregular troops of the different nations but of the regular armies have destroyed crops. Some regions of the harried countries may barely escape famine.

Roumania's course in the war now ended has received criticism not wholly applicable. The struggle against Turkey, in its largest sense, was one for the acquisition of territory. This purpose was thinly veiled under the crusade against the Ottoman as a tyrant and murderer. It was a war of aggrandizement, perfectly justified as such a war and with abundant provocation. Nevertheless it was a war of expansion, and in it Roumania, whose expansion could be only in the direction of Bulgaria, remained neutral.

With Servia, Bulgaria, and Greece growing as the result of the successful operations against the Turks, Roumania insisted upon her right to additional territory, if only to insure her national growth in keeping with the other states. It was a right which might be asserted. Bulgarian independence was not obtained without Roumanian arms, and Roumania had a claim upon consideration. The dispute which involved the former allies in conflict gave her the opportunity, and the use she made of it was temperate.

Bulgaria has asked for an international inquiry to establish the facts relating to atrocities charged against her arms by the King of Greece. The isolation of Sofia during the recent struggle gave the Greek and Servian protests undisputed sway. Now the Bulgarian indignation is vehement if not convincing.

The Greek king may be absolved of the charge of deliberate misrepresentation, but he may have been imposed upon. All information regarding the Balkan states and the now released Turkish provinces indicates that liars and murderers flourish without regard to nationality, race, or creed.

FOR THE GENERAL GOOD.

By all means let the county hospital have its tablet inscribed to the virtues and with the names of the men who authorized its construction and appropriated therefor.

Let it be a frank and candid tablet. For one such $600 would be a small price, and if the notorious modesty or the extraordinary economy of the Bartzenized doers of good stands in the way let the new members gently remove the obstructions, and give the hospital a tablet of lasting metal deeply inscribed with candid fact.

Shifting the Blame.

Mrs. Jipes had been holding her own, if not a little more, in the family spat.

"You oughtn't to blame me for what you call my ugly disposition," she said. "You know I got that from my father."

Mr. Jipes saw his opportunity.

"And you think you ought to keep it," he said, "to remember him by!"

In a Reminiscent Mood.

"Right here," said the grizzled old soldier, "some of the hardest fighting of the whole war was done."

"I don't see anything," commented a member of the party, "that suggests a battlefield."

"I shall never forget it," murmured the old soldier, his eye kindling with the recollection of the struggle. "Fifty years ago this spot was a watermelon patch. We discovered it just as we were about to go into camp. There were fifty men for every melon, and—and you can imagine——"

How to Keep Well, By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

VACATION EXERCISE.

WHEN a man goes to Germany for medical treatment he expects to put in a certain time taking exercises and being massaged. Then he expects to put in some more time resting up, contemplating the cure. Perhaps it would help if a third period were added, a period of training for the cure. The prevailing plan of these cures has been thought out carefully.

It would be well if the man contemplating a vacation would plan his vacation in three parts—training for the vacation, the vacation itself, and convalescing from the vacation.

If he is disposed to seasickness or car sickness the training should begin with a free purgative, followed by several days of abstemious living.

A sensible vacation is one that is used to get one physically fit. In fact, there is more mental recuperation in exercise to make one fit than there is in lying about in a hammock or sitting at a bridge table.

The man who spends his days at sedentary work accumulates fat in some inconvenient localities, converts his muscles into structures of low efficiency, and loses his wind. While he is better off for the day's work with poor muscles than with good ones, he should keep them as high as a certain base line.

There is no reason in having a big muscled man do brain work, or in a brain working man having monster muscles. Such a combination is a waste, and eventually harms the person in whom the combination exists.

On the other hand, a man who keeps himself physically fit gains in efficiency and in his ability to fight disease.

The man who will not go to that much trouble may take advantage of his vacation to improve his muscle tone. To this group I offer the suggestion that the members divide the vacation into periods of training for the vacation, the vacation itself, and recovery from the vacation.

Two years ago the American Medical association met at Los Angeles. The physicians went to the meeting in solid special trains. One of these trains detoured by the Grand Cañon.

Many of the physicians, soft to begin with, had been further softened by three days of eating and resting, for many had come from New York and New England. Nevertheless, many of them started down the Bright Angels' trail at once.

Needless to say, the relief mules worked for hours in getting them back to the train.

At least two weeks of training—or, better still, four weeks—should have preceded an effort to walk to the river and back.

An overstrain of a flabby muscle is liable to stretch it. The heart is a hollow muscle, and if it be overstrained and overstretched it may stop beating, or be injured beyond repair, or be temporarily harmed.

SIOUX CITY IS WISE.

A. F. A. writes: "I am surprised that this way of using the electric fan to combat the fly problem has just come to your attention. It is common in Sioux City, and has been for a number of years. Candy stores, restaurants, barber shops, clothing stores, and other places of business use the outside fans effectively. Is it possible that Chicago has not yet learned their utility? It must be so, else you would have known of the practice before now. So it seems that we all can learn of each other.

You may care to know that I cured a long standing case of constipation by the remedy you have suggested many times—namely: bran bread. I consider this remedy remarkable—remarkable because so simple. And yet I am unable to convince some of my suffering friends that it will be effective."

REPLY.

A. F. A.: Good for Sioux City!

IRON SULPHATE AND WATER.

H. F. writes: "Please give the formula for a preparation to put on manure to prevent flies from breeding in it, but not to destroy the fertilizing qualities? We keep two horses."

REPLY.

Dissolve four pounds of iron sulphate in two gallons of water. Sprinkle this over the manure and the floor of the stalls, if of dirt. The above is the quantity required each day for a two horse stable.

HARM FROM FORMALDEHYDE.

P. M. writes: "Is formaldehyde harmful when used for the purpose of destroying the odor of perspiration? Is stout beneficial as regards increasing weight?"

REPLY.

1. To many people, yes. It will set up a formaldehyde dermatitis.

2. No; if you eat as much as you need, and then take a good deal of stout on top of that, you may fatten, but that will be the result of overeating.

CONGRESSMAN CAN HELP.

Mrs. E. A. H. writes: "Please tell me how to get the farmers' bulletin outlining a plan of instructions for canning. Also how to get the number 521 for canning tomatoes?"

REPLY.

Write to your congressman. The bulletin is No. 521. He may be able to get a set of food bulletins for you from the department of agriculture.

MAY BE HOOKWORM.

B. K. writes: "I have a splendid appetite and sleep in a well ventilated room. But I cannot overcome that tired feeling. Can you tell me the cause? What can I do to overcome it? I live in a small town, situated on the Mississippi river. The air is damp in the evening."

REPLY.

My first guess is hookworm. If that has been ruled out as the result of examination, my next guess is lack of exercise. If one eats well and does not work his muscles enough to burn up the waste, he will be "logy and tired" from time to time. My next guess would be some organic disease, say anæmia.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1913: By the Brentwood Company.]

IN no country of the old world do the temperance societies exercise so potent a sway as in Sweden. The various organizations form, indeed, perhaps the most powerful political party in the land, and the movement therefore which has now been started throughout that country, with a view to the enactment of legislation prohibiting the production, importation, and sale of alcoholic liquors, and even of beer, is likely to be crowned with success.

The government at Stockholm has, within the last fortnight, publicly announced through Minister of State Staaff that, if the movement receives the support of the people, it will cordially indorse and champion the projected legislation.

That this will encounter no obstruction on the part of the reigning family is perhaps best shown by the fact that the Dowager Queen of Sweden has long been an ardent and enthusiastic supporter of the total abstinence agitation in the land; that her second and favorite son, Admiral Prince Oscar Bernadotte, is the president of the United Temperance societies of Sweden, and that King Gustavus himself, who is a total abstainer, feels so strongly about the matter that he has, since his father's death, got rid at a loss of the well known brewery which was owned by the late Oscar II., and which was a source of considerable revenue to his privy purse.

As for the national legislature at Stockholm, it has lately given a practical demonstration of its views about the matter by doing away with all liquid refreshments of an alcoholic nature in the parliamentary restaurant and buffet.

The only problem which will confront the movement is how to get round the treaties of commerce with foreign nations, authorizing the importation into Sweden of wines and liquors of one kind and another.

If this legislation succeeds, and there seems to be every prospect of its becoming an accomplished fact, the Swedish envoy to this country and the various consuls of King Gustavus on this side of the Atlantic will have no alternative but to take a leaf out of the book of the American secretary of state, William J. Bryan, and restrict themselves to unfermented grape juice in lieu of champagne, and that delicious Swedish arrack punch.

Prince Gregory Troubetzskoi, chief of the near east division of the department of foreign affairs at St. Petersburg, and formerly counselor of the czar's embassy and his chargé d'affaires at Berlin, has just published, in one of the leading German papers, the Hamburg News, a remarkable letter over his signature in which he sets forth that Russia is far more interested in remaining on friendly terms with Germany than with England; that its commercial relations with Germany are greatly superior to those with Great Britain, and, on the strength of the official statistics which he cites, intimates that Russia could never afford to form any alliance with England that would be in any way inimical to Germany.

It stands to reason that the prince would not have dared to write thus over his signature without due authority from his government and from his sovereign.

Admitting this, one may be tempted to ask, What has become of the triple entente between Russia, Great Britain, and France, which has been organized with so much care by Edward VII., to counterbalance the triple alliance constituted by Germany, Austria, and Italy?

The fact that these two coalitions of great powers of Europe were so evenly balanced was regarded as constituting a most important guarantee of peace.

If the triple entente has ceased to exist, by the defection of Russia, the situation has indeed undergone a remarkable change, which demands the attention of all careful students of European affairs.

Viscount Gage, who has applied to King George to terminate in his favor the abeyance of the ancient baronies of Dynaunt, Martin, and Fitzwarren [being compelled as a minor, 18 years of age, to present his petition through his mother, the widowed Lady Gage, who is his guardian], has a strain of American blood in his veins.

One of his forbears was governor and commander in chief of the British forces in America at the time of the outbreak of the war of independence. In 1757 this ancestor married a girl, Margaret, daughter of Peter Campbell, president of the council of New Jersey. Her mother was a daughter of Stephen Van Cortlandt.

Another of Lord Gage's ancestors, Sir William Gage, seventh baronet of his line, and who flourished in the reign of King George III., introduced into England a new kind of plum, which in consequence thereof was named after him, the greengage.

The family claims descent from a Sire de Gaugi, whose name is on the roll of Battle Abbey among those who fought with William the Conqueror at the battle of Hastings. He seems to have derived his name from the seigniory of Gaugi, near Rouen, in Normandy.

Robert Gage was distinguished for his infatuation for Mary, Queen of Scots. Sir John Gage was a particular favorite of Henry VIII., who caused Holbein to paint his portrait, besides bestowing upon him the office of constable of the tower of London and the order of the Garter.

Sir Henry Gage greatly distinguished himself as governor of Oxford and as one of the most devoted adherents of Charles I. After twice relieving the siege of Basing House, he was killed by the Roundheads at Cullum bridge.

John Gage of Firle park, in Sussex, was created a baronet by James I., and the eighth baronet was, by reason of his great territorial possessions and of the political influence which they commanded, raised to the peerage as Viscount Gage.

It was his younger brother, Joseph, who acquired such a colossal fortune by the Mississippi bubble scheme. His wealth was estimated at the then fantastic figure of $60,000,000, and it is no wonder that his head was turned to the extent of leading him to make unsuccessful attempts to purchase, first of all the crown of Poland and, after that, the crown of Sardinia.

Ultimately he lost all his money; and then, making his way to Spain, devoted himself to developing the mineral wealth of that kingdom with such success that he acquired another great fortune, becoming a grandee of the first class and commander in chief of the Spanish army in Lombardy.

He left no sons and only two daughters by his marriage with the daughter of the second Lord Powys.

It is somewhat difficult to understand the appeal of Lord Gage to the king for the termination of the abeyances of these three peerages in his favor. They are English baronies, and, since he is already an Irish viscount, their possession will not improve his precedence.

A viscount whose dignities are of the most recent origin has the "pas" of any baron, no matter how great the antiquity of the bestowal of the honor.

Lord Gage, in addition to his Irish viscounty, has an English barony, bearing the date of 1790, which entitles him to a seat in the house of lords on the attainment of his twenty-first birthday.

All that the success of his appeal to the crown would mean, therefore, would be that he would be enabled to take a higher place among the barons of the house of lords than he would be entitled to as Baron Gage.

BUT THEY DON'T MIND IT BECAUSE IT'S SO DRY.

[From the Bakersfield Californian.]

Many new cars have been purchased this spring and automobile outings are very popular at this time. On these days the sense of oneness of the vast simplicity of the infinite triumphs and it is stimulating to mind and body to regain this feeling so apt to become confused in the rush of pioneer upbuilding. So the many who are not tied down fare forth acquainting themselves with the beauty of the year. The exhuberance, the odors, and colors and myriad forms of life and happiness intoxicate the delighted senses impressing one with the calm and celestial dignity of the universal life and that is the best part of the outing.

Tango.

[Filson Young in the Saturday Review.]

There has been a vast amount of nonsense talked about the tango and its derivation, its significance, and place in the realms of art. As for its derivation, one needs no more than a small schoolboy's knowledge of Latin to be aware that tango means "I touch," and that the tango is necessarily a dance of contact. As for its significance, it is simply a result of that desire for greater latitude and increased realism which has influenced the amusements of society. As for its relation to art, it has none whatsoever . . . Impropriety and indecency in themselves will never be anything but ugly and revolting; and my own criticism of the tango, my definite objection to it, is not that it is indecent or improper, but that it is ugly. . . . The other night I saw an old lady of distinguished lineage and high station and strictly conventional views, sitting in a ballroom and regarding with an expression of fond and doting pride her honorable daughter, a sylphlike and refined young woman, tightly clasped in the embrace of a man and whirling about in various attitudes any one of which, had they jointly assumed it in the middle of a London street, would have rendered them liable to arrest on a charge of misdemeanor. That is a simple historical fact which should be placed on record, not because it is isolated, but because it is typical.

The Chicago Busman Story.

The motorman having carefully stopped the car with the rear platform alongside a large hole in the pavement, the old lady gathered up her bundles and prepared to alight.

She made tentative advances, first with her right foot and then with her left; then stood abashed and irresolute on finding that she had arrived, not merely at her corner, but at a mechanical and moral crisis.

The conductor, observing her trepidation, gave the motorman two bells with some impatience. The car started briskly and the old lady was spilled among the cobbles, thus achieving a display considerably greater than the one of which she had at first been apprehensive.

"That," remarked the conductor sapiently, "is what they get for wearing them tight skirts."

Later, the old lady wrote to Vox Pop, and drew an assurance from the company to the effect that it did not tolerate such actions on the part of its employés, that a rigid investigation would be made, and that if the conductor admitted the facts as stated the matter would have prompt attention.

STATUS OF THE ALLIES IN THE BALKANS.

The shaded portion labeled "Area taken by Bulgaria" shows what Bulgaria will be allowed to retain under the peace treaty between that country and Greece, Servia and Roumania, signed on Wednesday. Bulgaria demanded a strip running west to Monastir and south to include Salonika, claiming that it was Bulgaria's operations in Thrace that enabled Greece and Servia to occupy Macedonia. As it is, Bulgaria gets nothing additional and loses to Roumania another strip in the northeast corner of her dominion.

The exact boundaries between Servia and Greece and what, if any, portion of Albania is to be given to Montenegro remain to be settled by the London peace conference, which had only arranged a preliminary treaty when the war between the allies began. Turkey's reported new claim for territory east from the Enos-Midia line to Adrianople also remains to be settled in the coming resumption of the conference between the powers.

WALKS "NORTH" OF SIXTY-FIFTH STREET.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—In July parties signing themselves "Chicago Lawn" wrote you with reference to sidewalks in the territory Sixty-third street to Sixty-seventh street, Kedzie avenue to Central Park avenue. On July 18 we answered same, which was printed in your issue a day or two later, but in quoting us you stated that that part of the territory mentioned lying south of Sixty-fifth street was now being advertised for contract instead of north, as stated in our communication.

We have had several inquiries with reference to your article and in order that there may be no misunderstanding, will you please correct same? N. E. MURRAY,
Superintendent of Sidewalks.

NO ROBEY STREET EXTENSION.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Kindly inform me if the new street car line on South Robey street between Forty-seventh street and Sixty-third street is to be built this year, as the ordinance calls for. J. R. B.

There is no immediate likelihood of this extension.

SPRINKLING PEDESTRIANS.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Is there any way of doing away with the nuisance that prevails in the Kenwood district during the evening by reason of lawn sprinklers being so placed that they throw water in the path of pedestrians? It seems to me that the property owners should be compelled to place their sprinklers so that the spray will not be thrown on the clothes of people passing on the sidewalk.

A SEWER, BUT NO WATER.

Chicago, Aug. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have some property on Aberdeen street south of Seventy-ninth street and am anxious to build, but there are no improvements in the street. Can you tell me if the city intends putting in sewer and water soon? J. D. D.

An estimate was made on July 18 of this year for sewer, but as yet no public hearing has been set. The water pipe extension bureau reports that no steps have been taken to put in water.

TOYS AND CLOTHING FOR POOR.

Waukon, Ia., Aug. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The article under the caption "Instead of An Editorial" in your issue of July 31, which you give space on your editorial page, has my attention. In connection with some needs it occurs to me there may be playthings and clothing in plenty laid aside and which would otherwise never again be used, to bring healthy joy to every despondent little heart in the tenements, if only these articles might be placed within their possession.

THE TRIBUNE has been to the fore in very many helpful and charitable movements, therefore I suggest its agency in establishing a clearing house to the end that all having toys cast aside or clothing outgrown and suitable may notify this agency to call for these articles; or better, may send them to the place designated so they may then be sent to some deserving little one who has not these means of comfort or enjoyment.

It is certain that with an easy manner of placing toys no longer required or outgrown clothing in the hands of these little unfortunates thoughtful people will coöperate and gladly offer what they may have.

The tenement doctors suggest in themselves an agency for cataloging the needs to be supplied. T. W. M.

CERTIFICATES FOR AUTOMOBILISTS

Chicago, Aug. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—There are now schools for the instruction of chauffeurs. Fully 90 per cent of all automobile accidents in Chicago are caused by owners of cars and their families from whom no certificates of qualification are demanded or solicited. Surely the public needs education.

The law that requires no license or certificate of efficiency from automobile owners or members of their families but imposes the expenditure of time and money upon wage earning chauffeurs, forcing them to pass examinations and bear the expense of licenses, was not passed in the interest of public welfare but to safeguard the select few who can afford to hire licensed drivers and had sufficient pull to control legislation.

A. WORTHINGTON.

MR. HOYNE AND HIS STAFF.

Chicago, Aug. 3.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It seems that every day people are denied justice in our courts because State's Attorney Hoyne has a lot of assistants that never tried a criminal case until appointed by Mr. Hoyne. Most of them are men of no experience in the practice of criminal law. And, as a taxpayer, it does look to me as if Mr. Hoyne has selected his staff from a list of precinct captains who were able to deliver the precinct to him on election day.

If you will look up this man, Barney Mahoney, you will find him the man who watched the ballots before Judge Baldwin for Hoyne and drew money on the county instead of on Hoyne.

No state's attorney has ever had as little concern for the public as Mr. Hoyne. And the judges on the bench look upon his present staff of assistants with contempt. Something ought to be done. Please keep up the good work. A FORMER JURYMAN.

RAILROADS AND PARCEL POST.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I comment on an editorial appearing in your Monday issue of Aug. 4, entitled "Advancing Parcel Post." Railroad officials in general, and speaking at least for myself in particular, haven't a word to say against the parcel post. Our only contention is that the government should pay for the service it receives, and not expect the carriers should perform this service gratis to the public. The facts of the case—which can be readily corroborated by a little investigation—are these:

1. The law which provides for compensating carriers for transportation of the mails provides for quadrennial weighings—that is to say, it directs the postmaster general to have a test weighing not less often than once in four years. Under this law weighings are held in different sections of the country in different years.

2. In the Mississippi valley, or middle west, the weighing was held in the spring of 1913, which weighing fixes the weights for which the railroads are to be paid for the succeeding four years, unless the postmaster general orders a weight sooner than that.

3. The parcel post system went into effect Jan. 1, 1913, and it was estimated by the postmasters at some of the larger cities that the increase in the weight of mails carried has been more than 20 per cent.

4. As a partial compensation for this and after the railroads had carried this extra weight for six months without any compensation whatever, congress authorized an increase of 5 per cent in the compensation to be paid to railroads for this transportation from and after July 1, 1913.

5. By the order of the postmaster general quoted in your editorial, restrictions as to the weight of parcels to be carried and other restrictions in the regulations referring to the parcel post are to be removed upon and after Aug. 15, and it is to be expected that a further large increase in the weight of mails carried by parcel post will be effected.

6. The existing law puts the matter in the hands of the postmaster general to compensate the railroads for the weights of mail they are carrying, including the parcel post by giving him the right to institute a weighing of the mails at any time he considers it necessary.

The suggestion which it appears to occur to any fair minded person is, that the government should compensate railways for the service rendered, and it should let the public know its charges to the railways for the service that is rendered without compensation.

F. A. D.

WHY NOT?

Chicago, Aug. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Following out a broad minded suggestion of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that a change of business should not weigh against a man's appointment to office, why not appoint some cultured, high minded saloon keeper minister to the Balkan states?

Lange-Robinson Wedding to Take Place Tonight.

THE wedding of Miss Florence Lange, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Lange of 931 Buena terrace, to Thomas Robinson will take place at the residence of the bride's parents at 8:30 o'clock this evening. Miss Nell Lange will serve her sister as maid of honor and Walter Burke will be best man. The ushers will be Walter Klein, E. Atwood, and Leston Lange. Miss Lange will wear white charmeuse trimmed in point applique, and the maid of honor will be gowned in white charmeuse veiled in green chiffon. Mr. and Mrs. Lange will be at home on Nov. 1 after an extended wedding trip.

The marriage of Miss Editha Jane McConaughy to Harry I. Gillogly will take place at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. T. Neilson, Malvern Hill, Peoria, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The wedding is to be an outdoor ceremony, the service being read on the veranda. Mr. and Mrs. Gillogly will spend their honeymoon in a motor tour of the Adirondacks and will be at home in Chicago after Sept. 1.

Miss Dorothy Bent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Payne Bent, will be married to Otto Young Schnering on Saturday afternoon, Aug. 23, at 4 o'clock at the Bent summer home, The Boulders, Williams Bay, Wis. A special train for the accommodation of guests will leave the Chicago and Northwestern railway station at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, returning from Williams Bay at 6 in the evening.

The wedding of Miss Gwendolyn Mitchell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, to Robert E. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Hunter of 5228 Lexington avenue, will be one of the early fall services. The ceremony will take place at Ceylon Court, the country home of the bride's parents, on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 27.

Announcement has been made in San Francisco of the engagement of Miss Bertha Gray and R. W. Harker. The engagement is the culmination of a romance that began when the two met while attending the Northwestern university in Evanston. The wedding will be celebrated quietly in San Francisco in the early part of September. Miss Gray is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority and Harker is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hemstreet of 131 South Whipple street announce the marriage of their daughter, Gertrude Helen, to Mr. Howard Whittle at their home on Tuesday.

Mrs. E. Stenn of 1538 Millard avenue announces the engagement of her daughter Reeva to David J. Schubert of Chicago.

The social season in the White mountains is in full swing and many Chicago people are prominent in the athletic and social affairs at the large resorts. Mrs. Samuel Insull and her family arrive this week at Jefferson, N. H., where for several seasons they have been identified with the Waumbek colony. Mrs. Insull will occupy The Wigwam, for so many years the summer home of Henry A. Blair of Chicago and owned by Mrs. Samuel D. Davis of Lakewood, N. J. The Mark Willings have one of the cottages on the hillsides nearby. Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Gurley and Miss Helen Gurley of Chicago are at Bretton Woods.

Philo A. Otis and Mr. and Mrs. P. O. Otis of Chicago, who are on a motor tour of the White mountains, have been at the Mount Pleasant house at Bretton Woods this week. R. W. Morris, Mrs. T. W. Draper, and Miss T. C. Sanders of Chicago are spending a week at the Mount Pleasant, and Mrs. L. R. Oliver from Evanston is another visitor.

Mrs. Lightner Henderson will open her home and grounds at 6255 Kenmore avenue to the members of the Bonnie Hame association and their friends on next Tuesday evening for the benefit of the fund being raised for the erection of a home for business mothers and their children. Mrs. Frank C. Farmer, president of the association, will have the assistance of the following hostesses: Mrs. Gustave Mueller, Mrs. C. R. Peterson, Mrs. W. W. Paisley, Mrs. Carl Metterhausen, Mrs. Emma Dixon Rathbun, Mrs. Francis R. Donahue, Mrs. Edward Westman, Mrs. Fred Hollister Harwood, and Mrs. Nathan B. Lewis. There will be a musical program, including a group of Japanese songs by J. Hunter Smith. The grounds and house will be decorated with Japanese lanterns and cherry blossoms, and the women's gowns will be of vari-colored Japanese silk. Mrs. George K. Spoor is chairman of the decorating committee. Mrs. Edward Lewis Phelps, assisted by Mrs. Charles N. Moore, will have charge of the refreshments, and Mrs. Frank Graham will preside over the confectionery sale, assisted by a bevy of young women in Japanese kimonos, including Miss Viola Johanson, Miss Sylvia Mueller, Miss Gladys Louise Donahue, Miss Myrthe Johanson, Miss Helen Whitbeck, Miss Mildred Downing, Miss Dorothy Hines, and Miss Helen Ainslie. Mrs. Percy Charlton will have charge of the lemonade well and will be assisted by Mrs. Carol Nichols and Miss Frances Clute.

Miss Lydia Herhold. (Moffett Photo.)

Miss Lydia Herhold of 536 Barry avenue will leave on Saturday for Lake Delavan to be gone the remainder of the season.

Miss Lina Aborbanell is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Steele of 16 Delaware place during her stay in the city.

Mrs. E. H. Knoop and her daughters, Laura and Helen, of 6663 Sheridan road will sail for Europe on the George Washington the first of the week. Mrs. Knoop is making the trip to place the girls in school abroad for the coming year.

Miss Lois Hoover of the Moraine at Highland Park was dinner hostess to twenty of her friends at the "Pink Poodle" at Fairview on Tuesday evening, the party returning to the Moraine for the dance later in honor of Miss Carolyn Rawleigh of Lake Geneva, who is her guest for the week. Mr. and Mrs. Loring R. Hoover, who chaperoned the party, and Alexander Revell Jr. attended from Chicago.

L. H. Edwards of Chicago is at the New Profile for a short stay, and among the most prominent arrivals there are Mrs. W. C. Pullman of Chicago, who, with Miss Margaret Pullman and William Pullman, will spend the entire season in this colony. Mrs. Louis M. Gibb and Mrs. J. F. Carlisle of New York, who are close friends of Mrs. Pullman's, have taken the Cornell cottage there for a month and also will be prominent among the hostesses.

Mrs. James H. Hirsch of Glencoe, Ill., who has been spending the last two months in New York, is now the guest of Mrs. Joseph C. Bolter of 622 Deming place. She will leave Aug. 15 to join her husband and daughter, Verna, at Orlando, Fla., where they expect to make their future home.

The Mudeita club girls of Hyde Park High school, accompanied by their chaperons, Mrs. W. A. Llewellyn and Mrs. L. N. Barlow, arrived home yesterday from Forest Beach, Mich., where they had enjoyed a house party of a fortnight's duration at Hillcrest, the country home and farm of Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Barlow of 4608 Vincennes avenue. The club members who enjoyed this outing are Miss Florence Owens, Miss Helen White, Miss Helen Jameson, Miss Marion Llewellyn, Miss Margaret Brady, Miss Lottie Swartz, Miss Eleanor Barlow, Miss Mary Allen, Miss Margaret Allen, Miss Ethel Bingham, and Miss Bertha Moore.

Mrs. F. J. Miller of Chicago recently visited the Twin Mountain house in the White mountains, accompanied by Oscar C. and E. N. Miller, and Leo V. Rolder. They are touring by motor and covering the White mountain resorts. Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Knight and two children of Chicago, who are spending the summer in the White hills, are now at the Crawford house.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henry Lyons and their son, Charles, of 941 Eastwood avenue, have returned from a month's trip to Atlantic City, Asbury Park, and Ocean Grove, N. J.

Robert H. Comstock Jr. of Chicago is at the Mount Washington for a short stay and C. E. Goodwin joined friends there this week. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Tuthill, who have been touring the mountains, are at Bretton Woods. Mrs. E. A. McGillen of Chicago is spending a few days at the Fabyan house and enjoying some of the side trips from there.

S. Morgan Bushnell and party who motored through Franconia Notch this week to see the Old Man of the Mountain, are at the New Profile house en route to Intervale.

Miss Clara M. Cleck, daughter of Mrs. M. Cleck of 1244 Sawyer avenue, left Wednesday evening for a two months stay in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shayne of 4242 Vincennes avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Ethel June, to Branch Mallory Curtis of 318 East Forty-fifth street. The wedding has been set for early in January.

Chicago Band in Washington Park.

Ten thousand persons went last night to Washington park to hear the Chicago band. It was the farewell concert for this season at the park and those who attended felt amply repaid for any efforts made to hear it.

"It was one of the most successful concerts ever given by the band," said Conductor William Weil at the close of the program. "All of the selections given were greatly appreciated and much applauded and the encores we gave were numerous. The presence of so large a crowd contributed greatly to the success of the concert, as it inspired the musicians to put forth their best efforts. I believe that a majority of Chicagoans appreciate good music—certainly they are most generous in giving encouragement to it."

Maccabees to Picnic.

A picnic given under the auspices of the Homestead tent No. 289 of the Knights of the Maccabees will be held tomorrow at Glenwood park, near Batavia. Dancing, fishing, boating, running races, and music will be on the entertainment program. Special trains leave the Fifty-second avenue and Harrison street station of the Garfield park branch of the Metropolitan Elevated at 9, 10, and 11 a. m., 12:30 and 1:45 p. m. Returning trains leave at 7, 8, 9, and 10:30 p. m.

Flag Raising Opens Rockford Camp Meeting.

RAISING the American flag constituted the opening exercises of the twenty-seventh annual camp meeting of the Rockford district of the Methodist Episcopal church at Epworth grove, near Belvidere, Ill. The Rev. J. A. Matlack, district superintendent, is in charge of the meeting.

The flag raising was under the direction of the Grand Army of the Republic. Thomas H. Gill of Marengo sounded the call for the rally around the flagpole, which is located in the center of the encampment. After the flag raising the participants marched to the tabernacle, where the Rev. E. C. Lumsden, pastor of the Methodist church of Harvard, Ill., spoke on "The Higher Patriotism."

The camp meeting will continue in session until Aug. 17. Among the Chicago ministers who will speak are the Rev. Edgar Blake, secretary of the board of Sunday schools, who will preach on both Sunday mornings, Aug. 10 and 17; the Rev. John Thompson, who will preach next Sunday afternoon; the Rev. W. D. Schermerhorn, professor in Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston, who will speak twice tomorrow, Epworth League day. Mrs. Dan B. Brummitt of Evanston will speak for the Woman's Home Missionary society on Tuesday, and the Rev. Suk Kee Dong of Corea, who graduated from Garrett Biblical institute last May, will speak on Friday, Aug. 15, for the Woman's Foreign Missionary society. The Rev. F. C. Bruner will preach on "The New Vision of Christ" on Aug. 15.

"The Rural Church" will be the subject of a discussion each day, the Rev. W. S. Feldwisch, Shirland, Ill., and the Rev. A. W. Otis, Walnut, being among the speakers. The Rev. J. Chester Carwardine of Rockton will have charge of the Epworth league meetings daily and will preach the morning sermon on Epworth League day.

Advocate Early Marriage.

Early marriage was declared to be the best solution of the social evil which cannot be regulated by legislation or reform movements, according to a paper on "The Social Evil and Hygiene" read by Dr. William E. Buehler at the monthly dinner of the Seventy-five club, held at the Grand Pacific hotel last night.

The club is composed of members of the Masonic fraternity who have attained the Master Mason's degree.

Dr. Buehler contended that the teaching of social hygiene is necessary for the welfare of the present generation.

He also advocated woman's suffrage, saying that the votes of women would bring about better civic conditions and that as woman had been made the bearer of man's burdens she would, with her vote, remedy many of the evils tolerated by man in the present day.

"Statistics," he said, "show that but one person in every 4,000 is normal, and that divorce is caused, mostly, by sexual deficiency, the result of blood taints in both sexes.

"Sexual laws of life must be considered in regulating commerce, and art, and industry, and the only way to handle the social evil question is through early marriages.

The social evil cannot be remedied by legislation; it has gotten beyond that phase and must be handled in a far different manner.

Demonstrates Loud Speaking Phone.

A demonstration of the loud speaking telephone for use in mines, large auditoriums, and similar places was given by W. D. Lindsay of New York at a banquet of the Western Electric Telephone Specialists' conference held in the Hotel La Salle last night. He used a "dummy" coal miner as a model, through which songs, recitations, and speeches were emitted.

Drug Club to Have Outing.

The biggest event of the year in local drugdom will be held next Tuesday when the Chicago Drug club will have its annual basket picnic and outing at Cedar Lake, Ind. A special program of athletic events has been arranged and prizes will be given. A bowling contest for the Fuller & Fuller trophy is scheduled, as well as a baseball game and tug of war between druggists and salesmen.

Plan Home for Orphaned Chicago Girls and Women.

THE erection and maintenance of a home for orphaned girls and women who are not necessarily dependent is being planned by a group of women associated with philanthropical and social work of the city, and at a conference held at the Hotel La Salle yesterday plans were discussed and initial steps taken looking to the fulfillment of their ideas.

The idea originated with and is being fostered by Mrs. Gertrude Howe Britton, Miss May Bartelme, Miss Delphia Culver, Miss Annie Nicholes, Mrs. Thaddeus Meder, and Judge Pinckney of the Juvenile court in an advisory capacity.

The conference was held with Mrs. L. L. Funk, president of the Children's Day association; Mrs. L. H. Manson of the same society, and others, at the conclusion of which it was decided that the association would coöperate with the social workers and do what was necessary in projecting the home.

"This home," said Mrs. Britton, "must not be one for delinquents or dependents entirely and should be kept from that tinge. It must be free from interference of all kinds and for that reason should be endowed. I have been informed that several philanthropic persons of means will contribute to the maintenance of the home with endowments, and if we can raise the required amount to build and furnish the proposed home the rest is sure to be available."

Judge Pinckney expressed himself favorable to the project and said it would have his support.

"There is nothing of the kind here," said Mrs. Funk, "and such a home surely should be created."

Second Ward Women Start Canvass.

Mrs. Nettie McGowan and Mrs. Otto Schroeder of the Woman's party of Cook county yesterday announced they had placed eighteen new precinct committee chairmen in the field in the Second ward. The women are instructed at once to begin the educational work in their precincts and to canvass the women voters of the ward. A completed list of the women who will take advantage of the suffrage law at the next election will be placed on file at the party's headquarters in the Hotel La Salle and and the women will be given all information and instruction bearing upon the use of the ballot.

Mrs. Gertrude Christiansen, chairman of the Seventeenth ward during the day announced she had appointed the following chairmen of precincts in her ward:

First, Mrs. Bessie Ramsen.
Seventh, Mrs. Nellie C. Harmon.
Ninth, Mrs. J. McCormick.
Eleventh, Mrs. H. Jane Bates.
Thirteenth, Mrs. Eugenia Ellis.
Nineteenth, Mrs. Isabella Kilpatrick.
Twelfth, Mrs. Margaret Hoffman.

The Sixth Ward Equal Suffrage association this afternoon will hold a meeting at the Hyde Park hotel. The billboard question, garbage question, and other matters of importance to residents of the ward will be taken up. Visiting members of the Woman's City club will address the meeting.

Smith Industrial Home Issues Appeal.

The Amanda Smith Industrial Home for Girls sent out an appeal yesterday for funds and equipment. During the recent agitation against low wages for white women the directors found themselves facing the difficulty of placing the students of the school, who are all negroes. They hope that with new equipment they can train the colored girls to positions which will be found open to them. Most of the equipment of the home is antiquated and worn out. Much of it was bought second hand originally.

Osteopaths Elect Heads.

Kirksville, Mo., Aug. 7.—Philadelphia today won out in a warm fight with New York for the 1914 convention of the American Osteopathic association in session here.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were: Dr. Percy H. Woodall of Birmingham, Ala., president; Dr. Frank M. Vaughan of Boston, first vice president; Dr. Effie E. York of San Francisco, second vice president; Dr. H. L. Chiles of Orange, N. J., secretary; Dr. J. B. McDougald of Chicago, treasurer.

The Kansas City delegation won the prize for the best showing in the grand parade.

Stock the Cellar.

The time, the place, and the amount of purchases seem to me the principal factors to take into consideration in reducing the cost of living, without reducing the quality of it. In the canning season can fruit and vegetables when they are plentiful and cheap, stock the cellar for over winter in the fall. The city market here offers great opportunity for saving, which few take advantage of. Our cellar is still well stocked in February, while many of the neighbors are paying fancy prices for things from the stores. I have been having butter and eggs expressed from a little country town at a saving of at least 10 cents a pound on the butter and from 5 to 7 cents a dozen on the eggs, and such dairy butter and fresh eggs!

My neighbor buys prepared mincemeat in little pails—I made two jars full of mincemeat at a far smaller cost and a six gallon jar of sauerkraut, made in one evening, jars of home made pickles—some of the ingredients raised in the back yard—and all for half of the retail price.

By watching the advertisements one can often secure good bargains on special days—a pork loin or a leg of lamb at from 12 to 14 cents per pound, by taking the piece, which would cost 18 or 20 cents a pound in the little market in this block in the form of chops or steak.

These three factors then, the time, the place, and the amount of purchases, to me seem at least a partial solution of this most important problem. L. D.

Make a Hobby of Economy.

If the husband of a home is economically inclined and the wife extravagant, or the other way around, not much can be gained by the saving one. My husband and I, though young and inexperienced, believe that we will be worth something some day in spite of moderate wages and the high cost of living, for the reason that we both try to economize in every way possible. It has grown to be a hobby with us, trying to find new ways in which to economize and utilize.

My husband has always made it a practice to give me all of his salary, feeling that I have more time to plan the use of it. We always talk over the coming expenses to be met so that we never run in debt.

Starting our married life in light housekeeping rooms we managed after a year to furnish a flat, small and simple to be sure, but full of comfort. We have stove heat, as it is much cheaper both in summer and winter. As our chief entertainment is reading, inexpensive but helpful, we often read until late in the evening, so we are using an oil lamp to cut down the gas bill. The lamp decorated artistically with home made shade was inexpensive and still it adds attractiveness to the living room.

My husband cheerfully carries a lunch, which helps a little, wears shirts that I can launder at home, does his own suit pressing, spends no money for liquors and little for tobacco. He spends most of his evenings at home, excepting when he attends lodge meetings or works overtime. I do all of my own work, including plain sewing. In all buying I am trying to learn to get the best I can for the least money and try to make the pennies count. Although we both dress in conservative style and buy few clothes, we buy the best when we do buy.

We oftentimes give a small dinner party for a few friends, but we always make it a rule to have a good, tasty, but not expensive meal, not buying for others what we wouldn't have when alone. These people always seem happy to come for another visit, too.

On the whole our hobby for economizing serves to give us one big interesting aim and that is to have a home of our own in every sense of the word. H. S.

POLICEWOMEN HALT TANGO WITH STAR IN RETICULE.

Dancers at Playgrounds Hall Stop in Midstep When Two of Capt. Rehm's Detail Show Credentials.

The man at the piano started a lively strain. Two young men felt themselves pulled to the floor by the music. They simply must dance. They took positions, and then with the rhythm of the music glided across the hall.

Two women, modestly dressed, evidently visitors, sat quietly on a wooden bench. It was in the dance hall of the playgrounds at the foot of Chicago avenue.

Carried away by the fresh breezes right off the lake, the man at the piano hammered the keys faster and faster. The dancers broke away from each other, one spun around, was caught in the other's arms, and then the pair glided into what looked like the tango.

The two visitors sprang to their feet and marched up to the pair. The man at the piano turned his head. The music stopped.

"This will never do," said one of the women; "never."

"You can't dance the tango, you know," said the other. "It isn't nice."

The youths looked abashed, stammered, and then asked the identity of the two women.

The one who had spoken first undid the clasp of her handbag, "fished" around among the articles therein, and drew forth for their bewildered gaze a very small star.

"I am Policewoman Butler of the Chicago avenue station," she said, "and this is my partner, Mrs. Wilson. We don't want you to do it."

"No'm, we won't," was the muttered reply, which came in duplicate.

The first gun in the policewomen's war on vice had been fired.

"We didn't want to arrest the boys," said Mrs. Wilson, "but merely to prevent a breach of the city ordinances. A pound of prevention is worth a ton of cure. We won't arrest any one unless we have to."

Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Wilson had been assigned by Capt. John Rehm to stay in Washington square and the Chicago avenue playgrounds, and see that mashers did not molest women. There were no arrests.

Policewomen Wilson and Butler made the first "pinch" of the policewoman era in Chicago last evening.

They were passing the corner of Clark and Erie streets when their attention was attracted by the actions of a woman. She appeared to be under the influence of liquor. Closer inspection convinced the policewomen that she was drunk and they placed her under arrest.

At the station the prisoner gave the name of Dolly Cameron, 506 Cass street.

INSANE MAN'S WIFE ACCUSES HIS BROTHERS OF MONEY PLOT.

Mrs. Harvey A. Dwight Brings Husband's Kin Into Court in Battle to Keep Control of Property.

A row between the wife of Harvey A. Dwight and his brothers landed Walter E. Dwight, vice president and treasurer of the Dwight Brothers' Paper company, in the County court yesterday.

County Judge John E. Owens cited Dwight to appear on Aug. 19 ad show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. It is charged that Walter E. Dwight removed his insane brother, Harvey, from Illinois to Wisconsin in violation of a promise he made to Judge Owens.

Harvey Dwight was adjudged insane in Judge Owens' court on March 31. Physicians testified he was suffering from paresis. He was not committed to any institution because the brothers promised to care for him in the state.

Yesterday's proceedings were started before Judge John C. Karel of Milwaukee county, Wisconsin, to restore Harvey Dwight's rights as a sane person. His wife immediately started the contempt proceedings here.

Dwight was secretary of the paper company until he was adjudged insane.

Austin H. Dwight, president of the company; Oliver F. Dwight, and Dr. Corydon G. Dwight escaped citation by the court because they could not be found by the process servers.

Mrs. Dwight declares the proceedings in Milwaukee are an effort to take from her hands the control of her husband's estate, valued at about $20,000. Judge Owens pronounced the proceedings of the brothers an imposition on his court.

During the controversy the estate is in the hands of the sheriff of Milwaukee county, Wis.

Baby's Body Found in Prairie.

The body of a girl baby, apparently about two days old at the time of death, yesterday was found in a prairie at West Seventy-second street and South Hermitage avenue by two boys. The police are of the opinion the infant might have been smothered by a man's old coat wrapped about the face.

Tells of Pension Fund for Episcopal Rectors.

ADDITIONAL light on the pension fund for Protestant Episcopal clergymen which contemplates the raising of a single fund of $3,500,000 and an annual budget of $500,000 and embraces in its benefits 5,668 clergymen and their families, was shed yesterday by David B. Lyman of Oak Park, who was one of the commissioners who prepared the plan which is to be presented to the triennial general convention of the Episcopal church to convene next October in New York.

"I met with the commissioners twice in New York," Mr. Lyman said, "and I know that the pension plan has had the most expert consideration from men like Monell Sayre of the Carnegie Foundation and Herbert D. Brown of Washington of President Wilson's commission on economy and efficiency, as well as from the most experienced clergymen. I believe that it is quite certain to be adopted by the general convention.

"The United States government practically has a pension system such as the church desires to avoid when it continues in office men who are too old to perform the duties required simply because there is no other way to provide a living for them. If there is an adequate pension fund provided clergymen need not continue in small churches in order to eke out a living when the thing needed in small churches is not so much wisdom as it is activity and the power of endurance.

"The commission is opposed to all voluntary pension systems and demands one that is automatic and compulsory. It also asks that clergymen of means shall not refuse to accept pensions so that poorer clergymen shall not feel that the pension is a charity. It, however, provides for the voluntary surrender of the pension after it is received if the well to do clergyman so desires.

"Theoretically, it might seem best for all clergymen to share alike in the amount of pension received, but practically the plan of a uniform amount, the commission believes, will not work. The clergyman who has been receiving the largest salary presumably has been living in the large city where the expense of living is highest. He also has become used to conveniences and a scale of entertainment which would make it difficult and even unfair for him to be obliged to accept the same pension as a clergyman who has been living in a smaller parish. It is also unfair for one who was ordained late in life to share equally with one who has given his full years of service.

"Another consideration is that rich parishes would not consent to contribute to a general fund arranged on a flat scale, but would rather give their retiring rectors a private pension. If the scale is a sliding one they will contribute to the general fund. The whole plan has, we believe, been arranged on an equitable and flexible basis, and when carried out will provide for a modest thought sufficient maintenance to save the clergymen from feeling that they are objects of charity."

The delegates from the Chicago diocese who have been elected to attend the general convention are the Rev. W. O. Waters, Grace church; the Rev. James S. Stone, St. James' church; the Rev. H. Young, Christ church, Woodlawn; the Rev. F. H. Brandt, Aurora, Ill.

The lay delegates are D. B. Lyman, La Grange; C. L. Chenoweth, Oak Park; E. P. Bailey, Grace church; H. S. Hawley, Trinity.

"Dr. McKim of Washington having declined a reëlection, the Rev. Dr. W. S. Manning, rector of Trinity church, New York, is believed to be the general choice as chairman of the general convention," Mr. Lyman said.

Sees Nations Ever Friends.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 7.—"The two flags now bound together by love and good fellowship never can be torn asunder to be rent by shot and shell of war," declared President J. J. Ryder of Omaha, one of the principal speakers at the convention of the League of American Municipalities today. Mr. Ryder said the meeting under two flags has resulted in the rejuvenation of the organization.

A paper on new charter and election laws was read by John B. Martin, election commissioner of Boston, and Clement J. Driscoll of the bureau of municipal research discussed police methods in New York after reading his paper on municipal efficiency.

Milwaukee, Omaha, Gary, Ind., and Charleston, S. C., are trying to secure the next meeting.

Inquiry Into Social and Charity Work.

THE exact purposes of the new educational movement just started in Chicago by various social agencies, representatives of which met on Wednesday at the School of Civics and Philanthropy, are stated as follows by Dr. Charles R. Henderson:

"It is not intended, as has been erroneously reported, to start an 'investigation' or 'probe' into charitable bodies; nor a 'survey' of social conditions; nor is it to be anything conducted under the auspices of the Association of Commerce or other single organization. Finally, it involves no federated money raising scheme.

"It contemplates merely a plan for extending authoritative information to the public regarding the humanitarian work done in this city by both private and public bodies, its extent, character, scope, and the interrelations of the various forms of activity. The whole thing is to be on a democratic basis, all the approved city wide agencies to be factors in furthering the same.

"It was felt by the original promoters of the movement that in a busy community like Chicago, intensely occupied with industry, commerce, and pleasure, it is easy for the citizenship to forget the great operations constantly and quietly going on all the year round to ameliorate distress, care for broken, sick, and wayward humanity, and prevent the enlargement of these classes, and in so forgetting fail to support financially or aid personally in the work, all of which means more sickness, more despair, more dependence, more crime.

"The question was, should the individual agencies be allowed to struggle alone in their presentation of claims to recognition and support, or should they join forces in securing audiences. The latter course has been decided upon.

"The social workers who have met thus far have delegated to an executive committee of seven, supplemented by subcommittees to be appointed by them, the task of working out details. The members of the committee are: Dr. C. R. Henderson, president United Charities, chairman; Miss Jane Addams, Hull House; Mrs. Leanora Z. Meder, president Catholic Woman's protectorate; Isaac Rothschild, Associated Jewish Charities; Harry T. Williams, social service secretary Y. M. C. A.; Dr. Graham Taylor, School of Civics and Philanthropy, and a secretary still to be chosen.

"This committee is to de several things: Find the groups of people who desire to secure information along the lines already indicated (the groups may be in churches, women's and men's clubs, fraternal orders, schools, etc.), to offer to the groups a choice of one of more lectures by experts in various lines of philanthropic service or prepared printed studies for any number of meetings up to thirty; to aid in training leaders of such study groups; to find the special lecturers who may be called for; to prepare or have prepared by competent authorities the studies mentioned (for example, on the tuberculosis problem, amelioration and rehabilitation of dependent families, care of neglected children, care of the aged, the movement against infant mortality, preventive efforts, etc.); to provide newspapers and other periodicals with carefully prepared publicity material.

"The committee is also to find a headquarters and an executive secretary, consider the question of financing the project, suggest an appropriate name for the federation, and the basis of membership, whether by individuals or organized bodies. Another meeting of the representatives of social agencies will be held as early as possible and the representation of organizations enlarged. It was felt that a good guide in the selection of membership would be the indorsed list of philanthropies issued by the Association of Commerce. About thirty-seven agencies have already become interested in the movement, and much of value to the community is expected to be the result thereof."

K. of C. Convention Ends.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7.—After voting by a large majority late today not to move the headquarters of the order from New Haven, Conn., to Washington, D. C., the Knights of Columbus in supreme convention, chose St. Paul as their meeting place in 1914 and then adjourned.

The turning down of the proposition to change headquarters also disposed of the plan to build a million dollar home for the order in the capital city. Action on proposed changes in the insurance laws of the order was postponed until 1914.

Catholics to Wage War on Socialism in America.

ARCHBISHOP QUIGLEY, Bishop Rhode, and a number of other prominent Chicago Catholic clergymen will head a delegation to represent this city at the twelfth annual convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies that opens in Milwaukee on Sunday. Concurrent with the sessions of the convention will be held meetings of the National Convention of Catholic women and of the Catholic Press association. Among the church dignitaries who will be present will be Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishops J. J. Keane, Ireland, and Messmer, and Bishops Muldoon and Busch.

Every phase of modern thought and activity will be touched upon in the convention. Socialism and the means of combating it, the new rôle which women will play in public life now that they are securing suffrage, checking of divorce, protecting the home and parental authority, conditions of Catholic people in Mexico and the Philippines, and work of Catholic education and charities are subjects scheduled for discussion.

There will be a series of special receptions which the Knights of Columbus and other Catholic organizations of Milwaukee have arranged for the visiting women and delegates.

A fight against socialism yesterday was inaugurated by the Bohemian Catholic Priests of America, who are holding a convention in Lisle, a village twenty-four miles west of Chicago. Every priest and prelate will be assigned to special work in the fight.

A bureau will be established to correlate all the material used in argument against socialism and to refute and follow attacks on the church by socialists.

The organization of a new body to be known as the Apostolate of the Press, to encourage the reading and circulation of Catholic literature and publications, was perfected upon the suggestion of the Rev. Valentine Kohlbeck, editor of the Bohemian Daily Narod of Chicago.

Plans also were formulated at the convention to furnish priests in isolated and small communities of Bohemian Catholics. The Rt. Rev. Joseph M. Koudelka, bishop of Superior, Wis., was chosen spiritual director and guiding head of the permanent association of Bohemian Catholic priests.

Park Ridge No Longer "Dry."

Park Ridge "wallowed" in water yesterday after a water famine lasting two days. The village pump which controls the water supply broke down early Tuesday, leaving the town without water Tuesday and Wednesday.

The famine has increased the agitation for Chicago water. During the administration of William Malone as president of the village the city of Chicago offered to furnish water for 7 cents per 1,000 gallons. Residents say they now are paying 22 cents for 1,000 gallons.

Those who do not want Chicago water are planning the sinking of a third well. The action is being fought by residents who want to spend the money to connect Park Ridge with the city's water mains, which end at Edison park.

Pavlowa Smites Her Dancing Partner.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Pavlowa's nightly quarrel on the stage of the Palace theater two years ago, when the audience was amused every evening by the open discord between the Russian dancer and Mordkin, is likely to be repeated with her present partner, Novikoff. After dancing this evening for a while, apparently in perfect accord, Pavlowa dealt Novikoff a blow on the shoulder. Novikoff immediately left the stage and Pavlowa walked off on the opposite side. The orchestra played to an empty stage until Pavlowa came on again and danced two solos, her partner failing to return.

Foresters Elect Chicagoans.

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 7.—Thomas H. Cannon of Chicago was chosen high chief ranger of the Catholic Order of Foresters at the concluding session here today of the order's twenty-first international convention. Toronto, Canada, was selected as the 1915 convention city. Thomas McDonald of Chicago was chosen high secretary and among the trustees appointed are Thomas P. Flynn, John E. Stephan, and Leo J. Wienicki of Chicago.

From Near and Far.

Mme. Bonpain of Rue St. Germain purchased wines from a merchant, who offered a 5 per cent discount. Her butler, however, informed the merchant that he must receive a 5 per cent commission on madame's bills, or the goods would prove unsatisfactory. As the honest merchant only made a profit of 5 per cent on cost, he judiciously raised the amount of the bill, which would have been only 882 francs had the butler not butted in, so that they all got their 5 per cent!

What was the amount of the new bill?

Passing of the Sailing Ship.

During the last few years British ship owners gradually have been disposing of their "windjammers," and today, in fact, comparatively few vessels of the type fly the British ensign.

The latest instance of this tendency—which is deplored by all seafarers of the old school, as well as by those who are concerned about the training of officers—is the purchase by Norwegians of nine steel barks, most of which have been in the service since 1892.

Scandinavians, as a rule, are the largest buyers of sailing ships, and a good deal of their success in running them is due to the fact that their wabes and victualing bills are on the average much lower than those of British firms.

Riot Over First Silk Hat.

Women driven to seek police protection from a crowd who objected to their slit skirts might find consolation in the fact that the pioneer of another unsightly fashion met with a still more unpleasant experience. On Jan. 15, 1797, when John Hetherington emerged from his haberdashery shop in the Strand, in London, wearing a silk hat he was surrounded by a mob of such proportions that he was arrested and charged before the lord mayor with inciting to riot. The constable who arrested him testified that "Hetherington appeared upon the public highway wearing a tall structure, which he called a silk hat, having a shiny luster, and calculated to frighten timid people. Several women fainted, children creamed, dogs yelped, and a young son of Cordwainer Thomas was thrown down by the crowd, and broke his right arm." The defendant pleaded that as an Englishman he was free to wear any hat he chose, but nevertheless was bound over in $2,500 to keep the peace.

How to Earn Money at Home

The purpose of this department is to find profitable employment for women in occupations which they can carry on at home without interfering with their domestic duties. To stimulate suggestions The Tribune will award $1 each for every help published. Address—Sally Joy Brown, care The Tribune, Chicago.

The exhibit room in The Tribune building is open from 9:30 a. m. to 4 p. m. except on Saturday, when it closes at 1 o'clock.

Only a Little Work Stops Leaky Purse.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

DOES your purse seem like a sieve to you? Does it seem that you never can fill it and have it stay filled for a minute? Isn't it almost unbelievable the way that money flies away? One day you have a nice unbroken $10 bill, and before you remember spending any of it there are a few little coins left and your $10 bill has gone somewhere. Wouldn't it be nice if we could have a patent locking pocketbook that would save our money for us and not let it get away without our knowing it?

Of course, we can't have anything like that, but we can fill our pocketbooks so full that no matter how leaky they are they can't possibly be empty when we need them to be filled with money, can't we?

It isn't at all impossible, although it does sound something like the story of the miraculous pitcher, doesn't it? Do you remember that wonder tale of the old man and woman who entertained Mercury, the messenger of the gods? All that they had for supper was a pitcher of milk and a little bread. But they shared what they had with him with all of their heart's hospitality. They were surprised at the amount of milk that there was in the pitcher. It seemed that the more they drank the more there was. Finally they found that Mercury had touched it with his miraculous staff and the pitcher would always be full, no matter how much they drank.

There's no miraculous staff to touch our pocketbooks and make them always full, but we can do a great deal toward keeping money always in them if we'll only work a little.

Wouldn't you like to read this letter from one of the home workers who has made a success of her work? Aren't letters of success the most cheering things in the world? Wouldn't you like to talk to every woman who has succeeded with her work and ask her questions? I wish that all of you might, but the nearest that we can come to those heart to heart talks is to tell each other of our successes as often as we can through the paper, isn't it? Here's the letter:

"I can't help wondering sometimes what all of us country women used to do before being a woman became popular. Now every one seems to be wanting to help women. There are magazines chock full of hints about how to make life easier and happier for women everywhere. Life in the country used to be just plain work for the country woman. There weren't any pretty dresses in our lives. We never knew until some one came from the city whether they were wearing full elbow sleeves or sleeves that were skin tignt and buttoned at the wrist. The longing for pretty things is just as great in a country woman's heart as it is in her city sister's. But we couldn't have pretty things because we couldn't get them in our stores and there wasn't any way of having them unless we had friends in the city who would buy them for us.

"You know, I'm sure, because you've lived on a farm, what the difference in women's lives is now. Don't you remember when we put up with any sort of inconvenience so that the money could be spent "on the farm"? Now we have as many things to make our work easy as our city sisters. And the difference in the amount of time that we have to spend at our work!

"All of that extra time I've been spending making things for the Home Workers' Market Place. Could I have done that ten years ago? No, not even if I had had the extra time, which I didn't have, and even if there had been a market place, which there wasn't. Then the whole community would have held up its hands and declared that I was trying to do something that I had no right to do. Now being a home worker is a distinction in our neighborhood. Isn't it funny the way that life goes on and changes things without our saying yes or no at all."

And there's a little booklet that is full of letters just as cheering and just as helpful as this one. It's called "A Hundred Ways to Earn Money at Home," and I'll send it to you the minute you send me your name and address.

Maybe it will help you, too, to fill your pocketbook so full that it won't be empty whenever you want it particularly to be full. You may have a miraculous pocketbook—you can't tell.

Worn by Little Girls.

"Dorothy dresses," a slipover style of dress so much worn by little girls, made of white material and with neck and sleeves scalloped and a spray of flowers embroidered on the front panel, are expensive when bought ready made. These dresses can be procured in any of the downtown stores, made up and stamped all ready for the embroidering, for from 50 cents to $1. The embroidering is the work of only a few hours and the dresses when finished find a ready sale at from $2.50 to $3 apiece, according to the quality, which means a large profit for the maker.

Verses for Cards.

A girl friend of mine, who is a public school teacher, supplements her income by writing verses, epigrams, aphorisms, and the like at home. She has found a market for this brand of literature among the larger concerns engaged in manufacturing Christmas, New Year, and Easter cards. Now and then some of her work appears on ordinary postcards. In doing this work the young woman displays no marked ability, many of her verses being a bit crude, but through all the things she writes there runs such a cheerful strain of optimism that they seem to "get by." Another plan of hers is to glean the works of well known authors for quotations, which might be used on cards of greeting for different occasions. Naturally some of her work is rejected, but the added income she enjoys from this source has proved sufficient to give her a pleasant vacation every year.

MRS. LUCILE GILMORE, 136 Green street, Battle Creek, Mich.

Profit with a Camera.

Here is something which will help the girl who is interested in photography. If she happens to belong to a college or high school she can get many interesting pictures during the term of school and toward the end of the year make them up into booklets, cutting the photos into various shapes and mounting two or three on a page, with a touch of water color flowers or here and there a college yell. These books if backed with suede or leather and tied with the college colors, with perhaps a neatly painted college pennant or an especially interesting picture mounted on the front, sell for almost any price one wishes to ask for them, depending, of course, on the number of pictures in the book. This idea can also be worked out by a girl at a summer resort, substituting, of course, outing scenes for the college ones, as many people would like very much to have such a reminder of their vacation to carry home with them.

Rose Button Molds.

We have all heard of the fragrant beads made of rose petals. A friend of mine is now busy making button molds for the women who do not like to wear the bead chains. She sells more of the molds than the beads, as they can be covered to use on any garment and serve as a sweet sachet. An additional sum is earned when customers ask her to cover the molds.

ELEANOR THEOBALD, 539 South Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, Ill.

Monograms on Stationery.

A friend of mine working in a large building downtown has made all her vacation money by monograming paper. She buys the box for only 15 cents and puts the monogram on each sheet of writing paper, and she charges 25 cents. It only takes her an hour and sometimes less for a box. She gets a 10 cent can of gilt and makes her own ink for monograms, and almost every girl in the building has given her an order, which is 20 cents profit on each box, and she puts that right in a small bank.

LEWIS FATHERS' DAY FOUNDER? 'NO,' SAYS SENATOR, 'ER-I'M NOT'

J. Ham Gives Honor to Maryland Democrat, Real Author of Bill—Old Age Pensions Planned.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Senator Lewis is so weary of being hailed as the father of Father's day that he raised today a loud cry for quarter.

Senator Lewis recently was reported in some newspapers as having introduced a bill providing for the setting aside of a Father's day to honor fatherhood as Mother's day honors motherhood. The fact was that this bill was introduced in the house by Representative Lewis of Maryland.

"There are many admirable features in the suggestion," said Senator Lewis today, "but far be it from me to wish to appropriate the glory rightfully due a fellow Democrat.

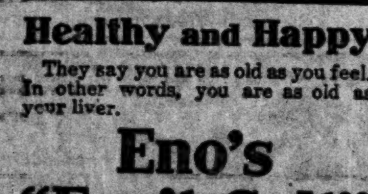

"I have received thousands of letters from inmates of homes for the aged, applauding the proposed legislation. Many of these correspondents also suggest that congress ought to create a system of old age pensions.

"That is a proposition to which I have given serious thought for years, and I have decided to introduce an old age pension bill before the close of this session of congress."

OLD MINISTER DIES IN DESERT.

Body of the Rev. H. H. Witter, Who Started on Wagon Trip, Found in California.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The Rev. H. H. Witter, for forty years a Baptist preacher, was found dead on the desert east of Coyote Wells today. Death resulted from the intense heat and thirst. His team of horses was also dead. Witter disappeared July 13, after telling his relatives he was going to buy a team and drive through the desert. Efforts to dissuade him were futile, and nothing was heard from him. He was 77 years old.

DEFECTIVE TYPEWRITER KEY ENTAGLES MAN'S LOVE AFFAIR.

F. E. Young of Long Beach, Cal., Charged with Blackmail by Woman Member of Church to Which He Belongs.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—Charged with having attempted to blackmail a woman through a fictitious detective agency, F. E. Young, a prominent church worker of Long Beach, is held in the county jail while the grand jury investigates his case.

A defective letter in his writing machine, it is said, was responsible for Young's arrest after Mrs. Kittie Bahrenburg, a member of Young's church, had told her story to the district attorney.

Mrs. Bahrenburg said Young had paid ardent court to her, and then shortly afterward she received a letter from the "Sunset Detective agency" saying in effect:

"We know all, and unless you pay $600 at once your church also will know all."

Mrs. Bahrenburg says Young advised her to pay the money. She told her banker, and on his advice she laid the case before the district attorney.

SPELL DOOM FOR FRAT DANCES; KANSAS CITY TO TAKE ACTION.

Welfare Chief Asserts Public Balls Are Regulated 75 Per Cent Better than Those Given by Society.

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 7.—F. W. Cunningham, superintendent of the recreation bureau of the board of public welfare, said today he believed it would be necessary to stop issuing permits for fraternity and sorority dances here in the future.

"I have had occasion of late to visit several of the fraternity and sorority dances given here," Mr. Cunningham said, "and I have found that the public dances are regulated 75 per cent better than those given by high class society.

"The recreation department has tried several times to get the parents of young women to attend these school dances that they might witness the manner in which their daughters are caressed by the young men, but never have been able to get the parents to attend."

Economical Housekeeping
By Jane Eddington.

Vanilla Cream.

GREAT cooks and pastry makers account the creams as belonging to the A B C of cookery, yet there is an enormous difference between the extreme daintiness of the creams the expert makes and those made by "any young girl of a little cleverness."

The creams are suited to any season, since all seasons have the two essential ingredients. They are best when served cold; therefore, on the whole, they are more agreeable in summer than in winter. They are good when we have fruits, and good when we have none. In other words, they are good plain and in combination, but fruits which they combine well with are not so extremely numerous, and creams made with fruit flavors are not as good as those flavored with vanilla, coffee, chocolate, etc.

Best of [illegible] in the eyes of the amateur cook, these are the quickest made of sweet things, as they are the most wholesome and easy of digestion. They can be eaten by everybody, whether young, old, sick, or well.

A cream is a particularly good thing to have at a meal when no meat is served, since it contains the same food elements as those of the heavier viand, although presented as a light sweet instead of as a solid dish.

What the less scientific cook calls a custard the more scientific calls either cream or a custard. The true creams, according to the best authorities, ought to be made with more yolks of eggs than whites. Thus we have here a most acceptable way of using left over yolks.

In making a cream which is served in molds or cups, an egg is needed to each cup really, but this division is not the best. For two cups, rather, we need one whole egg and two yolks. Thus made, it is much finer than by using two whole eggs, or, at any rate, it seems so to the fastidious.

VANILLA CREAM—For two cups take one-half pint of milk and heat it for twenty minutes in a double boiler with a third of a stick of vanilla and four tablespoons of sugar, stirred in so as to be entirely dissolved. Pour this over one whole egg and two yolks, beaten together, and pour the whole through a strainer. Let stand but a moment, then fill prepared cups, or molds, and cook them in a water bath in the oven, just as any ordinary cup custard is cooked. To have a caramel cream, coat the bottom and sides of the mold with sugar cooked to the golden caramel stage. This latter, when turned out for serving (a shallow mold is the better), is what is called the crême renversée, which means nothing more than that it is a cream turned bottom side up out of a mold.

These creams, or custards, can be made with fewer eggs, if they are to be turned out of the molds, but to eat them in cups or molds is considered to be an exclusive privilege of the family. For people who pay, or are being entertained, the molded cream is considered the only correct thing.

The following is a part of a recipe for vanilla cream, translated from the French, with some of the precautions which would not apply with us omitted, but with others which are interesting:

VANILLA CREAM—"For a quart of milk take five good sized eggs or six small ones. According as you like more or less sugar, use a third or a half a cup. Put the milk on to boil, and, as soon as it comes to a boil, add the sugar. Then draw to the side of the fire and put in a piece of vanilla. It must not boil any longer, but be left so that the vanilla can simply infuse for twenty minutes. When it has infused sufficiently, take out and put carefully aside, for it must not be forgotten that a piece of good vanilla can serve twice, or even a third time, if it is cleaned. Let the milk get cold. When it is tepid one can use it, but not when it is hot, for then the cream will not be a success. Beat the eggs and then turn the sweetened and tepid milk, little by little, on them, continuing to beat. Turn the mixture through a strainer or through a fine sieve, especially kept for such sweet things. Then turn the cream into a creased mold or into little special pots. Use the one mold if it is too complicated to watch the cooking in the little molds, but this latter manner of presenting the sweet is more ceremonious."

Peach Cobbler.

TAKE a good sized dish, like a pudding dish, line the sides with a good paste, and fill the dish with peaches, halved and pared. Sweeten according to taste. Place a small cup in the center to keep the crust from sinking. Roll out a crust considerably thicker than for pies, just large enough to cover the top of the dish; cut a slit each way in the center and place over the peaches. Bake a crisp brown and eat with sugar and cream or a sweet sauce. This can be made with either fresh or canned peaches.—Kindness of X. Y. Z.

Scripture Cake.

One cup of butter (Judges 5:25), three and one-half cups of flour (Kings 4:22), two teaspoons of baking powder (1 Cor. 5:6), three cups of sugar (Jer. 6:20), two cups of raisins (1 Sam. 30:12), two cups of figs (1 Sam. 30:12), one cup of water (Gen. 24:17), one cup of almonds (Gen. 43:11), six eggs (Isaiah 10:14), a little salt (Lev. 2:13), one tablespoon of honey (Ex. 16:31), sweet spices to taste (Kings 10:10). Follow Solomon's advice for making good boys and you will have a good cake (Prov. 13:14).—Kindness of Mrs. J. D. C.

How to Use Peppers.

"I have never written to the Corner before now and am coming to you for help. Could you tell me different ways to use the large green sweet pepper? Also how to can the ripe ones? I have heard that they may be canned. I shall tell how to string beans so that they will keep fine: Pick and clean the beans as for a vegetable. Pack clean glass jars full with them. Then put in enough salt as for seasoning and fill to the top with cold water. Put on the rubbers and lids. Then set in a boiler on a rack made of lathes or small pieces of wood. Pour in cold water to the tops of the jars. After it comes to a boil let it boil steadily for three hours. Finally tighten the lids again. Place in a cool, dark place. MRS. H. I. S."

The large green peppers are nice stuffed with chopped meat or picked fish or rice and fish, and baked with a good gravy poured about them. They should be scalded before they are stuffed. Of course, the seeds are extracted, first of all, taking care they do not touch the sides of the pepper. They are also good sliced and fried after the seeding and scalding. Fry in butter or with bacon. I have never canned them. The member who wrote for a recipe for canning beans will please note a novel method of doing this. But is the prolonged boiling necessary or advisable? So long as the vegetable is thoroughly cooked, does not further boiling injure the flavor?

Recipe for Cookies.

"In return for favors enjoyed, I should like to send one of my own cookery recipes that my 'folks' think cannot be beaten. I first take a sifter (one with a handle) full of flour. Into it I put two cups of sugar, two heaping teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon of salt, a teaspoon of grated nutmeg. Then sift into a pan and rub in one cup of shortening. When it is thoroughly rubbed into the flour break in three eggs, add a teacup of water, and stir. This will make the dough stiff enough to roll out, but it may need a little more or less water. One must use judgment in this respect. My cookies are not too hard or too soft. I should like some of the readers to try this recipe and see if they do not like them. I hope I have made the directions plain. "MRS. J. R. W."

The directions are so plain that the young housewife, though a novice, need not err therein. I thank you, moreover, for writing them out so distinctly that we need lose neither time nor patience in trying to decipher them. One word here to the co-workers for whom we are indebted for scores of new and tempting recipes: Write in ink. Do not abbreviate. As, for instance, "tps" for teaspoonful or "tbls" for tablespoonful. Be chary of "dittos," represented by rows of " " " " s. Write out in full what you mean to say, yet as briefly as is consistent with clearness. Don't say, "Take a cupful of" this, that, or the other! You must "take" before you can use it. Save a word in that way. And don't be disrespectful to yourself by leaving off the personal pronoun. It takes but a minute fraction of time and cellular tissue to write it "I" instead of beginning a sentence, "Meant to write," or "thought I would ask you." The omission does not imply modesty. It does savor of slovenliness in in speech.

Good Household Hints.

"I should like your readers to know of a few good household hints:

"Gasoline fires may be quickly and effectually put out by sprinkling with common wheat flour. Water should never be applied. It spreads both oil and fire, therefore increases the danger, while flour absorbs and smothers it like magic.

"If one awakes in the night, hopelessly wide awake, an unfailing remedy is a glass of hot, not warm, water. Any one who tries it will find himself falling like an infant into restful slumber.

"Blankets and furs put away well sprinkled with borax and done up airtight will not be troubled with moths.

"Molasses to be used for gingerbread is greatly improved by first being boiled, then skimmed.

"Anything made with sugar, milk, and eggs should never be allowed to reach the boiling point.

"The temperature of an oven may be lowered by placing in it a basin of cold water.

"Turpentine is better than water for mixing stove polish. Use on a cold stove. "MRS. H. N. D."

If you teach in youth, what may we not expect from maturity? You have certainly improved the time of your novitiate. May I add to your prescription for insomnia, as the fruit of personal experience, that a cup of hot milk or of bouillon is almost a sure cure even in aggravated cases? Have alcohol lamp, bouillon cubes, or milk within easy reach when you go to bed. The moral force of the consciousness that you can avail yourself of them if necessary goes far toward tempting Morpheus.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.
By Lillian Russell

Reducing the Flesh.

[Copyright: 1913: By Lillian Russell.]

THERE is nothing in the way of beauty culture which entails so much trouble and hardship as reducing one's flesh, and few women accomplish it, although you never see a fat woman who does not declare she has tried all reduction cures. The woman who can take off twenty-five pounds of flesh adds hundreds of pounds to her power of will. The woman who can reduce her flesh successfully can accomplish almost anything, besides being able to resist any temptation that she wishes.

Every day I receive letters from women who wish me to tell them something they can take into their stomachs to reduce their flesh. I am sure these women will forgive me if I say that from their letters I find they are too indolent to reduce themselves. There are some physical organisms whose assimilation is much above normal; these organisms are usually lymphatic as well. A woman whose assimilation is above normal is usually more or less adverse to exercise. She likes good things to eat and will deny herself nothing. When she has filled herself to repletion, instead of taking proper exercise to burn up this fuel she allows it to be converted into fat.

Such a woman would rather take a drug into her system which not only might ruin her health, leaving her a nervous wreck or a fretful invalid, but which may prove fatal within a few short weeks.

Iodine and thyroid tablets have been known to have fatal effects. In many cases even rubbing iodine on the skin is injurious. I have questioned many able physicians on the subject and have learned that the tissues absorb the drug almost as quickly from the outer application as they do from taking it internally. Iodine literally eats the lining of the stomach.

If you really wish to be thin you must work for it—nothing in the world is accomplished except by hard work. An abstemious diet, plenty of exercise, and patience will reduce any one to normal weight. Remember health is the most essential requisite not only for beauty but for happiness. Social success, affluence, professional or artistic fame, even love mean nothing if we have not the health to enjoy them. I cannot imagine a woman with so little reason as to jeopardize her life by taking poisonous drugs into her stomach to feed a foolish vanity. I have known women who are lazy enough to sit around the house, eat and drink all they want to, and at the same time pray to be thin.

Walk—take plenty of exercise, either in gymnasium or in your own home. Eat sparingly of fat producing foods.

Remember: Keep alive; don't get the insanity stare in your eyes and hollows in your cheeks by taking poisonous drugs to reduce your flesh.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

ETNEA: One cannot expect to have a smooth, lovely complexion without proper care. In the case of enlarged pores, one must first of all cleanse the face thoroughly with plenty of soap and water so as to remove all the dirt and grease from them. By keeping them perfectly clean they will gradually contract. After washing the face with warm water use cold. This will close the pores and make the flesh firm. If you will send me a stamped addressed envelope I shall be happy to send you a formula for an excellent astringent lotion for closing the pores.

A SUBSCRIBER: It will take some time to remove the hairs entirely by using peroxide and ammonia, but this is a sure cure, for once they are removed they will not return. The ammonia will kill the roots of the hairs and the peroxide will bleach them.

W. S.: You are rather stout for your height, but I should think a quite pleasing, jolly looking girl whom other girls would be glad to have for a friend. Take the front portion of your hair to the top of your head in a soft pompadour and tie it there. Then braid from the nape of the neck and bring the strand up to the top again, concealing the ends under the ribbon. This arrangement will make you look taller. Colors you can wear are blues in all shades, wistaria, mauve, gray, heliotrope, brown, pale yellow, very dark red, old rose, pale and dark green, palest pink, cream, black and white. You are rather too tall to adopt the empire styles. Don't try to dress any older than you are. You are still a girl and should dress as girlish as possible.

ANXIOUS: Oiliness of the hair at the roots is sometimes caused by a tight scalp. When the scalp becomes adherent to the underlying bones it prevents proper nourishment and keeps the oil from being evenly distributed. Scalp massage will remedy this trouble. Do not wash your hair oftener than once a month. Massage the scalp each night, using a tonic. I shall be glad to send instructions for scalp massage, also a tonic and shampoo for oily hair, if you will send me a stamped addressed envelope.

Laura Jean Libbey's Advice
By Laura Jean Libbey

The Romantic Moonlight Stroll.

[Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

THE summer girl who wonders why her admirer does not propose when she has known him quite the entire season at the fashionable summer resort and at the hotel where they have both stopped, may take counsel to herself as to the reason. She is probably one of the maidens who makes dancing a fad. She delights in turkey trots, tangos, and all of the new sensational hops, skips and jumps that are introduced.

The young man who admires her may sit through the dances, admiring her immensely as she whirls past him while leaning on the arm of some attractive fellow. He may take a stroll with her on the beach, but they come back apparently heart whole and fancy free, just as they went.

She wonders, when she hears the numerous engagements of other couples announced, how they all came about. At last it dawns upon her that this girl and that one declared themselves tired of dancing upon several occasions. Instead, they mostly went with their escorts on moonlight strolls in the cool glades. True, their thin white slippers had to be discarded for walking boots, and their pretty tulle dresses had to be covered by sweaters, which would be impervious to the dew. Yet for all that, moonlight has a certain witchery about it. It transforms the plainest face into one fair as any flower, makes dull eyes bright as the stars above; gives a dainty flush to cheek and lip.

All nature, on a summer eve, seems to encourage love. The breezes seem to slyly whisper into a man's ear—"with so sweet a girl so near you why not propose?" A belated night bird, whizzing past them, seems to utter the same advice in its shrill cry. So do the chirping insects. The wash of the waves, the breeze that flutters down from the mountain, the stars wink approvingly, and a broad smile is seen on the face of the man in the moon.

One moonlight stroll with the young man whom a girl has begun to dream of, is worth six months in the ballroom, of companionship on the piazza or along the beach. Surely, the soft, white, bright moonlight was made to shed its light upon the earth—for lovers, and to turn man's thoughts to marriage.

The girl who prefers the sheltered nook on the piazza, where she can hear the music and see the dancers, declining the moonlight stroll, makes no headway with a lover. It is the girl who likes the stroll far better than dancing, who is most apt to have the engagement ring upon her finger shortly after she returns to her home.

Of course, girls must not wish to stroll continuously, to the exclusion of all other pleasures. Nor is the love moon always shining. The moonlight stroll is usually resorted to when it seems impossible otherwise to thaw out the ice about his heart.

Moonlight picnics and moonlight sails are equally popular with those who would love and be loved in return, ending their romance at the altar.

The same advice as is given to the girl who goes away summers may be applied to the girl who stays at home. Her porch may be very cozy and ever so delightful, with its soft cushions and restful willow chairs. But it is seldom the place for the exchange of lovers' vows. The young man who is enough in love will suggest the moonlight stroll, where he can be sure that no one overhears the tender words he utters to the girl whose hands he clasps.

It does not take a lengthy stroll for a man to make up his mind to speak of love. When he knows that the stroll is to be short and that he must improve the shining hour, love words are not backward in springing to his lips. Moonlight strolls are a blessing to lovers.

Shall She Invite Him to Call?

"Dear Miss Libbey: After a girl has met a young man and she wishes him to call on her, is it proper to invite him or wait until he asks if he can call on her? A. B. C."

It is a woman's privilege to ask the young man to call, although very frequently a man requests the privilege. It is really optional. It is not wise to ask him to call the first time you meet him.

What Shall He Do?

"Dear Miss Libbey: A young man engaged to a young girl wishes to introduce to her a gentleman friend of his. The friend claims that it is quite proper for him to accompany him on one of his visiting nights. Is it proper to make an engagement with another young lady for him or bring him up alone? J. E. J."

Ask the girl's permission to bring him up with you to call some evening.

He Is Working In Toledo.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I went with a young man of about 20 for about three and one-half months. I love him very much and I think he loved me. We wrote letters back and forth, he living in a nearby town. He came over about every Sunday night. The last time he came was Christmas night, when he brought me a beautiful manicuring set and I gave him a large pennant. Since then I have not heard a word from him, and it almost breaks my heart. One of his friends told me he was working in Toledo. If I can get his address, would you advise me to write? We had no quarrel. B."

Do not make any attempt to locate the fellow. If he were interested in you he would write to you. You must have done something to offend him or else he has become interested in some other girl.

TWO SURVIVE FOR CITY GOLF TITLE

Demming and West Will Meet in Final Match at Jackson Park Today.

H. E. FOSTER SHOOTS 68.

La Grange Expert Lowers Record for Course Formerly Held by "Chick" Evans.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Murray F. Deming, representing the wide world, and George R. West of the Jackson Park Golf club, weathered the semi-final rounds of the Chicago golf championship at Jackson park yesterday and will meet in the thirty-six hole final for the title today. As these men tied for low score in the qualifying round, the deciding battle should be a corker. Deming is a slashing driver, while West, who was runner-up last year, plays well within his physical power and is a consistent performer.

West defeated William Rautenbusch of the Garfield Golf club, 7 and 6. The big west sider played an erratic game, especially in the afternoon, when he put several shots in the bushes and dubbed two or three drives. West shot a 76 in the morning and after winning in the afternoon played out the bye holes, getting a card of 73. Deming defeated Mauritz N. Moren of Jackson park, 4 and 3, getting 77 in the morning and leading 3 up. Moren made a good fight in the afternoon and at the eleventh hole was only one down. Deming won three holes straight and took the match.

Foster Lowers Course Mark.

Apart from the final for the Post cup, the feature of a day of fast play was the setting of a new course record by H. E. Foster of La Grange. Playing in the semi-finals of the first consolation event, the former high school player came home with a card of 68, every putt being holed. This clips the mark of 69 made by Charles Evans Jr. in a previous tournament. W. D. Mahoney also held a practice record of 69. Foster's card and the par of the course are as follows:

Foster—Out ....4 5 4 4 4 3 4 3 4—35
Par—Out ....4 4 4 4 4 4 4 3 4—35
Foster—In ....4 3 3 5 4 4 4 2 4—33—68
Par—In ....4 4 3 5 5 4 3 4 4—36—71

R. G. Brennan of Jackson Park had an excellent chance to tie the record in the morning. In his match with C. F. Olsen in the Jackson Park cup he went out in 33 and had the record in sight when he made the first six holes, coming home in 24. This left him twelve strokes to tie the mark of 69. He got fours, but failed at the last hole, where he took 6. Olsen, who shot a 74, was three down at the interval. In the afternoon Brennan had a card of 76, Olsen taking 77.

The afternoon match between West and Rautenbusch drew a fairly big gallery, which was well handled by the park policemen.

West vs. Rautenbusch.

West won the first two holes in the morning, getting a five foot putt on the first and a twelve foot putt on the second. Rautenbusch drove into a pit at the fifth hole and lost, 6-5. The sixth hole found the west sider still slipping, as he drove out of bounds and lost, 5-4. From the next tee he batted three balls into the wilderness and conceded the hole. West, 5 up and on easy street. West dubbed his mashie at the water jump and a short approach cost him the hole, 4-3. At the turning station West blew a six foot putt and lost, 5-4, cutting his lead down to three holes.

An incursion into a sand pit cost Rautenbusch the tenth hole, 5-4. He won the long fourteenth, 507 yards, with a fine four, missing a ten foot putt for a three. A spanking drive and a fine approach gave the Garfield player the sixteenth hole, 3-4. The next two holes were halved, Rautenbusch missing a six foot putt on the home green. This left West 2 up at the interval. Cards:

West—Out ....4 3 4 4 5 4 5 4 5—38
Rautenbusch—Out .5 4 4 4 6 5 * 3 4—
West—In ....3 5 4 5 5 4 4 4 4—38—76
Rautenbusch—In ...4 4 5 3 5 4 4 4 4—37

Afternoon Play.

West won the first two holes in the afternoon. At the second hole, 359 yards, West put his second from 120 yards five feet from the hole and won, 3—4. He took the fourth hole, 4—5, Rautenbusch topping his drive. West pulled his drive for the fifth hole into the shrubbery and had to play out short, losing, 5—4, after making a fine approach. The short sixth was sloppily played and halved in 5. Rautenbusch pulled out of bounds, then dubbed his drive and pulled into the rough, from where he pitched on the top of rise. West was on the green in two, but missed a three foot putt for the hole.

Rautenbusch put his second shot for the seventh hole out of bounds and lost, 5—4. A missed five foot putt cost him the short eighth, 4—3, leaving West 6 up. Rautenbusch sliced out of bounds at the tenth hole, but put his second on the near edge of the green. West was ten feet over the hole in two. West rimmed his putt and they halved ... drove into the bushes at the eleventh hole but put his next straight and was twelve feet to the right of the pin in three. Rautenbusch dubbed his drive and then made four shots in succession from the same spot, all of them being wild. It then was found his second shot had cleared the water and he had to play his third over the bushes. He went over the hole and took three more to get down, losing, 6—5. The next hole was halved, giving West the match, 7 and 6. Cards:

West, out ....4 3 4 4 6 5 4 3 5—38
Rautenbusch, out..5 4 4 5 4 5 4 5 5—41
West, in ....4 5 4 3 5 5 3 3 3—35—73
Rautenbusch, in....4 6 4 3 6 4 4 3 5—39—80

Deming vs. Moren.

Deming and Moren halved six of the first nine holes in the morning, the former leading, 1 up. Deming won the twelfth and thirteenth, but Moren checked his rush by getting a great three on the fourteenth hole, 507 yards. A drive, a brassey, and a thirty foot putt gave him the hole two strokes under par. Deming took the next two holes, but dropped the seventeenth and was 3 up at adjournment. Moren putted badly, taking three putts on seven greens. Cards:

Moren—Out ....4 4 5 4 8 5 5 3 4—42
Deming—Out ....4 4 5 4 5 4 5 5 4—40
Moren—In ....4 4 5 4 3 5 6 3 5—39—81
Deming—In ....4 4 3 3 5 4 5 4 5—37—77

Deming won four holes going out in the afternoon, his opponent taking two and being 1 up at the twenty-seventh hole. Deming won the tenth hole, but at the eleventh put two shots out of bounds. Deming won the thirteenth and took the next hole when Moren topped his second. Moren lost the next hole by taking three putts and the match went to Deming, 4 and 3. Cards:

Moren—Out ....5 4 5 4 4 4 4 6 4—40
Deming—Out ....5 5 4 4 6 5 4 5 5—43

Norman Hunter Loses at Golf.

Manchester, Vt., Aug. 7.—There were surprises today in the first round of match play for the First President's golf cup at the Ekwanok Country club. Norman Hunter of St. Andrews, Scotland, was playing above 80 and lost to J. W. Gillett Jr. of Williams college, one down. M. R. Marston, Baltusrol, was also caught off his game and finished one down to J. F. O'Rourke Jr. of Yale. Fred Herreshoff had to play 17 holes to win from George Morse of Rutland.

New Motor Yacht in Local Club Fleet.

Natoma.

Natoma, the largest power craft on the great lakes, arrived in the local harbor Wednesday after a voyage from New York. The boat, which joins the fleet of the Chicago Yacht club, is owned by Charles H. Foster.

J. W. HERRON TOPS GOLF FIELD

Takes Honors in Exmoor Invitation Tournament.

DANIELS AND FITCH IN TIE.

W. E. Egan Lands Fourth Place in Meet Attracting 213 Men.

John W. Herron, former scratch player of the Peoria Country club, but now affiliated with the Exmoor Country club, won the honors of the qualifying round of the second renewal of the annual invitation tournament of the big Highland Park organization.

Mr. Herron, who first came into local fame by winning the directors' cup in the western amateur championship at Homewood, led a field of 217 players in the medal round with a card of 76, beating Ray Daniels of Midlothian and W. B. Fitch of Exmoor by one stroke. Walter E. Egan of the home club was fourth. The course is 6,213 yards long and par is 73.

Although the field was a record breaker the officials, aided by Professional Stewart Gardner, pulled off the qualifying round, paired five flights of sixteen players, and started them so quickly that only one match was not finished, which looks like a multum of golf in a parvo of time.

Herron Defeats Tweedie, 1 Up.

Herron defeated Douglas Tweedie of Wheaton, son of Herbert Tweedie, one of the pioneers of the game in this country, in the feature match of the first round. He won 1 up but had to shoot another 76 to do the trick. Herron was 2 up at the turn.

At the fifth hole Tweedie drove into a tree and lost his ball. The Wheaton player won three of the first four holes coming home, getting a perfect two on the short thirteenth. Herron won the home hole with a long putt. Cards:

Herron, out ......5 4 4 5 4 4 3 4 4—37
Tweedie, out .....5 5 3 6 * 5 3 3 4—*
Herron, in ....5 5 3 5 3 4 5 5 4—39—76
Tweedie, in ....4 5 4 2 4 4 5 5 6—39—*

W. M. Plant of Exmoor had a fine round in his match with A. A. Beebe of Skokie, making seventeen holes in 69. At the pond hole he drove two balls into the water; otherwise he would have been close to par. Plant also tied with C. A. McWhinney of Exmoor in the approaching and putting event, each getting a score of 8.

Trigg Waller, the tall southpaw of the home club, had a card of 82 in the qualifying round. This was mislaid and he was left out of the pairings. W. B. Fitch, after winning his match from W. G. Smith, unanimously agreed to withdraw and the vacant place was given to Mr. Waller.

GOLF HONORS TO MRS. COLBURN

Member of Glen View Club Wins Invitation Tourney Prize at Racine, Beating Mrs. Whitcomb.

Racine, Wis., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Mrs. E. S. Colburn of the Glen View club, Chicago, won the prize at the annual invitation golf tournament of the Racine Country club by defeating Mrs. E. R. Whitcomb of Milwaukee in the finals of the first flight 9 holes, 5 up, 4 to go. Mrs. Colburn also won prizes for making low score on the course in 46 and for low score of 53 in the qualifying round.

Mrs. C. E. Raymond, Hinsdale Golf club, won the finals in the second flight over Miss Totten, Hinsdale, 2 up in nine holes. Miss F. Wikoff, Calumet Country club, Chicago, won the finals in the third flight because of default of Mrs. H. M. Wallis, Racine.

Mrs. Schlesinger, Milwaukee Country club, won the blind bogey in 68.

NED ALLIS LOSES GOLF TITLE.

Milwaukee Youngster Beaten by R. P. Cavanagh, 2 Up, in Wisconsin State Tournament at Kenosha.

Kenosha, Wis., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Two match rounds in the Wisconsin golf tournament left a field of eight survivors. Among the missing is Ned Allis of Milwaukee, champion for the last two years, who was defeated in the second round by R. P. Cavanagh, a former champion, the home player winning 2 and 1. A stymie on the seventeenth green settled the match. The other winners in the second round were Sam Anderson of Kenosha, Gilbert Lance of Kenosha, P. M. Davis of Blue Mound, M. Kehlor of Kenosha, G. Yule of Kenosha, L. T. Boyd of Milwaukee, and James Anderson of Kenosha. Hamilton Vose, the Milwaukee veteran who twice has held the title, was defeated in the first round, 2 and 1, by H. H. Cutler of Blue Mound.

GOLF STARS LEAVE FOR U. S.

Harry Vardon and Edward Ray of England Sail for America to Take Part in Tourneys.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 7.—Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the British golf experts, left today aboard the Celtic for New York for a golfing tour. They will take part in the contest for the open championship starting on Sept. 17. Both have undertaken not to talk of golf or to assume a golfing attitude for at least a week. They said it is years since they have had a chance to take a week's rest, and are determined to make the most of it. Vardon said he could not understand why Ray is taking six drivers with him to America. He scorned the idea of any man needing so many "variegated" irons. Ray explained he expects to make some of the longest drives on American courses. "If the turf is hard," he said, "bang goes a club," and, therefore, he is not taking any chances.

Guarantee Given for Aero Test.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 7.—The Aero Club de France announces that the Gordon Bennett race will be held as arranged in September, M. Henry Deutsch taking up the guarantee of $20,000 which Deperdussin gave. Deperdussin lodged securities for this amount with the club, but their value has dropped to $1,500 and they may be seized by the bank. Deperdussin had spoken of doubling the guarantee.

KALAMAZOO PACE WON BY LEATA J.

Five Heats Required for Mare to Gain Verdict Over Frank Bogash.

STEPS ONE HEAT IN 2:03.

Pool Boxes Hold $50,000 When Word Is Given for C. and C. Final Dress Rehearsal.

BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The fact that five of the six horses which started in the 2:12 pace today—won by Leata J. in a five heat struggle with Frank Bogash—are booked to perform in the $5,000 Chamber of Commerce purse at Detroit next Tuesday made the event a final dress rehearsal for the most talked of pacing fixture of the year. As every nag was known to be "out" in earnest, their meeting brought about the heaviest betting thus far seen along the grand circuit line.

For more than two hours before the start the pool selling went on at a great rate and when the horses came down for the word in the opening mile it is estimated the pool boxes held more than $50,000. What made the situation even more complicated than is usual in big pacing races was the fact that at Grand Rapids Frank Bogash was beaten after a long, hard struggle by Leata J., that Stetbrino Lad won his race at the same town only by pacing three heats under 2:05; that Cabel won here Monday in 2:05½ and looked like a 2:04 horse at the end of the mile, and that the so-called mustang pacer Tom King from Texas was to make his first appearance on "the big ring."

Expert Opinion Divided.

Every horse had a lot of backing, but the main battle of the betting ring was a three cornered one between the friends of Stetbrino Lad, Frank Bogash Jr., and Cabel, with Leata J. only a shade behind them in the selling. An average pool was: Stetbrino Lad, $100; Frank Bogash Jr., $70; Cabel, $60; Leata J., $50; Tom King and Edith C. as a field, $20.

Cabel was the only starter not named in the Chamber of Commerce purse. The purse, $6,000, the largest of the year for pacers, was so conditioned that four heats must be contested, each for $1,500, and a further frill was that positions would be drawn before the start for each heat.

The Murphy people were confident over the chances of Bogash and backed him all the way, while most of the public money went on Stetbrino Lad, Leata J., and Cabel. For the first heat positions were drawn as follows: Cabel, the pole; Leata J., second place; Tom King, third; Bogash, fourth; Edith C., fifth, and Stetbrino Lad, the outside.

Opening Heat a Thriller.

The opening round was a thriller, although the time was not notably fast. A fine start was effected and at the quarter Stetbrino Lad was first by a head with Bogash trailing at the pole, Cabel third, and the others bunched. Going down the backstretch Leata J. showed a wonderful burst of speed and was up with the leaders at the half in 1:04½, the first quarter being :31½. As Leata and the mare pulled away from the field around the lower turn, Murphy took after them, as did Cox with Cabel. The three-quarter time was 1:35, making the third quarter :30½ by the leaders, but Bogash bettered that as he made up a couple of lengths during the sprint.

Turning into the homestretch Leata J. fell back beaten. Then Cabel succumbed to the terrific pace, but Bogash hung on. Inch by inch Murphy cut down the lead of Stetbrino Lad, and at the distance the pair were head and head. Only in the last few strides did the master reinsman, never resorting to the whip but keeping his pacer on tiptoes all the way, get Bogash a nose to the front in 2:05½.

Murphy Shows His Skill.

The second heat showed Murphy at his best as a reinsman, and incidentally it revealed Frank Bogash Jr. as capable of a faster mile than any other of the slow class pacers had shown this year. He won in 2:03¼, whereas the best heat by Del Rey, which beat the Bogash horse a couple of races earlier in the circuit, was 2:04¼.

The heat practically was a duel between Bogash and Stetbrino Lad, although for the first quarter Cabel showed in front. He was at the quarter in :30½, but going down the backstretch the other two stepped up to him, and at the half Stetbrino Lad, on the outside, was a nose ahead in 1:01¾. He and Cabel raced frantically around the lower turn, with Bogash a length and a half back, and they passed the three-quarters in 1:32, making the third quarter :30¼.

They had the advantage of Bogash by a length as the three hit the home stretch, and half way to the wire it seemed certain Stetbrino Lad would win, but Murphy, lifting his tired horse and right at the end touching him with the whip, got home first by inches only in 2:03¼. Leata J., coming with terrific speed in the middle of the track, finished only a length back of the leaedrs, the others strung out.

Leata J. Finishes in Front.

In the two previous miles Bogash had drawn fourth position for the start, but in the third attempt he was luckier, getting the pole, with Stetbrino Lad alongside. The betting men still stuck to their contention that no horse could win three consecutive heats in such fast company, and although Bogash was favorite before the third heat, the field was snapped up at half the money brought by the Murphy horse.

The result of the mile was a complete vindication of their position, but from another viewpoint it was even more important, furnishing as it did a second record breaking mile for the season. Leata J. won, after a hard struggle with Stetbrino Lad, in 2:03, the quarters being :30, 1:00, 1:31½, 2:03.

When the word was given the Lad went away fast, but Leata J. was right after him and at the quarter her nose showed in front. At no time after this did she give the others a chance, taking the pole on the lower turn. She was a length to the good at the half and held that advantage all the way, Stetbrino Lad second. When Murphy saw his horse was beaten he made no hard drive, finishing tihrd, three lengths back. Tom King was distanced, and as Edith C. had finished back of the flag in the first mile, only four started for the fourth heat.

Wrangle as to Fifth Heat.

The conditions of the race provided that in case of a tie between two horses at the end of the fourth mile such horses should race another heat to decide first money. After Bobash had won two heats, Murphy, who saw Leata J. was dangerous, told Secretary Engelman that if the mare or any other horse won the third and fourth heats he would not start Frank Bogash Jr. for the fifth mile unless there was an absolute tie as to all the positions of the two horses. As the general conditions of the meeting state that all races are to be contested under the old rule system, and not that in which positions are added up for each horse, Murphy had the better of the argument.

Finally the fourth heat was raced, Leata J. winning in 2:04¾, with Stetbrino Lad second all the way, the fractional time being :31¾, 1:02, 1:33¼, 2:04¾. Murphy took matters easy, finishing last and evidently having made up his mind to go the extra heat. It was soon ended, the mare winning all the way in :32¾, 1:04¾, 1:36¼, 2:08, and the race with the conditions capable of being interpreted several ways at once was over.

COAST A. A. U. TALKS REVOLT

Resents Naming of Boxing Promoter for Panama Games.

REFUSES TO ENTER STARS.

J. E. Sullivan Causes Mixup When He Appoints Jim Mulvey.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 7.—The appointment by James E. Sullivan, director general of amateur athletics at the Panama-Pacific exposition, of Tom Mulvey to be assistant director general has brought an open letter from the Pacific association of the A. A. U., signed by President John Elliot, that it will refuse to allow Ralph Rose, George Horine, or any other of its members to compete in 1915 if the appointment stands.

At a meeting of the association's officers today secession of the Pacific coast from the parent body was urged.

"I have no doubt," writes President Elliot, "that Mr. Mulvey is a most estimable gentleman, but he has no knowledge of nor affiliations with amateur sport whatsoever. The only claim, it is reported, to recognition that he has is his connection with professional pugilism.

"Under the existing conditions the Pacific association of the Amateur Athletic union of the United States will have to withdraw its activities toward making the games of 1915 the success that they should be. Final action will be taken by the Pacific association at a special meeting to be held next Tuesday night."

At the offices of the exposition it was said that Mulvey's appointment had been made by Mr. Sullian personally without the knowledge of the directors, who, therefore, could say nothing about it. Mr. Sullivan has sailed for Germany, but immediate efforts to get in touch with him at Berlin by cable will be made.

Mulvey is known here as a fight promoter. He is a friend of Charley Harvey, secretary of the New York state boxing commission, who is said to be a friend of Sullivan.

MOTOR PILOTS SET FOR RACES.

Program of Ten Events to Be Run Off at Two Day Meet at Libertyville Beginning Tomorrow.

Chicago race fans will get two days of speed, starting tomorrow afternoon, at Libertyville.

The motor race management has offered nearly $2,500 in prize money. Louis Disbrow, Lou Heinemann, Eddie Hearne, Bill Endicott, Al Schillo, Billy Chandler, and Ed Rickenbacher have sent in their signed entry blanks along with a half score of drivers of lesser note. The program is made up of ten events, with the closing feature a 100 mile free for all in which about fifteen cars will start. C. G. Sinsabaugh will represent the American Automobile association, under whose auspices the races will be conducted. F. E. Edwards will act as referee and John G. De Long has been asked to act as starter. The judges are Harry Vissering, Fred Yard, Charles S. Hatch, and Charles Ballou. Chief Timer Berne Nadall will be assisted by Joseph Callender and Dick McMann.

GUNNING SHOOTS 100 SCORE.

Colorado Marksman Gets Perfect Count from Nineteen Yards in Western Handicap at Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 7.—G. A. Gunning, Longmont, Colo., shooting from the nineteen yard line, won the eighth annual western handicap at the Omaha Gun club today with a score of 100. His score was the highest ever made in the western handicap and was equaled only by Riley Thompson's perfect score in the Grand American. C. H. Ditto, Keithburg, Ill., and P. J. Cairns, Elmo, Kas., were tied for second and third high guns with a score of 99. Among the professionals, C. G. Spencer, St. Louis, was high gun with a score of 98, handicap 22 yards.

SPORTING NEWS NOTES.

The K. of P. field day exercises will be held at the White Sox park on Sunday. The Chicago Giants and Spaldings will play.

All the old favorites, with nine new candidates, making the biggest card of six races so far scheduled this season, will race at the Austin track tomorrow. La Costa, a new one from the great western circuit, is looked upon as likely to stop Ardmore's weekly chain of victories.

Three races were decided upon, boats were picked and the date of the first yacht race set for Aug. 19, at a meeting of the women skippers and their crews at the Chicago Yacht club yesterday. The boats used will be the Chicago Yacht club's mosquito fleet of "pup" boats—eighteen footers.

RAIN STOPS TENNIS TOURNEY

Downpour Interrupts Play in Northwestern Meet.

WAIDNER TO TACKLE BURR.

Winner Then Meets Armstrong of St. Paul in the Final Round.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 7.—Play in the annual tournament of the Northwestern Lawn Tennis association at Deep Haven was interrupted by rain at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. In the singles R. N. Burr of Minneapolis defeated Greer, 6-4, 7-4. Burr will meet Harry Waidner of Chicago tomorrow, and the winner in the afternoon will play J. J. Armstrong of St. Paul in the final round.

In the doubles semi-finals, Waidner and Edsall went down before the team work of Jaynes and Sellwagen, 6—2, 7—5, 6—2. Adams and Armstrong defeated Burr and Poehler, 6—3, 6—3, 6—2. Belden and Burton defeated D. Haynes and Johnson, 6—4, 6—1, 6—3.

In the women's singles Miss Gwendolyn Rees of Dallas, Tex., and Miss Marguerite Davis of Minneapolis won easy victories, and on Saturday they will play for the first northwestern championship for women.

JOHNSTON REACHES NET FINAL.

California Boy Wins Three Straight Sets in New York Tourney from Yale Champion.

New York, Aug. 7.—William M. Johnston, the boy lawn tennis player from California, won his place in the final round of the New York state championship tournament today on the turf courts of the Crescent A. C., at Bay Ridge. In the semi-final round Johnston defeated A. H. Man Jr., Yale champion, 6—4, 7—5, 9—7.

Johnston revealed tremendous speed at times. His service almost approached the pace of McLoughlin. He lifted his game to its highest flight in the third set when Man led him 5—3 on games. Then he smashed brilliantly and overwhelmed Man's cross shots. Johnston will meet S. H. Voshell in the finals on Saturday for the title now held by McLoughlin.

GREEN TAKES MICHIGAN TITLE.

Chicago Tennis Player Wins Final Match After Losing First Two Sets to Doughty.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 7.—A. L. Green of Chicago today became tennis champion of Michigan when he defeated Richard Doughty of Detroit in the state tournament. Doughty captured the first two sets, 6—3 and 6—2, but Green rallied, played desperate tennis, and took the next three. His winning scores were 6—3, 6—3, 6—4.

TENNIS RESULTS AT HOMAN FIELD

SCANDAL DISTURBS SARATOGA TRACK

Persons Charged with "Pulling" Horses Barred by Turf Officials.

LID ON JOCKEY J. WILSON

Double Crossing Brings About Action, Exposing Half a Dozen Participants.

Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The biggest scandal of recent years in connection with the American turf became public property today when several persons were either denied admission to the track or put off the inclosure while the races were run. All were charged in some way with the pulling of horses and the boy charged with doing the actual pulling is J. Wilson, the shining light of the riders of the present day.

The men implicated are "Dollar John," whose real name is Langmann, a bookmaker; Jimmy Reed, a former jockey, who rode in France until last May; a jockey's valet known as Rex, and Robert Mendelsohn, a friend of Wilson, whose efforts seem to have been directed to keeping the scandal from becoming known.

All the men are well known on the race track and "Dollar John" is the same personage who was mixed up in the Rosenthal case, according to the gossipers. It is expected that a much more prominent citizen will be brought into the affair, a politician of the New York east side who is a regular patron of racing.

It is understood that Jockey Wilson has made a confession to the stewards of his part in the transactions. Double crossing the people that paid him the money to pull the horses was the immediate cause of Wilson getting into trouble and exposing the participators. Summaries:

First race, ¾ mile—Edith W., 105 [McCabe], 6 to 1, won; Naiad, 8 to 5, second; Sosius, 3 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 1-5.

Second race, 2 miles, steeplechase—Malthis, 133 [Klenck], 2 to 1, won; Delirum, 7 to 5, second; Mystic Light, 3 to 5, third. Time, 4:20.

Third race, ¾ mile—Scallywag, 103 [McCahey], 4 to 1, won; Palanquin, 6 to 5, second; Briar Path, out, third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

Fourth race, ¾ mile—Via Octavia, 107 [McCahey], 7 to 2, won; Dartworth, 1 to 2, second; Captain Elliott, 1 to 2, third. Time, 1:14.

Fifth race, ¾ mile—Bally Cliff, 95 [Martin], 4 to 1, won; Housemaid, 4 to 5, second; Phyllis Antoinette, 4 to 1, third. Time 1:12 2-5.

Sixth race 11-16 mile—Crossbun 109 [Ferguson], 15 to 1, won; Orotund, 8 to 5, second; Hurakan, out, third. Time, 1:07 3-5.

WANTS FRANCE TO BAR NEGRO.

American Federation Asks French Boxing Organization to Put Lid on Jack Johnson.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, Aug. 7.—La Presse says today the American Boxing federation has asked the French federation to forbid Jack Johnson, the negro prize-fighter, from taking part in boxing matches in France. The paper believes the request will place the French organization in an awkward position, and asks whether France should be compelled to take up a racial quarrel. It suggests that American managers are no longer able to make money out of Johnson and they are trying to prevent French managers from doing so.

New York, Aug. 7.—If the French boxing authorities have been requested to prohibit Jack Johnson from engaging in contests in France, the request must have originated from some unofficial source, probably in the west, according to James E. Price, a member of the New York state athletic commission. Mr. Price said that so far as he knew there was no such organization as the "American Boxing federation." No protest against Johnson had been made by the New York commission.

MAKE PLANS FOR RITCHIE BOUT.

Vancouver Promoters to Complete Arrangements Next Week for Lightweight Ring Event.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 7.—Arrangements for the lightweight championship match here on Labor day, in which Willie Ritchie will defend his title, will be completed in this city next week. The promoter received a telegram from Ritchie's manager today stating he would leave San Francisco for Vancouver within a few days. It is fairly certain Freddie Welsh will be Ritchie's opponent, although negotiations with the English champion have not been concluded.

LANGFORD TO MEET JEANETTE.

Negro Heavyweights Matched for Twenty Round Bout at the Vernon Arena on Oct. 7.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 7.—Announcement was made today that Sam Langford and Joe Jeanette, negro heavyweights, had been matched for a twenty round bout at Vernon on Oct. 7. The two fighters will come to the coast Sept. 20 and begin training at once. Though they have met several times, this will be their first battle over the twenty round route.

Injury Brings End to Fight.

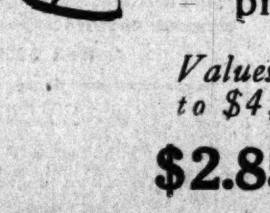

Joplin, Mo., Aug. 7.—An injury received by Tommy Dixon of Kansas City during a fight here tonight with Freddie Cole of Indianapolis caused the contest, scheduled for fifteen rounds, to terminate in the seventh round. Cole rushed Dixon to the ropes, which broke under his weight. Dixon fell to the floor, injuring an arm. A physician advised him not to return to the ring.

QUAKERS STOPPED BY 'SMOKE' STACK

Former Cub Dons Old Togs and Pitches Peachuva Game for Trojans.

MARGIN OF VICTORY, 5-2.

Evers and Killifer Removed from Picture for Quarreling with the Umpires.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Ed Ruelbach will have to pitch a peachuva game to make the recent Cub-Dodger trade look as good to Brooklyn as W. Eddie Stack made it look to Chicago yesterday, when he let the Phillies down with four hts and helped the Cubs win the opening battle of the series by batting in two tallies himself. Final score, 5 to 2.

For quite a spell the pair of runs due to Stack's single in the second inning were all the Cubs could get off Seaton and were solely responsible for the fact the Trojans were out in front. Not until the sixth chapter did our boys get any more results from their endeavor. Then Long Cy Williams, who has been basking in a lot of limelight of late, cinched the thing for Stack with a rattling three base hit, which scored two pals. Thomas Leach, the other half of the long and short sketch, drove home the fifth run in the seventh with a triple which closely resembled Cy's.

Evers Benched by Emslie.

Williams also participated in the second round rally to the extent of a single, and struck out both times he failed to hit safely. Schulte was there with two singles and so was Manager Evers, who resumed his station at the keystone until requested by Umpire Emslie to erase himself from the lineup in the sixth inning. The request resulted from a close decision at second, in which the manager claimed he had Knabe blocked off the sack long enough to retrieve a muff and tag the runner out, but Emslie saw only the muff.

Henry O'Day also had his difficulties, but his fuss was with the visitors and he quelled it by ejecting Catcher Killifer from the ranks for kicking in the seventh inning when he thought he had Phelan, who fell heir to Evers' position, struck out twice in one time at bat.

Killifer Starts to Disrobe.

The first time O'Day called a ball which Killifer did not like and the second time Phelan swung at the pill Killifer muffed it, picked it up and tagged the batsman, only to hear the umpire declare it was a foul. This so enraged C. Dooin's understudy that he hurled his mask angrily toward third base, flung his mitt vehemently in the same direction, and followed them with his protector and one of his shin guards, which he had kicked loose in his rage. Just as the spectators were imploring Killifer to keep his shirt on, Manager Dooin sauntered out, unable to repress a broad Celtic grin at Killifer's mad antics, and poured gasoline on the troubled elements. Neither disputed decision happened to cut any figure in the outcome.

The Phillies made half their hits off Stack's smoke in the fourth inning, which was the only one in which there was any question of his ability to tame the visitors. Knabe's double and Becker's single got together for the only tally to which the other fellows were entitled. There would have been another if Schulte had not raced over near the foul line to arrest what Luderus thought was a three bagger. The second and last of Philadelphia's runs grew out of a double by Lobert and a boot by Phelan in the ninth. The rest of the way Stack had the Phillies looking meekly through their blinders and hitting the ball high enough in the air so that two or three Cubs could have got under it if necessary.

Stack's Stick Stings Double.

The Cubs acquired the jump in the second inning after the visitors had been blanked in order twice. Zimmerman flied out before Saier brewed woe for Seaton by extracting a base on balls. Williams responded to the glad hand given him by slapping a single into right on a hit and run play which advanced Vic to third. Bridwell struck out, whereupon a double steal was attempted, but they let Williams run unmolested and passed Archer intentionally, filling the bases. That brought up Stack, whose stick prowess Seaton apparently held in contempt. Eddie changed his rival's ideas in a jiffy by poking the ball back at him so sharply that it squirted off the slabman's mitt and eluded Doolan's eager grasp. Saier and Williams both scored on the slap. Leach flied the side out.

The Phillies came near tying it up in the fourth. Knabe led with a double along the left foul line. Lobert flied out, and Becker tried to hit a home run through the left center field groove, but Williams made a swell stop, which held it to a single. Knabe scored on the rap. Cravath scratched a bounder in front of the plate and got tangled up with Archer, who tried to field it, but Stack hopped in and got the ball in time to retire the batsman. Becker made third on the mixup, but was stranded when Schulte made his swell cop of Luderus' liner.

Paskert's Shot Nails Archer.

The Cubs nearly untied the knot in the fifth. Archer was punctured in the short ribs. Stack bunted himself out trying to sacrifice. Leach's bounder put Archer on second and Evers whaled a single to center. Paskert came up with the ball cleanly and shot it home in time to nail Archer at the plate for the third demise.

The Phillies' spikes slipped in the sixth and the Cubs took advantage of it to win the game. Knabe fumbled a hopper from Schulte's bat to start it. Zimmerman intended to sacrifice, but Seaton slipped him a pass instead, and that was the play that turned the scale. Saier sacrificed both Cubs ahead, and Williams pulled a whistling liner into the right field corner for three bases, driving in Schulte and the Great Zim. Williams was cut off at the pan trying to count on Bridwell's bounder to Seaton, and they caught Brid stealing.

In the seventh Archer drew his second base on balls. Stack again whiffed trying to sacrifice, but Leach came across with a triple on which Archer scampered home in perfect safety. Here arose the controversy over Phelan's strikes and the change of catchers. When the noise subsided Arthur bounded one to Seaton, and Leach was run to death between home and third. Schulte hit a liner too warm for Luderus to hold, advancing Phelan to third. The double steal was ordered with fatal results to Phelan at the pan.

Phillies Count in Ninth.

Roy Miller was injected into the game as pinch hitter for Seaton in the eighth without denting the result and Mayer performed on the slab airtightly in our half of the eighth. Lobert rapped out a double in the ninth and Phelan bobbled a chance from Becker. Cravath popped out, but Luderus flied to Williams so far away that Lobert scored from third. Magee was sent to bat for Doolan and struck out without swinging his bat. Score:

CUB SYDELIGHTS.

Philadelphia again today, tomorrow, and Sunday.

Paskert made one of the best nabs of the day when he despoiled Saier of a long hit in the eighth inning.

The Phillies came here with a string of seven straight victories, only to have the string chopped off short by one of their former discards.

The bugs welcomed Manager Evers back to the game with a loud glad hand in the first inning and kept it up on the strength of his two safe hits, as long as he stuck in the picture.

Archer obtained the uncommon record of no legal times at bat and one run. He was given two bases on balls and hit by pitcher once. The game was over before his fourth turn at bat came.

Williams, in addition to his effective stick work, had a lot of things to do in the garden. He caught seven flies, giving him one more putout than Saier had, and cut off at least one hit that was going for extra bases when it started.

The Cubs made only four assists during the game. This was due to the fact the Phillies were hitting Stack's stuff in the air most of the time. Seventeen of them went out on flies and six struck out, leaving four to be thrown out at first, which they were.

Charles Stewart, the outfielder purchased from the Indianapolis club, reported yesterday and donned the local spangles. He has been with the Springfield team of the Central league—Indianapolis' farm—this season and comes with the record of leading the Central in batting. Stewart is a former Artesian star in the local semi-pro field.

One reason why the Phillies are not leading is because they do not crowd every chance to the limit. That was illustrated in the third when Paskert popped a little fly right over the slab. Stack backed away, thinking an infielder would catch it, but none could get there in time. Seeing ball fell safe, but Paskert had slowed up. Seeing this, Stack snatched the ball and fired to Saier in time for the out. It was a quick recovery by Stack, but would have been impossible if Paskert had not taken it for granted his fly would be pinched.

BROWN FAILS AS RESCUER.

Marquard and Fromme Hurl Well, Allowing Four Bingles.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 7.—New York batted out a victory in the ninth inning today, taking the first game of the series from Cincinnati, 5 to 2. Up to this inning it was a battle between the pitchers.

Both Marquard and Johnson pitched remarkable ball, the former holding Cincinnati to four hits and two runs, and only retired to allow a pinch hitter to bat for him. Fromme, who finished the game, appeared just as good, as Cincinnati did not obtain a hit off him in the last two innings.

Johnson was invincible up to the eighth, but in the ninth was retired with none out to allow Brown to attempt to stave off New York's challenge. Brown was unequal to the task and the visitors scored four runs in the final inning. Score:

Wagner's Tricky Base Running Draws Wild Throw from Clymer for Winning Run in Tenth.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 7.—Wagner's tricky base running in the tenth inning drew a wild throw from Otis Clymer and Pittsburgh won, 4 to 3, from Boston today. The Dutchman was on first with two out, when Miller singled to center. Carelessly he sauntered down to second, and as Clymer changed his mind about hurrying the ball to third, Wagner sprinted for that station. Clymer threw the ball over Devlin's head and Honus scored the wining run.

Mike Mitchell, ex-Cub, made his Pittsburgh inaugural and got two hits. Fred Smith, the Boston outfielder, was so painfully hurt in the third that he had to retire. Gibson's throw to catch him off second hit him behind the ear. Score:

"The Best Play I Ever Saw."

Chicago. [To the Baseball Editor of The Tribune.]—A good many years ago when the first professional baseball team, the Chicago "Red Stockings," thought they were doing well to be beaten only 9 to 3 on Boston Common, by the Harvard 'Varsity team, there occurred a wonderful game between the Harvards and the Manchesters—the best amateur team in the country. In those days the ball was literally pitched or tossed, not thrown, and as a rule the batting scores were high in almost every game. For twenty-four innings the two teams battled, without a run being made on either side, although a score of men had been left on bases; and the umpire had notified the captains that at the conclusion of this, the twenty-fourth inning, the game would be called on account of darkness. The Manchesters had three men on the bases, with two out, when a terrific drive, just inside the right foul line—the ball fully nine feet high when it reached the first base—bade fair to score two of the men on the bases and end the game in favor of the Manchesters.

Bob Shaw of the Harvards, one of the finest first basemen any college ever had, leaped into the air and with one hand (bare, for we did not wear gloves in those days), caught the fly and retired the side at that point—with the score 0 to 0.

JIMMY RYAN A HURDLER.

Chicago.—[To the Baseball Editor of The Tribune.]—The best play I ever saw was made by Jimmy Ryan, center fielder for the Chicagos, assisted by the great Charles Comiskey, playing first base, at the old Brotherhood league park, where Comiskey park now stands. In the seventh inning, with the score a tie and the opposing team starting a rally, with one out, a man on first and second, the batter hit one on the nose away out over Ryan's head. In those days there was a carriage rail to hitch horses to about three feet high at the outer edge of the field There were about twenty or thirty buggies hitched to this rail. Ryan took one look at the ball, turned and ran straight back, jumped right over the rail, and, running between two horses, caught the ball behind the buggy. The second baseman ran out and Ryan threw the ball to him, who relayed it to Comiskey on first. Comiskey touched first and thus completed a spectacular double which saved the game, for Chicago won in the next inning.

PLAY IN BIBLE CLASS LEAGUE.

Chicago.—[To the Baseball Editor of The Tribune.]—The best play I ever saw was pulled off by Harry Landgraf and Jack Manahan of the Belden Avenue Presbyterian church team of the Bible Class league. Manahan was on first, one out in the last half of the ninth with the score tied, 3 to 3, and Landgraf at bat. He hit a vicious liner between the left and center fielders. The center fielder was lucky to stab the ball on the first bound and returned the ball to the second baseman, who relayed it to the plate, and Manahan was caught between third and home. Manahan, seeing it was useless for him to try to score, started jockeying between third and the plate, and Landgraf kept on running. Seeing an opportunity, he turned third just as Manahan was tagged out at that bag, and by a beautiful hook slide eluded the pitcher who covered the plate and scored the winning run.

Cicotte Quits When Game Grows Lopsided; Swats Off Benz Net Four Runs.

BY SAM WELLER.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The Sox won a scrambled ball game from Griff's Nationals today and scored almost enough runs to have won all those others that were lost up in Boston and New York. The final count was 11 to 4.

Washington was allowed to get those four in the eighth inning while Joe Benz was experiencing great distress on the slab. He had an eleven run lead, so really was in no danger. Eddie Cicotte had been the hurler until the Sox got so many runs that the manager didn't care to have Eddie waste any more of his strength. It was a most novel experience for Cicotte to have his pals go out and get a lot of runs for him

Joe Engel, the National hurler, was walloped out of the game in a third inning stampede. Young Harry Harper, one of Griff's recent arrivals, undertook to stop that stampede. He is a southpaw with a springboard delivery. He had so much stuff at times that the catcher couldn't even stop the ball. Backstop Henry had a finger injured trying to stop one.

Sox Waste Chances on Sacks.

Young Harper expects to get command of all his prowess some day, and then he'll get even with these big league batters who showed him up today. The youngster stuck gamely to the job, but the Sox had six runs when the second round was over, and they added a lot more and wasted a lot of chances by daring things on the bases. Finally in the eighth the youngster gave way to a pinch hitter, then Mr. Gallia finished the hurling.

The Sox made eleven hits, but two were homers, one by Fournier and one by Weaver. Fournier also whaled a triple and a single, making quite a record.

The blunders by the Nationals also helped a lot. They made seven, and some of the seven were awful. Jack Fournier started the Sox off in front by clouting one over the right wall for a home run in the second inning. There were two out at the time and Schalk followed with a base on balls. Weaver then tried to duplicate Fournier's trick, but fell just short enough so that Big Carl Cashion, with his back to the wall, was able to jump up and make the catch.

Cals Go Crazy in Third.

In the third inning the Sox went on a long delayed rampage and got five runs. Cicotte started the fun with a single to center and Chappell sacrificed. Berger walked and Capt. Lord drove a beauty single to left, sending Cicotte home and Berger to third. Lord took second on the peg to third. hase raised a high top fly and McBride muffed, so the bases were filled. Bodie poked a little low, way over Morgan's head for a single, sending Berger home.

At this point Engel was taken out and Young Harper sent to the slab. He was wild and walked Fournier, forcing Lord to score. Schalk tapped one to Harper and Bodie was trapped between third and home. Henry ran him back to third and chucked the ball to Foster, who let it get through him. Bodie then scored and Fournier stayed at third while Schalk took second. Weaver struck out, and Cicotte, coming up for the second time, ended the jubilee with a pop fly.

Errors and three hits gave the Sox two more in the fifth. With one out, Bodie popped up a high one and Ainsmith muffed it in the middle of the diamond. Bodie reached second on the mistake. Fournier singled to center and Bodie scored, Fournier taking second on the peg. He tried to steal third at once and was pegged out. Schalk bounded a nasty slow one to Foster and beat it for a single, and when Foster heaved to the grand stand he raced to third, from where he scored on Weaver's single. Cicotte ended that one with a drive to Cashion.

Weaver Clouts Home Run.

Two more were added in the seventh. With one out Fournier tripled to left. Schalk bounded to McBride and Fournier was run down between third and home running back and forth until Schalk reached third. Weaver then hit to the left wall for a home run, sending Schalk in ahead of him.

In the eighth Chappell went all the way around on two wild throws. He hit one at Harper's feet. Harper knocked it down, then heaved it to the stand and Chappell raced to third. When Gandil's wild throw got past Foster he ran on home. Harper got the side out with no further damage.

The Nationals did a lot of batting against Benz in the eighth. Five singles and an error gave them four runs and caused Benz a lot of distress, but he finally got out of the mess. Weaver's home run was a great drive to the left wall, left field here being deep. He did some fancy legging and came in without a slide.

When the game was surely won Manager Callahan sent Rader to third in place of Lord just to give the boy a trial. He had only one chance and it was a tough one, a slow roller. In his hurry he heaved a wildly to first. Score:

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

GOTHAM GETS READY.

There's an air of busy bustling
Along the Gay White Way.
The barkeeps are a-hustling
As ne'er before today.
Do they expect a visit
From sportive royalty?
O, what occasion is it,
That such a stir should be?

Pat Keefe has got 'em ready—
The ice, the lime, the gin—
It just remains for Eddie
To shoot the seltzer in.
They say that Con O'Farrell's
Engaged the whole supply—
Some forty thousand barrels—
Of Kelly's Aged Rye.

And all the dark and light beer
Has been bought up by Hand's,
In hopes they'll have the right beer
To satisfy demands.
And, to avoid all de-lays,
Joe Flynn has added six
New mixers, who in relays
Will mix and mix and mix.

They're planning to deliver
The town from debt's dark spell,
By trading Hudson river
For something they can sell.
Can talk of graft and scandal;
Attend to bus'ness first—
McGraw has traded Crandall
For Larry and a Thirst.

Chief Meyers is said to be suffering with a mashed finger, but the injury hurt Ote Crandall more than any one else.

The accident to Meyers gave us an inkling as to the esteem in which McGraw holds Wilson and Hartley. As soon as the Indian was hurt, the New York manager went gunning for a real catcher to take his place.

McGraw is not terrorized by the prospect of having McLean on his club. Nothing feazes Mac after his years of experience with one Arthur Raymond.

Otis Crandall's reward for seasons of faithful service as rescuer, general handy man, and super is a swift kick from the top of the league to the bottom.

The next tennis event of importance will be the doubles match for the championship of the U. S. and California.

Mr. Touchard glared at Mr. Washburne as if it were all his fault. But unbiased witnesses said that Griffin and Strachan were somewhat to blame for the result.

Voshell won his place in the final round of the New York state championships, but Voshell do we care?

We move an amendment to the scoring rules that will give a man credit for a home run when, with the winning tally on the bases, he lifts the pill out of the park, as V. Saier did in the tenth inning of the last Brooklyn game.

After careful study we have come to the conclusion that the National league race is still a race.

The Pirates caused Matty's fadeaway to fade all the way out of Forbes field.

It's up to the Reds to put a crimp in Demaree, the only Giant pitcher now burdened with a winning streak.

DIFFERENT CITIES.

Of all the big league towns there are
I'm most enthusiastic
About the one near Hamilton,
Which was christened Cincinnati.
I'm trying to learn to love that town,

And Mordeki or -ke.

We won't vouch for the truth of the report that six places in St. Louis voluntarily relinquished their licenses when the Crandall-McLean trade was announced.

CHICAGO 'FEDS' LAND VERDICT OVER INDIANAPOLIS TEAM, 7-5.

Single by Farrell and Double by Kading and Gertenrich Result in Winning Runs in Seventh.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Despite the efforts of the Hoosier "Feds" in the sixth, when four made the circuit, they were unable to beat Chicago today. With the score tied at the end of that inning the Chicago aggregation piled up two more runs in the seventh and won, 7 to 5.

Stanley started the run getting for the visitors in the first when he took second on Link's wide throw of his infield bounder and scored on Farrell's single. Farrell took third on the thrown-in to stop Stanley and scored on Kading's sacrifice. In the fourth Pettigrew walked and scored on Ginther's sacrifice and McDonough's single. In the fifth Gertenrich walked. Pettigrew singled and when Conway let the ball get away Gertenrich came home. In the seventh Farrell singled and scored on Kading's double to right. Gertenrich followed with another double to right, scoring Kading.

Six hits were made off Neenan, who took Link's place in the seventh on the mound. Score:

Orr Replaces Injured Barry, Playing Good at Short; O'Neil Is Chased.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 7.—The series between Philadelphia and Cleveland went to the former three games to one today when the Naps were defeated 7 to 3. Baker was the principal factor in the home team's scoring. In four trips he made two doubles and a single and drew a pass, scoring three runs himself and driving in three more.

Barry was unable to play owing to an injured shoulder, which he sustained in a collision in Wednesday's game. Orr, formerly of Sacramento, took Barry's place and put up a splendid game. O'Neil was ordered to the clubhouse by Umpire Ferguson for disputing a called ball in the third inning. Score:

YANK RECRUITS BEAT TIGERS.

Cook and Williams, Texans, and Pitcher Schulz in an Easy Victory Over Detroit, 5 to 1.

New York, Aug. 7.—New York evened the series with Detroit today, winning the last game, 5 to 1. Chance's young left hander, Schulz, outpitched Lake. Only four men reached first. The Yankees used two Texas league recruits in their lineup, and their work featured the game. Cook, an outfielder from Austin, made two singles and a double in four times up. Williams of Galveston played a sensational game at first, twice saving Knight errors by brilliant one handed catches of high throws. He also hit a home run. Score:

CUBAN PLAYERS START FUSS.

President Farrell of Yanks Asks Commission to Set Aside the Sale of Stars to Pilgrims.

New York, Aug. 7.—President Frank Farrell of the New York American league club will appeal to the National commission to set aside the sale of three Cuban players of the Long Branch team of the New York and New Jersey league to the Boston Nationals. The players are Pitcher Luque, Shortstop Arragon, and Outfielder Padron. According to Farrell, Owner Henriques of the Long Branch team recently offered to sell him three players. Farrell agreed to take them and the price was fixed. According to the verbal agreement, the three players were to report to Manager Chance yesterday. Instead of the players reporting, Henriques sold them to President Gaffney of the Braves. Farrell has several witnesses to the deal.

Red Sox Recall Three Players.

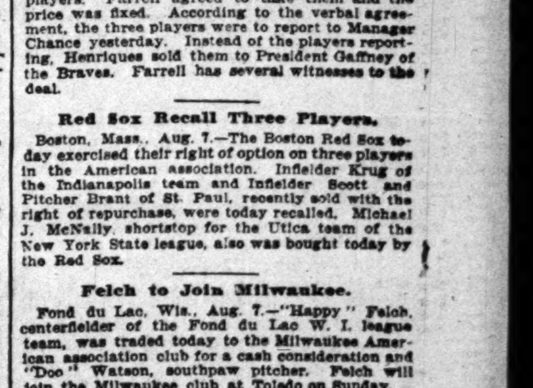

Boston, Mass., Aug. 7.—The Boston Red Sox today exercised their right of option on three players in the American association. Infielder Krug of the Indianapolis team and Infielder Scott and Pitcher Brant of St. Paul, recently sold with the right of repurchase, were today recalled. Michael J. McNally, shortstop for the Utica team of the New York State league, also was bought today by the Red Sox.

BANKERS CONFER WITH PRESIDENT

Southern Men Hear Wilson Defend Currency and McAdoo Explain Crop Plan.

MANN OFFERS SUPPORT.

Republican Leader Says Minority Will Not Fight Administration Bill.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—The plan of the distribution of $50,000,000 of government funds to move the crops, and the features of the administration currency bill, were discussed today by more than 100 southern bankers at the treasury department and the White House.

This was the first of a series of conferences between the government and the bankers on the deposit of government money in the south and west. The western bankers, headed by George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental-Commercial National bank of Chicago, the largest financial institution in the west, will be here tomorrow.

Tentative arrangements for the distribution of the deposits and the acceptance of securities were made with Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Assistant Secretary Williams. Then the government officials, together with Chairmen Owen and Glass of the senate and house banking committees, took occasion to answer criticism of the currency measure which have emanated from the bankers. Finally, at the White House, President Wilson addressed the bankers in behalf of the administration program.

Developments of Day Cited.

Among the developments of the day were the following:

It was tentatively agreed that a special committee, including a treasury representative, should pass on the commercial paper offered as security for the crop moving deposits, in each banking center.

Western bankers arriving this evening commended the deposit plan as wise statesmanship.

Senator Sherman of Illinois received a report from Andrew J. Frame of Waukesha, showing that 289 out of 400 Wisconsin bankers oppose the currency bill.

Republican Leader Mann announced that while he would urge changes in the measure the passage of a currency bill by the house would be facilitated by the minority in every way possible.

At the afternoon session of the southern bankers, Secretary McAdoo explained the provisions of the administration bill with regard to the 2 per cent bonds. It was Mr. McAdoo's contention that the value of the bonds will in reality be appreciated by the Glass-Owen bill.

He pointed out that the circulation privilege was still to remain with the 2 per cents, whereas on the other hand additional privileges were to be conferred upon the bonds by the administration bill.

Political Aspect Today.

There was another political aspect of today's events aside from the attempt to obtain support for the currency bill. This had to do with the efforts of the treasury officials and of the president himself to bring the Democratic administration into favor with the small country banks.

The president, when he received the representatives of the conference at the White House, spoke felicitously of his gratification that the rural banks are to profit from the tendency now becoming apparent for the diffusion of credit control. The inference from the president's remarks was that he believed that the domination of the country's credits was passing in some degree from the hands of the big financial centers into the places where there is less concentration of financial influence.

Ask Loans for Small Banks.

The secretary of the treasury and Assistant Secretary Williams in similar vein later in the day emphatically informed the representatives of the banks which were to be the immediate receivers of the government deposits that they would be expected by the treasury department willingly to redeposit or rather to make loans of these government deposits to the smaller banks at nominal interest rates.

It was emphasized that the treasury department is depositing $50,000,000 in the principal cities of the south only as the means of passing these funds on to the banks which actually reach the farmers.

Among the western bankers who arrived tonight were James M. McIntosh and S. A. Fletcher of Indianapolis, Henry Reis of Evansville, and Theodore C. Wentz of Fort Wayne, Ind.

"I entirely approve Secretary McAdoo's plan," said Mr. Fletcher. "It will do a world of good if the money is distributed in the proper places."

Banker Indorses Money Bill.

Mr. McIntosh not only gave his warm approval to the plan to distribute the treasury money to aid in moving crops, but he went further and placed his O. K. on the administration currency bill. He admitted that this was "going some" for a lifelong Republican like himself.

"Right at the psychological time Secretary McAdoo announces a new policy whereby the treasury department deals directly with the banks of the great crop producing regions, and I do not have the slightest doubt that the hold of Wall street on the country is permanently broken," he said. "While men of less capacity and more limited vision are debating what ought to be done McAdoo acts. He does things, and so far he has made no mistakes."

The bankers tonight adopted resolutions of appreciation and of confidence in the Wilson administration.

BANKERS TO MEET IN CHICAGO.

American Association Official Announces Session to Demand Discussion of Currency Bill.

A. B. Hepburn, chairman of the currency commission of the American Bankers' association, announced yesterday that bankers from all over the United States will meet in Chicago this month to protest if the Democratic caucus of the national house decides to push the currency bill without allowing public discussion.

Freed for Selling New Year's Night.

Five saloonkeepers who were arrested for keeping their places open last New Year's night in violation of the 1 o'clock closing law were discharged yesterday by Municipal Judge Wade. The court held that in his opinion the New Year's celebration custom compelled the defendants to keep open. Those discharged were David Lewinsohn, 500 South Wabash avenue; James Cullin, 341 East Thirty-first street; W. W. Quinn, 344 East Thirty-first street; H. W. Smith, 38 West Randolph street, and Clarence Green, 134 North Dearborn street.

PURCHASES OLD FERRY FIELD SITE

Mrs. Carolyn M. Ely Buys Lake Bluff Property for Country Estate.

RECORD RENT FOR FLAT.

H. W. Gossard Pays $6,000 a Year for Eight Rooms at 1724 East Fifty-fourth.

A notable deal in north shore acres has been closed in the purchase by Mrs. Carolyn M. Ely from the McGuire & Orr Ferry Field syndicate of a tract of sixteen and one-half acres, fronting in Sheridan road at the south end of Lake Bluff. The property lies between the holdings of H. B. Clow and A. A. Sprague II. and is picturesquely located, being surrounded by ravines, but not extending to the lake.

The actual price is not disclosed, the deed reciting $10 and other good and valuable considerations, but it is known the property has been offered at $50,000, which is at the rate of $3,000 an acre.

Formerly Ferry Field.

The sale closes out the holdings of the syndicate, which originally comprised 150 acres in what was known as Ferry field, for years used for the annual Lake Forest horse show and for polo grounds. It was purchased about four years ago by the syndicate at the rate of $800 an acre and sold by the syndicate to Stanley Field, A. A. Sprague II., H. B. Clow, Roy McWilliams, and others at the rate of $3,000 an acre, which paid a net profit of more than $250,000.

Mrs. Ely is said to have purchased the property with the purpose of improving it with a handsome country home. The sale was negotiated by John Griffith of Lake Forest.

Deal at Paulina and Twelfth.

George Rosen has sold to Ben Rothouse the property at the southeast corner of Twelfth and Paulina streets for a reported consideration of $60,000, subject to an incumbrance of $31,000. The lot is 72x125 feet and is improved with a four story brick building containing stores and flats and one story bowling alley. In part payment the purchaser conveyed 200 feet of vacant on South Ashland avenue between Sixty-fifth and Sixty-sixth streets. Max Goodwin represented both parties as broker.

Pays $6,000 Rent on Flat.

What is said to be the highest rent ever paid in Chicago for an apartment with the same number of rooms is provided for in a lease by Edward G. Carter to H. W. Gossard of the third flat in the new three flat building at 1724 East Fifty-fourth street, on the lake front. The apartment comprises eight rooms and two sun parlors, for which Mr. Gossard is to pay an annual rent of $6,000, which is at the rate of $500 a month. There is a garage in the basement of the building, with accommodations for six machines. The lease was made by H. W. Sisson & Co.

The property on Larrabee street, 47 feet south of Garfield avenue, 66x125 feet, east front, with store and flat improvements, has been sold by August C. Baumann to Lorenz Girnhuber for $25,000.

W. J. Klingenberg has purchased from Helen E. Wyatt the 100x125 feet, east front, in North Clark street, 35 feet north of Balmoral avenue, a consideration of $10 being given, and from Katherine K. Conroy the 50 feet adjoining on the north, a nominal consideration also being given.

Buys Halsted Street Property.

Carl Hyman has purchased from Michael J. Flynn the property at the northwest corner of Halsted street and Fifty-fourth place, 48x124 feet, east front, with brick improvements, for $15,000.

The heirs of the late J. W. Gunther have sold to Francis Treuhoft the property at the southwest corner of West Thirty-fifth and Wood streets, 24x150 feet, with two story business building. Consideration nominal, but said to be around $10,000. It is just west of the central manufacturing district and there has been considerable activity in that immediate vicinity lately. Geary & Forbrich were the brokers.

Edward Zipf has sold to Henry T. Messersmith the brick residence at 431 St. James place which he acquired recently as part consideration in the sale of the twelve flat building at Gilt and Hazel avenues. The St. James place property sold for about $9,000. O. T. Curran Jr. and McCollam & Kruggel were the brokers.

TARIFF BILL STRIKES SNAGS

Sharp Debates in Senate Retard Progress of Measure.

SHERMAN FIGHTS METALS.

Illinoisan Assails "Grape Juice" Diplomacy as Hurting Exports.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—Democrats made slow progress today in advancing the new tariff bill. An opposing speech by Senator Warren, Republican, a long and sharp debate between Senators Stone and Lippitt over the making of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, and an attack by Senator Sherman upon provisions of the metal schedule took up much of the day.

Senator Sherman opposed the 15 per cent rate on car wheels in the bill, saying it meant ruin to American manufacturers for the benefit of those in England and Germany.

Assails "Grape Juice" Diplomacy.

Reviewing exports of wheels from this country last year, Senator Sherman said:

"Not a dollar's worth was exported to China in 1912, and it is reasonable to suppose that not a dollar's worth will be exported in 1913. Instead of dollar displomacy in the far east, with thousands of dollars' worth of goods sold there, we now have grape juice diplomacy and the sale of nothing."

Senator Stone brought up the question of who furnished the facts for the cotton schedule of the Payne-Aldrich bill. He quoted at length from a speech in May, 1909, of the late Senator Dolliver, in which it was charged that Senator Lippitt—not then in public life—had come to congress representing the New England cotton men, with the statement that they wanted no increases, and had gone away with material increases.

Lippitt Calls Democrats "Cuttlefish."

Senator Lippitt said the Democrats were acting like "cuttlefish," and that his exposé yesterday of the cotton schedule in the present bill made them anxious to discredit him.

Senator Warren said the dominant note of the party in power was "down with the farmer."

An amendment for an "anti-dumping clause" to replace the provision struck out by the finance committee was introduced by Senator Penrose.

U. S. AND SALVADOR FORMULATE INTERNATIONAL PEACE TREATY

First Article Under Secretary of State Bryan's Plan Is Signed—Will Go to Senate Soon.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 7.—The first of the international peace treaties embodying Secretary Bryan's plans was signed today. It was between the United States and Salvador and soon will be sent to the senate for ratification.

The terms of this convention are practically identical with the details of the international peace proposal submitted by Secretary Bryan to the nations of the world. It is agreed that all disputes which diplomacy shall fail to adjust shall be submitted for investigation and report to an international commission and that pending a report of the commission neither national shall increase armament unless menaced by a third nation.

By its projectors the fact that this treaty is made between one of the greatest and one of the smallest of nations is regarded as exemplifying in the highest degree the true spirit of the peaceful settlement of international issues.

Twenty-six countries, including most of the great powers already have approved the plan in principle and it is probable that the signing of other treaties will follow in rapid succession. All will be drafted on the same general lines.

THE DAY IN CONGRESS.

SENATE.

Met at noon. Report from Attorney General McReynolds was read denying that department of justice maintained espionage system over federal courts. Senator Borah charged agents of department had investigated federal judges to influence action. Senator Norris indorsed his views in part. General debate on tariff bill was resumed. Senator Owen introduced bill to authorize treasury to buy outstanding government 2 per cent bonds at par and interest. Senator Chamberlain introduced resolution for investigation of fees received by clerks of federal, district, and circuit courts. President sent nominations, including Madison R. Smith as minister to Haiti, for confirmation. Debate on Mexican situation precipitated by unsuccessful attempt by Senator Clark of Wyoming to get action on his resolution for investigation of conditions. Considered nominations in executive session. Adjourned at 6:06 p. m. to noon Friday.

HOUSE.

Not in session; meets at noon Friday.

Hog market at Chicago yesterday had its first rally this week and prices averaged $8.49, against $8.46 on Wednesday. Packers took hold freely at the upturn and the market closed in a healthy condition, with the supply on hand reduced from 7,907 head to less than 5,000. A generous proportion of the fresh receipts of 17,000 found an outlet at $9.00 and better, with tops at [illegible]. Shippers were credited with purchases of 6,000 hogs, while packers' droves aggregated 14,000 head.

The cattle market had a buoyant and active tone, with prices firm to 10c higher than on Wednesday. Receipts were posted at only 3,000 head and an early clearance was effected, with best steers topping at $8.70@8.75. Cows and heifers made firm prices and calves were supported at their recent advance, topping at $11.00 for prime vealers.

Range sheep and lambs were in excessive supply and sold at a decline of 10@15c, while natives held at the advances made Wednesday. Trade was slow, best range lambs at $7.50, against $7.[illegible] Wednesday. Natives reached $7.65. Native wethers sold at $4.80, against $5.00 the [illegible] session.

TWENTY THOUSAND WINDOWS TO SHOW CHICAGO MADE GOODS

Association of Commerce Predicts Bigger Exhibit than Last Year—To Extend Through Next Week.

More than twice the number of merchants and manufacturers which participated in "Made in Chicago Week" a year ago will take part in the third annual window display of Chicago manufactured products to be made throughout the city next week.

Requests for 20,000 window display cards announcing this event have been supplied by the Association of Commerce, under whose auspices the exhibit will be held.

Last year between 10,000 and 15,000 show windows were devoted to this exhibit. It is estimated this number will be doubled by the windows devoted to next week's daplay and over 250,000 front feet of window display space will be filled with various lines of goods upon which Chicago's industrial greatness is based.

BEGINS ON STATE ROAD AID.

Highway Commission Seeks to Find Out Amount Each County Is Entitled To Under Plan.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 7.—[Special.]—Members of the new Illinois state highway commission, who today completed their organization by electing S. E. Bradt, the minority member from De Kalb, secretary, have a gigantic task of computation on hand to find out just how much money each county of the state will be entitled to for the purpose of participation in the new state aid roads plan.

As a first step, the commission formally requested of Secretary of State Harry Woods figures on the amount of money Cook county each year pays into the automobile fund.

The automobile fund is the only one to be distributed this year.

WHOLESALE DRY GOODS TRADE EXHIBITS OPTIMISTIC ASPECT.

J. V. Farwell Co. Weekly Review Says Current Events and Developments in Congress Encourage Merchandising.

The John V. Farwell company weekly review of the wholesale dry goods trade says:

"Wholesale general merchandising conditions manifest a substantial optimistic aspect. The invitation by the secretary of the treasury to representative bankers in fifty-nine of our large cities to confer with the treasury department relative to the distribution of government funds, to facilitate the movement of crops; the probability of the currency bill being so modified as will meet the approval of the majority of thinking bankers and business men; the large proportion carried over of the enormous 1912 crop, combined with the present prospect of a fair crop this season, averaging a larger supply per capita than for a number of years, all indicate a strong probability of a material increase in future business."

Arms in Fear of "Black Hand."

Nine supposed "Black Hand" letters yesterday were shown by Angelo Lesalle, owner of a barber shop at 1150 Milton avenue, at the Desplaines street station, as explanation for carrying a revolver. He was arrested yesterday afternoon on complaint of Mrs. Mada Early, who is at 117 Willard court. The woman said the Italian annoyed her.

NOTE ISSUE SOLD BY PACIFIC GAS

Pledge of Collateral Will Secure $7,000,000 Six Per Cent Flotation.

WILL PUT OUT $4,500,000.

National Bank Note Circulation at New High Level; Reaches $759,293,191.

The management of the Pacific Gas and Electric company has finally disposed of an issue of 6 per cent notes authorized to a maximum amount of $7,000,000. There will be issued at once $4,500,000. The notes will be secured by pledge of collateral, consisting of $5,000,000 par value of general and refunding 5 per cent bonds and $5,000,000 par value general lien 6 per cent bonds, both of which issues have been authorized by the stockholders.

However, a special meeting of the stockholders has been called for Sept. 10 to vote on the proposed issue of 6 per cent notes. The notes will mature June 6, 1914.

Pacific Gas and Electric common sold fractionally lower at 40½, influenced probably by the negotiation of the loan.

Bank Circulation at Top.

Circulation notes of the national banks of the United States reached a new high level on Aug. 1 of the current year. The total was $759,293,191, against $759,157,906 on July 1 and $744,945,141 on Aug. 1, 1912. Since 1901 the circulation has more than doubled. Statistics follow:

Cut in Steel Prices.

Announcement comes from Pittsburgh that because of increased steel capacity in the middle west there have been offerings of open hearth billets below the prevailing market, and sales reported this week are on the basis of $27 at Pittsburgh for both open hearth and Bessemer. The latter has been affected indirectly. Wire prices are unsettled, owing to action of the independents in offering concessions for new business.

LATEST WALL STREET GOSSIP.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—The resumption of the advance this week has been accompanied by a slightly broader tendency to the market. This has been particularly noticeable in stocks of the semi-investment type, which are not usually among the most active.

There was formerly a narrow market in St. Paul, for instance. A single sale of 100 shares of this stock at 165 constituted Monday's dealings. On Tuesday transactions jumped to 6,700 shares, 5,200 shares were done on Wednesday, and 4,800 today.

The close today was 108⅛, the highest of the present movement. Another feature has been the heavy sales of New Haven this week between 100⅛ and 101¼, aggregating 12,000 shares. New Haven is one of the few important stocks on the list which has had practically no recovery from the bottom, the low of June 13 being 99¾, and the selling at the present level is therefore causing comment.

Such heavy and persistent selling, it is figured out, could only proceed from some large holdings, and gossip has been busy attempting to guess the source.

Pennsylvania was mentioned in this connection, but probably only because Pennsylvania is known to hold a large block of the stock and not because it is thought likely that the company would choose this particular time to liquidate even if it intended to.

The daily estimates of the amount of foreign buying and selling in this market are always in danger of criticism on the ground of inaccuracy.

In fact, it would be difficult to pick a day when there is not a difference of opinion among the people who do the business themselves as to what has really been done. The difficulty of obtaining an accurate account of the transactions is obvious. Buying and selling by the international houses here and firms with foreign connections on direct order from abroad will upset the closest calculations obtainable in the business of the regular arbitrage houses which deal in London.

Moreover, the regular daily estimates only cover transactions through the London stock exchange. Today London was reported as purchasing about 15,000 shares on balance. On the floor of the exchange the foreign buying was put at a much larger figure, due principally to the alleged receipt by one international house in particular of heavy buying orders direct from its foreign branches.

The year 1913 will probably go down in financial history as the year of a great popular delusion. It will be the year when a widespread belief prevailed that financial and industrial conditions in this country were on the verge of a cataclysm.

It will be the year of the panic which did not happen. A few months ago the coming panic was advertised freely all over the country until people as far off as Honolulu were talking of it. Wall street itself was not free from the idea. Less may be heard of it now, but it dies hard.

This from a firm of lawyers in the interior to a stock exchange firm: "We are afraid to get into the stock market very much because, unless we are bad prophets, we are on the high road to a panic, in comparison with which the disturbance of 1907 will not even be a starter. Labor has got to be liquidated and people have got to get down to a basis where they are not all trying to make a living without working. We look for it about the time the Steel corporation is dissolved, when we will come back to the market."

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Aug. 7.—Money was in better demand and discount rates were steady today. As usually happens at this season of the year, business on the stock exchange was light with an undertone of firmness, which was helped by the announcement of peace in the Balkan states. Consols again advanced on government purchases, underground shares improved and rubber stocks were firm and active. Oil shares closed dull and mines irregular. American securities were steady and higher during the early trading. Canadian Pacific lost ¼, but the rest of the list advanced from ¼ to 1¼ over parity before noon. A downward movement followed, but the market hardened in the last hour and closed steady.

RAIN IN COUNTRY TONES UP MARKET

Balkan Peace Also Infuses Measure of Strength to New York Stocks.

STEEL AT HIGH FIGURE.

Crop Prospects Strengthen Railway Shares; London Buys Heavily.

New York, Aug. 7.—Manipulation of a professional character, aided by such factors as betterment in the Balkan situation and helpful rains over some of the parched agricultural centers of this country, infused a measure of underlying strength in today's stock market. The movement as a whole, however, was so irregular and spasmodic as to carry little conviction of public interest, much less support.

Politics played no part in the day's affairs, although the emergency notice of the currency commission of the American Bankers' association for a meeting to act on pending legislation at Washington served as a reminder of the attitude of that influential organization.

The Mexican situation continued to be ignored, with no movement in the shares of railway properties controlled by that government.

Bears Make Resistance.

No small part of the further rise was made in the face of continued resistance by the bear faction. There still exists, according to trustworthy accounts, a large short interest in the highly speculative issues, this fact being borne out in the loaning rates for these stocks.

Steel's advance to its best figure in some months was the more surprising, inasmuch as it disregarded reports of price concessions for certain finished products.

The effect of the improved crop outlook was seen in the better tone of the southern and southwestern railway shares, while Reading and Lehigh Valley, especially the latter, probably owed their recovery to excellent earning exhibits. St. Louis and San Francisco also reported very good earnings, which were reflected in a smart rise in the general 5s.

Among the specialties declines of 2 to 4 points were made by some of the tobacco shares, and American Writing Paper preferred, while General Chemical dropped 9 points on one transaction.

London Buys Heavily.

London bought some 15,000 shares of Steel, Amalgamated, and Union Pacific in this market following its higher level for our securities at home. The Bank of England strengthened its reserves and gold holdings and the feature of the Bank of England's statement was a decrease of almost $65,000,000 in discounts.

The bond market was firm on light dealings. Government bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales, par value, were $1,781,000.

Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; last loan, 2½; closing bid, 2¼; offered at 2½. Time loans easier; sixty days, 3½@3¾ per cent; ninety days, 4½@4¾; six months, 5¾@6. Prime mercantile paper, 6@6½ per cent. Sterling exchange steady, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8310 for sixty day bills and at 4.8665 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.82⅝. Bar silver, 59⅛c. Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds firm.

BID UP CREAMERY BUTTER

Offers of 27 Cents Fail to Bring Out Requisite Supplies.

EGGS MEET A FAIR INQUIRY.

Poultry Moves to Lower Basis; Potatoes Dull and Unchanged.

Butter buyers at Chicago yesterday bid 27c a pound for fancy creamery butter and failed to get all they wanted at the price, although it represented an advance of 1c a pound over prices in force at the opening of the week. It is claimed that little of the butter received is good enough to meet the requirements of best buyers and a shortage exists because prices are not high enough to attract some of the fancy product that is being held in cold storage.

Receipts for the day were 9,258 tubs, the smallest in six days, but there was an ample supply of the lower grades of creamery and dairy product. Eggs met with a fair inquiry at former prices, with receipts of 8,317 cases.

Live ducks sold at a decline of 1c a pound, while live fowls lost the ½c gain made on Wednesday. Receipts were 6 cars and 985 coops and the trade was slow, many buyers absenting themselves to attend the annual picnic of the retailers.

Receipts of potatoes were 35 cars and the market was dull at unchanged prices.

INSURANCE FIGHT ENDS IN MISSOURI

Attorney General Agrees to Drop Suits and Companies Will Resume.

ORR LAW IS NULLIFIED.

Majority of Concerns Accept Compromise and Business Interests Rejoice.

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 7.—Acting on the assurance of Attorney General Barker of Missouri today that he considered unconstitutional the clause in the Orr insurance law which impelled more than a hundred fire insurance companies to withdraw from the state last June, attorneys representing the companies today sent to the main offices letters advising them to return to Missouri.

This result was reached at a conference during the day between the attorney general and the insurance attorneys. The attorney general made a verbal promise to dismiss the suits in the Supreme court to penalize the companies on a charge of conspiracy to withdraw from the state on condition that 75 per cent of the companies return.

Prosecutor Will Dismiss Cases.

Mr. Barker also will dismiss the case against the 25 per cent that assert their Missouri business has been conducted at a loss and that therefore they do not desire to return.

A majority of the companies, however, are expected at once to notify their agents throughout Missouri to resume the writing of new insurance.

The attorney general agreed that if any county prosecutor institutes a case against the companies based on the clause in the Orr law that makes the use of a common rate card prima facie evidence of violation of the anti-trust law he will order the case dismissed.

It is expected that resumption of business by such companies as desire to do so will take place on or about Aug. 12, 1913.

Settlement Pleases Business Interests.

The settlement was hailed by business interests throughout the state, as many complaints had been made in the last few days of a business stringency as a result of the difficulty of getting insurance. A St. Louis newspaper this morning said that home building projects had been held up because loans could not be secured on uninsured property.

After the recent fire which swept away a large part of the business district of Springfield, Mo., urgent demands were made by the financial men of that city that the dispute with the risk companies be adjusted, as Springfield capitalists found difficulty in placing loans with which to rebuild the burned section.

WHEAT FUTURES SHOW WEAKNESS

Disappointing Cables and Better Weather Encourage Selling by Local Crowd.

SEPTEMBER CORN STRONG

Shorts Buy Near Delivery; Deferred Months Weak; Hog Products Are Firmer.

Commission houses were moderate buyers of wheat after the first few minutes of trading yesterday, but there was a general selling movement at the start and after the first decline the market held barely steady. Final prices were ⅛@¼c to ⅜c off, the September showing comparatively a strong tone. The irregular trend of values in corn checked buying.

Northwest conditions were favorable, rains having allayed the fears reported anent the recent high temperatures, and on both sides of the international line the crop is making good progress to maturity. Cables from Liverpool were indifferent, while the continental markets generally were weak. The English market closed unchanged to ⅛d off, Paris ¼@1¼c off, Antwerp ⅝c up, Berlin ⅛c off, and Budapest ½c lower.

Cash Demand Is Slow.

The cash demand was slow, and exporters reported little business on the last break in values. Sales yesterday were 45,000 bu. The seaboard wired that high ocean freights were checking business. Clearances for the day were 216,000 bu wheat and flour. Foreign news was mixed. In western Europe conditions were said to be favorable, while in Russia rains continue to interfere with harvest operations. In Argentina rain is needed in the north.

Receipts southwest were smaller than a year ago, but St. Louis and Kansas City shipments are much smaller than a year ago and stocks are increasing rapidly. Minneapolis stocks decreased 1,075,000 bu for five days. Receipts northwest were 91 cars, against 127 cars a year ago, and Winnipeg had 70 cars, last year 75 cars.

Western Receipts Liberal.

Primary arrivals were 1,561,000 bu, against 1,518,000 bu last year. Argentine shipments for the week were estimated at 800,000 bu. New wheat is beginning to arrive in fair volume at Minneapolis, and grades high, all the 20 cars new wheat in there yesterday grading No. 1 northern. Reports in regard to spring wheat yields vary, but the last few days conservative people have been inclined to lower their guesses to some extent. Sales to go to store were 800,000 bu. The Ohio reports for August showed a yield of 101 per cent, compared to a par of 15 bu per acre. Clement-Curtis, Knight-McDougal, Barrett, Kidston, and Cutten were free sellers. Bartlett-Frazier led the buying.

Cash Corn Demand Improves.

September corn was strong at the close, recovering all the early decline, but the deferred months were weak. Last prices for corn were a shade up to ⅜c off, the selling pressure being mainly on the December and May. Local traders were free sellers early, while the commission house demand was checked by the indications for rain over the belt. Scattered showers were reported over the northern section, but no relief was afforded the southwest, where conditions are now said to be worse than in 1901.

Bartlett-Frazier bought September and shorts were good buyers. Commission houses sold the other deliveries on the hard spots. Receipts here were 156 cars, with 104 cars inspected yesterday. Primary arrivals were 372,000 bu, against 446,000 bu a year ago. The cash demand was good and sample prices were ½@1½c higher, with sales of 250,000 bu. Country offerings were light in all directions. Cables were unchanged to ⅛d up from Liverpool. Argentine shipments were estimated at 7,650,000 bu for the week.

Oats Show Stubborn Tone.

Oats finished ⅛c to ¼@⅜c higher, following the early slump in corn, but later showing a much firmer tone. Cash prices were steady to ½c higher, and there was an improvement in the shipping demand, sales being 275,000 bu. Receipts here were 256 cars, with 261 cars for today. Western arrivals were 877,000 bu, against 869,000 bu a year ago. Armour was credited with buying the September. Van Ness was a fair buyer. Arnot sold September and bought May early.

Provision Demand Better.

Provisions were firm, except for ribs, which were a little weaker, except for January. Cudahy was credited with buying October lard, and Logan-Bryan were good buyers of ribs. Steever, Gregson, and Hately sold lard on the advance, and Roberts sold ribs. Receipts were about as expected in hogs, 17,000, with 16,000 for today. Prices were steady to a shade firmer at the yards. Western receipts were 70,400, or about 10,000 more than a year ago. The cash demand generally was reported a little better. Receipts of products here were 12 cars and shipments were 64 cars. Liverpool prices for products were unchanged.

Rye Demand Fair.

Rye met with a fair demand at steady prices, with sales of No. 2 at 62@62½c; No. 3, 60c; No. 4, 56c. Receipts were 7 cars.

Barley was steady, with malting 55@65c; feed, 44@53c; screenings, 25@50c. Receipts, 12 cars.

Timothy seed was held, September selling at $5.45 and October at $5.35. Cash lots were $4.00@4.90. Clover seed was easy at $13.75 bid and $14.25 asked for October and $8.00@15.00 for cash lots.

Duluth flax closed steady to ¼c lower, with cash on track and September $1.42; October and November, $1.42¼; December, $1.40¾. Receipts, 47 cars. Minneapolis was steady at $1.41@1.42 for cash on track. Receipts, 9 cars. Winnipeg closed ⅛@⅜c higher, with October $1.30¾ and December $1.28¼. Receipts, 29 cars.

AMERICAN GRAIN MARKETS.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 7.—Wheat was narrow and easier, responding to decline in corn. Trade light and market void of new features. September closed ⅜@½c lower than yesterday; December, ⅜@½c lower, and May ¼@⅜c lower. Local elevator stocks decreased 1,175,000 bu for five days. September opened 87⅝c; high, 87⅝c; low, 86⅝c; closed, 87¼@87⅛c. December opened 90⅝c; high, 90⅝c; low, 89⅝c; closed, 90⅛c. May opened 95⅜c; high, 95⅜c; low, 95c; closed, 95⅛@95¼c. BOARD OF TRADE GOSSIP

Receipts of wheat at St. Louis and Kansas City are running much smaller than a year ago, but there is a much greater disparity in the shipments this year as compared to last year. Kansas City is shipping out but little wheat, and stocks there increased 958,000 bu for three days in spite of the moderate arrivals for the season. A message from there yesterday said that August shipments were likely to establish a low record. Receipts at the two points for the day were 549,000 bu, against 739,000 bu a year ago.

The Michigan August report makes corn condition, 87; July, 87; last August, 70, when crop was 52,000,000 bu. Wheat yield per acre, 15 bu; July, 14½ bu; last August, 11 bu. Crop about 12,000,000 bu; quality good. Plowing done for wheat, 18 per cent. Oat yield, 29.2 bu; year ago, 31 bu. Rye yield per acre, 13.62 bu; July, 13.8 bu; last August, 13 bu. Beans, 87; sugar beets, 89.

The temperatures on Tuesday in Missouri and Kansas broke all records. Of the twenty-five weather bureau stations in the Kansas City district all but two had records of 100 or above and eighteen had temperatures ranging from 105 to 109.

The seaboard wired that high ocean freights were checking export business, and that only a small business was done on the recent decline. Offerings of both No. 2 hard and No. 2 red were reported light at the eastern points.

The largest wheat cargo ever loaded out of Chicago completed its loading Wednesday and contained 377,000 bu, or 11,200 tons. It was shipped by Schaffer & Co.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ½c lower to ⅛c higher; corn, ½c to ¾c higher; oats, steady to ½c higher; rye, steady to 1c lower.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 341 cars; corn, 104 cars; oats, 261 cars; rye, 7 cars; barley, 12 cars; hogs, 16,000 head.

Argentine shipments were estimated at 800,000 bu wheat and 7,650,000 bu corn.

Minneapolis had 20 cars of new wheat, all of which graded No. 1 northern.

Minneapolis stocks of wheat decreased 1,075,000 bu for five days.

DENVER CONCLAVE TEMPLARS' MECCA

Trainloads of Knights from East Will Pass Through City on Way to Colorado.

APOLLO MEMBERS STAY.

Abandon Plan to Go When Hotel Boosts Rates to $7 a Day Per Man.

Hundreds of Knights Templars from all parts of the country are passing through Chicago daily on there way to the thirty-second triennial conclave at Denver next week.

Hotel rates that have been boosted "a mile high" in proportion to the Colorado altitude have deterred many commanderies from attending in force, it was asserted yesterday. How many knights will be absent on this account cannot be figured at this time, but Apollo commandery No. 1 of Chicago is a conspicuous example.

Apollo commandery had arranged for two special trains over the Northwestern line, but cancelled early this week. Hotel contracts had been made with a small hostelry in Denver at a reasonable rate, it is claimed, but some days ago the managers decided to break the agreement and demand double rates. The Apollo knights promptly voted not to yield to greed, and instead will charter a steamship and tour the great lakes this month. A few knights will attend with other commanderies.

$7 a Day at a $1.50 Hotel.

"It was a case of paying $7 a day at a $1.50 hotel," said one member of the commandery.

Practically every commandery in Chicago with the exception of Apollo will attend the conclave. Siloam No. 54 (Oak Park) and St. Bernard No. 35 go tomorrow; Chevalier Bayard No. 52, St. Elmo No. 65, and Chicago No. 19 leave Sunday over the Northwestern. The Grand commandery of Illinois and Englewood No. 59 leave tomorrow night over the Rock Island, as do the delegations from Urbana, Tuscola, Danville, and Paxton. Beaumanoir of Decatur and Hospitaler of Jacksonville, Ill., though not passing through Chicago.

Woodlawn No. 74, Mont Joie No. 53, and Columbia No. 63 leave tomorrow over the Milwaukee road. The Joliet and Morris, Ill., commanderies left Wednesday night via the Rock Island. The Springfield train leaves tomorrow over the Santa Fe.

The following eastern commanderies passed through Chicago yesterday:

Lake Erie, Buffalo; Oriental, Holyrood, and Forest City, Cleveland; Rock Island, St. Omar, Boston.

Commanderies Going Through.

Leaving Chicago today: Louisville, Northwestern; Washington, D. C., Ascalon, and Alleghany, Pittsburgh, Rock Island.

Leaving Chicago tomorrow: Pittsburgh, Richmond, Ind., Springfield, O., Dayton, O., Wilmington, Del., Joseph Warren, Boston, Rock Island; Hamilton, Boston, Santa Fe. Grand commanderies Michigan, Maine, and New Hampshire, Cincinnati, Rapor, Indianapolis; Wisconsin and Ivanhoe, Northwestern.

Leaving Chicago Sunday: Hanselmann, Cincinnati; Lorain, O., and Central, O., Northwestern.

Many of the local commanderies will make trips around Colorado and other western states prior to their return. Woodlawn and Mont Joie will return via Colorado Springs, Kansas City, and Excelsior Springs, Mo., being entertained for one day at the latter place by the local Templars and commercial organizations.

THREE SERGEANTS ARE SHIFTED

Police Chief McWeeny Says Transfers Were Made at Request of the Men.

Three sergeants and one patrolman were shifted by order of Chief McWeeny last night. They are:

Sergt. James McCann, from South Clark street to Hinman street.

Sergt. Charles H. Garrity, from Canalport to Maxwell.

Sergt. John C. McSween, from Hinman to South Clark.

Patrolman John L. McNally, from West Thirty-fifth to the detective bureau.

The chief said the changes were made on request of the men.

Fined $1 for Killing Parrot.

Mrs. Catherine Sobinski of 9218 Drexel avenue yesterday found guilty in the South Chicago branch of the Municipal court of killing a parrot. She confessed in court and was fined $1.

Commission Decides to Go Ahead Without Appropriation.

WANTS AID TO GATHER DATA

Valuation of Reduction Plant Started by the City.

Regardless of the failure of Mayor Harrison to sign the council appropriation of $10,000 for the garbage commission, that body decided yesterday to start work at once and to "trust to luck" for finances necessary in outlining a system of handling the city's waste.

Health Commissioner Young was authorized to at once appoint a secretary who will compile the reports on garbage collection and reduction already collected by the efficiency bureau, to enable the members to formulate a plan of action. Just when or how much this secretary will be paid remains a question of the future. It is expected that Dr. Young will appoint someone from his office for the present and then name a permanent secretary when funds are available.

Ald. Merriam Pleads for Speed.

This lack of funds was a cause of much discussion yesterday when the commission met. Ald. Merriam declared himself in favor of starting work as soon as possible.

"We must have a secretary to get the data ready for us," he said. "We are not allowed to incur any debts and unless we can start in getting this data we might as well adjourn until the mayor is ready to allow us to have the necessary funds."

"This is too important to be passed off," said Miss Mary McDowell. "We will get the funds ourselves, if necessary."

Clerk of Dr. Young to Act.

Commissioner McGann then suggested that Dr. Young use one of his clerks for the present for the work of compilation, and it was decided that this be done. Ald. Nance, chairman of the commission, will call another meeting as soon as this detail work has started.

The appraisal of the plant of the Chicago Reduction company at West Thirty-ninth and Iron streets was started yesterday under the direction of Acting City Engineer H. A. Allen. The company has already started making its own appraisal, and it will be necessary for several conferences before the contract of sale is finally settled and signed.

HELD FOR PARTNER'S MURDER AFTER INQUEST IN THE OPEN.

Jurors See Killing of Floros Re-enacted at Crime Scene—Verdict of Murder Against Rusetos.

After an inquest which part of the time was held out of doors, attracting large crowds, a coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict holding Peter J. Rusetos to the grand jury on the charge of murdering his business partner, James J. Floros, a leading Greek, and one of the wealthiest men of that nationality in Chicago.

The jury found: "We believe that the murder was due to a quarrel and Flores was slain in a fit of anger. We do not believe that the crime was premeditated."

Rusetos was one of the witnesses. He said he had shot Floros after the latter had attacked him with a pistol. He was unable to reconcile that statement with the fact that Floros was shot three times in the back. A dispute over stock which Rusetos sought to buy from Floros is said to have led up to the crime, according to Rusetos.

The coroner's jury and others went to the Floros-Rusetos Ice Cream company's plant at 788 Milwaukee avenue, where the murder was bloodlessly reënacted. Fifty Greeks—friends of Rusetos and Floros—followed in the inquisitors' wake. After the session at the ice cream company's office the jurors went to the Chicago avenue police station. The same crowd of Greeks was on hand and by the coroner's orders all were searched for weapons before they were allowed to enter.

TRACE MRS. HANAN'S LOST GEMS

Detectives Find Thieves Tried to Sell Part of $150,000 Loot to New York Jeweler.

New York, Aug. 7.—Private detectives working on the case of the $150,000 jewel robbery of Mrs. John H. Hanan, which occurred at Narragansett pier, R. I., July 25 last, today announced some of the jewels had been traced to New York. An attempt was made by two men to sell what is believed to be part of the Hanan gems to a downtown jeweler, the detectives say, but the vendors became frightened and hurried from the store when questioned.
